ARRIVED.

New Dress Goods at Trowbridge's. Mrs. A. J. Hartman was a Prosper visitor Monday.

Mrs. Rydman is again at his old post on the Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Anderson were Coquille visitors Tuesday, returning Wednesday.

Mrs. A. J. Hartman will put in a stock of groceries in the building recently vacated by H. A. Cox.

It is reported that the S. P. is to put its railroad lands, in Oregon, on the market, for sale, at an early date.

Frank E. Linton of Wolcottville, Ind., and Jay Lancaster of Roseburg, were looking over this section of the country this week.

B. O. McCalloch, of Coquille, was a business visitor in town Monday evening. He will soon open an abstract office at that place.

The steamer Elizabeth arrived in from San Francisco yesterday morning, making a quick trip. She brought in a record cargo, more than 250 tons of miscellaneous freight, and under the skillful management of the ship's officers, unloaded in six hours. Mrs. D. W. Carpenter and three children, C. Rogers, and C. D. Tipon were passengers. She is loading at the Prosper Salmon Cannery and will go to Astoria.

D. F. Tozier, of Portland, Captain in the Revenue Cutter service, and inspector of the Life saving service spent four days in Bandon the past week and found the station here in excellent condition. He is looking after the needs of the various stations along the coast and they are all to receive additional apparatus, and other improvements are to be made in order to make the coast service of the highest order.

Last week testimony in the case of Prosper Mill Co. vs J. D. Stewart was heard in the law office of Geo. P. Topping in this city. Mr. Topping having been appointed referee by the circuit court to hear the case and make findings on the law and evidence. A. J. Sherwood of Coquille, appeared as attorney for plaintiff, J. M. Upton, of Marshfield, for defendant, Mrs. McCloud, of Marshfield-stenographer. This case has been pending in the circuit court for some time but will probably be disposed of during the December term.

The Margarita Fischer Co. played to good houses at the Bandon Opera House three night last week. Friday night the Company presented a light comedy, "Other Peoples Money." On Saturday night "The Great Blue Grass Derby" or "In Old Kentucky", was the bill and on Sunday night the emotional drama, "The New Magdalen." Miss Fischer is popular with the Bandon play-goers and is always assured of a good house at this place. Her company this season is a very good one. They left Monday morning for Coquille and expect to return here for a two-night stand, Dec. 15 and 16th.

Men Make Cities and States.

All who study the growth and development of cities and states must know that men, and not nature, make cities and states.

Those who rely on our beautiful scenery, our mild climate, our productive soil for progress are on the wrong track.

The greatest states and the richest and most rapidly developed cities have been built against the greatest natural obstacles.

Spokane was built on heaps of volcanic rock, with no rich farming land lying around the city.

The beautiful Golden Gate Park of San Francisco was built on pure sand hills, with plenty of men, plenty of money and the genius of Sutro.

Oregon has no large cities but one, and has little over half the population of Washington. This is not due to nature, but to men, or lack of men.

The men who have dominated this state for fifty years are the men who have made the state what it is or what it is not.

In place of erecting monuments and writing history about them, we should turn away from their methods, and pray that new leaders may take their places.—Salem Journal.

COQUILLE NEEDS Fish Hatchery.

River Fishermen Thoroughly Dissatisfied With Present Conditions and Will Ask That Hatchery be Established on This River.

The fishermen on the Coquille river have a kiet coming and they are preparing to make a good vigorous kick of it while they are at it. They say that a salmon hatchery should be established on this river, claiming that the present method of stocking the river from the hatchery on South Coos river is entirely unsatisfactory and of doubtful results. The fish are transported from the hatchery on Coos river over to the Coquille in milk cans and dumped into the river when only about one inch long. Old fishermen claim that the method of handling kills lots of the fish and those that do not die in this manner are destroyed by their enemies, as they are too young when turned loose to take care of themselves.

The Coquille is the fish stream of the county and the rights of the fishermen demand attention. This year more than $1,300 was collected as license from the fish industry on this river while only about $20 was collected on Coos river.

Fishermen here on the river who are acquainted with the requirements needed for a hatchery say that there are many good locations for one along the river that could be utilized with a very small expense, where the fry could be handled in a manner that would be of some value to the fishing industry. Nearly all the fishermen contend that the fry are now liberated too soon and that they should be fed and well cared for until they reach sufficient age to take care of themselves when turned into the river.

N. A. Petersen, R. W. Ballard and P. Gehlke have been appointed a committee to circulate a petition to the fish commissioners asking that a hatchery be established on this river. It was reported that there was a hatchery on the upper river and these gentlemen spent two days investigating the matter. They report that there was a dam and racks up there about fifteen years ago but logs and freshets took everything out and no effort has since been made to re-establish it.

Considering the extent of the fishing industry here and the circumstances under which the river is now supposed to be stocked, it is thought the fish commissioners will be prompt to remedy the defects.

COQUILLE LEADS IN LUMBER SHIPMENTS.

Coos Bay Gets Second Place and the Umpqua Third.

It will no doubt be a surprise to many to know that the lumber shipments from the Coquille river during the first six months of 1905 (from semi-annual report) exceeded the shipment from Coos Bay, Umpqua, Tillamook or Sinaloa. Below we give the figures:
 Coquille River.....21,403,940
 Coos Bay.....21,163,000
 Umpqua River.....13,164,185
 Sinaloa River.....5,104,619
 Tillamook Bay.....3,030,000
 More than 2,000,000 feet of lumber passed out over the Coquille bar at this place last week, to say nothing of shingles, broom handles and other products. The tug Triumph towed out four vessels on one tide (Friday) with a million and a quarter feet of lumber. The Coquille river trade is increasing right along, and we have the resources back of it to keep the trade on the increase for years and years to come. In fact, this trade is in its infancy. When our coal deposits are developed, a larger fleet for the coal trade alone will be required than now enters the river. Keep your eye on the Coquille and Bandon and you'll see us grow.

Simpson Deal Off.
 The Simpson deal failed to go through. The exact reason for the failure is not known. The very morning the option expired a letter was received from Cowper-Thwaite written two days before in San Francisco saying that they would take the property.
 But the fact remains that the 25th, the last day of the option, went by and no money was paid.—Harbor.

She Wanted To Out It Out.
 A husband came home one evening to find a note left for him by his wife. Carelessly he opened it, but as he read his face blanched.
 "My God!" he exclaimed, "how could this have happened so suddenly?" Snatching his hat and coat he rushed to the hospital which was near his home. "I want to see my wife, Mrs. Brown, at once," he said to the head nurse, "before she goes under the ether. Please take my message to her at once." "Mrs. Brown?" echoed the nurse "there is no Mrs. Brown here." "Then to which hospital has she gone?" asked the distraught husband; "I found this note from her when I came home," and he handed the note to the nurse who read: "Dear Husband—I have gone to have my kimona cut out, Belle."—Exchange.

 Jas Mast, of Leo, was a business visitor in Bandon last week.
 Earl Goodman of Langlois was a visitor Saturday and Sunday.
 Mrs. L. J. Davison went to Myrtle Point Monday to visit friends.
 A. McNair moved the past week to his new residence in the south part of town.
 Mrs. Minnie Cooper and children, of Coquille, were Bandon visitors this week.
 W. H. Peck, of Port Orford, was transacting business in Bandon a few days ago.
 The Cody logging camp on Lampa Creek, employing about 60 men, will probably operate all winter.
 Gus Barre has just completed a new house in the southeast part of town and moved therein last week.
 J. C. Miller, of Ophir, was in town Friday and left Saturday morning for Idaho where he goes on a business trip.
 Judge E. D. Sperry, of Coquille, was in town last week on a business trip and also to get a whiff of pure salt air.
 Frederick A. Kribs has bought 15,000 acres of Spruce timber land in Lincoln county. The price paid was $300,000.
 F. H. Shaw and wife, of Fourmile, left on the Tuesday morning boat for Coos river where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. McIntosh.
 Roy Gibson and Dale Barrows have returned from Humboldt County, Cal. where they were employed the past two or three months.
 Most of the men employed at the Howell logging camp were discharged last week for the winter. A small crew will be kept at work.
 W. E. Craine moved his family from Coquille to Bandon this week. Mr. Craine has purchased the Bedilion house and one acre of ground in the east part of town. He operates a logging camp near Randolph, and will now be more convenient to his work.
 Practically all the straight shingle mills in the states of Oregon, Washington, California and British Columbia closed down last week to remain idle for a period of two months. The action is a result of concerted movement among Pacific northwest manufacturers of cedar shingles to prevent overproduction during the winter months, when building operations in the eastern states are shut down and there is no demand for their product.
 The fishermen on the river have considerable fun out of the peculiarities of the present fish law. They tell of a man up the river, who, by persistent work, caught a dozen salmon. Perhaps the man needed a sack of flour or a bushel of potatoes more than he needed the fish, so he sells ten to a retailer and two to another party. The retailer then gets huffy because the fisherman peddled the two out, and had him arrested for selling. Result—cost him $10. In stead of turning to be smote on the other cheek, the fisherman then had the retailer arrested for selling. Result—the nurse hit $25.
 H. H. Baldwin, one of the old pioneers of this section was a pleasant caller at the Recorder office Monday and enrolled his name on our fast growing subscription list. Mr. Baldwin has a cosy home overlooking Bandon Beach and has his yard highly ornamented with shrubbery and flowers. It is strange that more homes in Bandon are not beautified in this manner. In southern California where water is scarce and everything has to be irrigated, they have beautiful yards and driveways. Here all that would be required to make the town look like a paradise is a little work, but very little of it is done in that direction.
 It is usual in other places than novels to hear of waves running mountains high, but in reality the mountains of the sea are by no means steep, and only appear so when two systems of waves meet, as in a choppy sea, and add their amplitudes. For example, as is shown in a series of wave measurements lately undertaken by the French government, and the highest normal wave encountered in the southern Pacific are not more than 53 feet high from crest to base of trough. These are in a sense the waves of greatest known amplitude. The distance between their crests is 1,000 feet. Waves of the north Atlantic are normally 528 feet from crest to crest and 26 feet high.—London Post.
