Mayor Straw has furnished the saloon of Marshfield with a list of the habitual drunkards of the place, with the instruction that any one found selling liquor to the parties named, shall have his license revoked. This move seems a commendable one, preventing, as it will to a great extent, the squandering by confirmed drunkards of the money needed for the maintenance of their families.—Coast Mail.

Myrtle Point.

Capt. W. E. Ruckeliff has gone to San Francisco on a business visit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Guerin left today for Southern California where they expect to spend a part of the winter.

Many saw logs have gone down the river the last few days but it will require a higher water to let those further up the streams come out.

Some fellow in this town has an over fondness for booze. When local option first went into effect the city of Myrtle Point confiscated a forty-seven gallon barrel of whiskey shipped to Greene & Treichel and put it in the lockup for safe keeping. It remained intact until Wednesday night, when someone broke the lock on the jail door, bored a hole in the top of the barrel and one of the side and proceeded to extract the contents. About two-thirds of the whiskey was taken.—Enterprise.

Going to get married? The RECORDER has just received a nice line of wedding invitations, and can print them on short notice.

Port Orford.

The jury in the case of Capt. Jacobsen brought in a verdict of guilty of selling liquor in violation of the law, and Justice Zornwalt fined him one hundred dollars which the Captain promptly paid. The witnesses we named in the last week's Tribune were not for the defense, but for the prosecution. We had been misinformed.

When the railroad shall be completed along the coast mill men will find that there are no better places for lumbering than on the coast of Curry County.

Every stream that flows into the ocean reaches back into fine forests, and are natural logging ways with a down grade to the railroad. At no other place are the conditions so numerous and so valuable. One of these days some man with wit and money will come along and see these favorable features. The demand for Curry County's great resources will come before long—and no pigmy croaker can obscure their value much longer.

A Los Angeles party is banding for 60 days many timber claims in middle Curry, for $1250 per claim. These claims will average over five million feet, and are worth much more.

The New Years Ball at Nielsen's hall was a very enjoyable affair, with about the right number of people. The music by Wm Anderson and Prof. Johnston was excellent, and the supper at the Nyegren was fine as it always is. Among the visitors from abroad were the Misses Anna and Katie Fromm, Miss Violet White and Miss Sydnam, also Court and George Gueris, C. Langlois and G. Russell of Dairyville, and Carl White and John and Robt Fromm, and Messrs Haines of Eskley.—Tribune.
