ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR SHERIFF.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Sheriff of Coos county, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election, April 20, 1906.
L. W. TRAVER.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce S. B. HUSTON, of Hillsboro, Washington County, as a candidate for the nomination of Congressman for the First District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

FOR GOVERNOR.

James Withycombe, of Corvallis, candidate for the nomination of governor on the republican ticket.

18 Years Ago.

While digging the drain ditch alongside of Dyer & Son's store Tuesday, John Gross and Dan Kootz uncovered some human bones, among them two skulls which are at this office. It is surmised that these are the skeletons of some of those Indians who were killed by the soldiers in 1851 near this spot. The soldiers, comprising three companies under Col. Casey, had landed at Port Orford from Sonoma, Cal., a few days previously, and came up to punish the savages who were concerned in the alleged T'Vault massacre. Planting their howitzers on the bluff overlooking the rancheria the soldiers opened fire at daylight and killed a number of the Indians who stampeded up the river, closely followed by the troops to a point above the Hoffman place, where the pursuit was stopped. At Holly Prairie the Indians had stored about thirty tons of dried salmon, which was burned by Col. Casey. H. H. Baldwin, of Bear creek, was in the fight.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Stitt of Denmark were in town this week.

Last Friday the little daughter of Ben Franklin fell and broke her right arm above the wrist. A neighbor set the fracture and the little one is doing fairly well.

Married—At Port Orford, March 14, 1888, Mr. A. Marsh and Miss Rachel Kronenberg, W. S. Winsor, J. P. officiating.

It is reported that R. D. Hume will be a candidate for the nomination of joint representative.

The Senate has passed Senator Fulton's bill appropriating $400,000 for the Columbia, so as to protect it from damage, but we have not noticed anything for Coquille protection yet.

During the recent cold snap everybody in Portland had to have a fire in the stove and the result was the firemen of that city responded to 25 fire alarms in 32 hours, making a record.

Coquille.

Darkness still prevails and since the moon has ceased to cast its illuminating rays over our city while we slumber, the pedestrian can be found groping his way in darkness, and when asked what he most desires in his present condition, he invariably answers, more light; but that light is not obtainable at the present time.

The weather the past week has been warm and like summer, the fruit trees are covered with blossoms and green foliage, but at the present time there is an arctic cloud hovering over the horizon of this part of the hemisphere, and this morning we were in the white mantle of snow, and whether bad results will terminate, time alone will demonstrate.

The steamer Welcome was transferred to the James Bros. Monday morning. We are sorry to lose John and Bent for they were obliging and accommodating, but a more lucrative field awaits them. May success attend their future undertakings.

The boys of the K. P. who visited your city last week with their well trained goat, speak in glowing terms of the hospitality and generosity tendered them by the boys in the city by the sea, and the events of that occasion will ever remain fresh in the memory of the boys of Coquille.

Last Saturday the school marm bled away to your city to hear what the wild waves were saying on the beach. They were chaperoned by Recorder Sanford, but why it was necessary for Sanford to accompany them your correspondent does not understand; but LaLa says in the antics of Cupid the ways are dark and the tricks are deceptive. But there was one thing I did observe and that was the envious and indignant glances cast by those marketable bachelors of Bandon toward the chaperon. Oh, the fascinating smiles of those school marm, would penetrate the heart of the most heartless, even though he had a heart as hard as the rock of Gibraltar, and the sweet music disengorged while in transit, is it any wonder that the Recorder would want a day or two recreation to drive dull care away, yum, yum, the melody of the voices of those school marm! Jenny Lind would pale into insignificance.

There are two enthusiastic anglerists holding revival meetings; one from North Bend and one from Marshfield. Why they should leave those two cities unless it is a repetition of Sodom and Gomorrah with the seal of condemnation fixed upon them. I suppose they are going to seek new pasture where there is some prospect of landing some in the good and narrow road.

The saw mill is running to its full capacity and the merchants are doing a lucrative business for they all wear a beaming smile which is conclusive evidence.

There are a great many strangers in our city at the present but their mission up to date is unrecorded.

The tax payers are now thronging the court house depositing their filthy lucre in the strong iron box.

The political bee is buzzing around on all street corners, the candidates are looming up all over quarters, but LaLa says I need not dip my pen in any political ink, for after June she will manipulate all those things and see that I do not get any more hoaxes.

The words of Othello are appropriate on this occasion: "Where ignorance is bliss it is folly to be wise." In former days if I did not have the wherewith, could not get it; now it is a spontaneous production; it grows free in the tree straps and under the sidewalk; no license, no revenue; but we have one consolation, we can walk up to the court house and pay almost double our former tax. Great reformation is taking place.

The open season for trout fishing above tide water will open April 1st.

Nearly $150 was received in fines by the city for the month of February.

The mail contract on route 2845 from Myrtle Point to Fairview has been awarded to W. T. Lehmann of this place. Price per annum, $922.00.

Fred B. Haight & Co., proprietors of the O K creamery at Coquille, have leased the Gravel Ford creamery and will convert it into a first class cheese factory.—Enterprise.

Port Orford.

Capt. Cagwell's notice in the Globe says that he is after the "Treasure" of Curry county. We would all like to have it.

Quite a number of young men from Curry county will go to Coos county this spring to work in logging camps, where they can get better wages than elsewhere.

There is but little oral discussion of candidates, but there is a whole lot of quiet thinking going on among the voters. "Still water runs deep," and surely a "Billy Patterson" is going to be knocked out without knowing who struck him.

After nearly two months the steamer Plant called in here Wednesday evening of last week on her way down from Coos Bay, and landed considerable freight that had grown gray voyaging up and down the coast. Port Orford had not quite exhausted her supplies, but they were out of many things at Kogone river.

The late storms have knocked out so many piles—five going last Saturday—that the wharf is considered unsafe. The McKenzie boys are now hauling piles, and work at repairing the wharf will begin at once. The piles are sometimes eaten off in one year, and the combined efforts of water and sun not yet to have discovered a cheap practical way to stay the ravages of these glutinous worms.—Tribune.

Report of Master Fish Warden.

We take the following, concerning the Coquille river, from the Master Fish Warden's February report:

Bids for the construction of the new hatchery building for the South Coos River have been asked for. The building is to be a one-story frame structure, 5x104, with an 8-foot ceiling in the clear, and to be equipped with 126 hatching troughs.

Complying with the request of George P. Topping and others interested in having a permanent Salmon Hatchery established on one of the tributary streams of the Coquille River, I made a partial investigation of the North Fork of said river from our present sub-station down about half way to Fair View and of the East fork of the North fork up as far as the Abernathy place. From what I saw of the North fork I am confident that fairly good work could be done at several different locations with the Silver-side and Steelhead varieties of salmon if not for the extensive logging that is carried on on that tributary. It is not a large stream and the loggers depend on storage dams with flood gates to move their logs, which are very bad for successful hatchery work, stopping as they do to a certain extent salmon ascending the stream to spawn, and washing the young fry beyond the main channels of the river when on their way to the sea. When I was there the river was quite low and at a couple of places the logs had jammed and piled up so thick for a distance of a mile or more that fish ascending the river were completely stopped. I was in hopes of getting a good supply of Steelhead eggs this season at the Abernathy place, but we have on this tributary stream and have arranged for the work, but these log-jams have shut the fish off and our prospects are not very bright. I am in hopes, too, that the rains will soon swell the stream so that the logs will separate and permit of a few Steelheads getting by later in the season.

The East fork of the North fork affords no very desirable location below Minard's mill dam, but above the dam the river could be successfully worked at several different points. A hatchery, too, above this dam, would always be at a disadvantage and dependent entirely upon the operator or owner of the dam maintaining a good and easy passage way for fish. There is very little logging on this stream and if it was not for this one obstruction a desirable location could, without doubt, be secured.

Three years ago I looked over quite thoroughly the South fork and the Middle fork of the South fork of the Coquille and found nothing that looked very encouraging as we were at that time depending upon the old style rack which proved to be of very little service, especially in the Coast streams; but now with the new style of rack that I have adopted for the Coast streams it seems to me, from my remembrance of those tributaries, locations can be secured where work could be successfully carried on, if not for the logging, and this spring after the roads get in better shape I will look them both over again in hopes of being able to find something desirable.

Wm. Hicking, manager of the Prosper mill was up the river the latter part of last week looking after his logs. Mr. Hicking is a great hustler and he keeps the logs rolling. It is due to his good management and strict attention that the Prosper mill has lost but few days in the last three years, and under his supervision the plant has undergone many changes. Had Coos county a few more such promoters our country would be quite different.

Rev. G. H. Roach will preach in Prosper hall next Sunday at 3:00 o'clock. Everyone invited.

The Boston Journal of recent date says: "New Haven, Conn., is paying dearly for apples owing to a scarcity caused by the short crop of last year. Those of the large variety shipped from Oregon and Washington, are selling at 10 cents apiece."

F. L. Carman of Aberdeen made a business trip to Coquille City, Monday.

M. L. R. Edmunds went to Marshfield Friday to meet his wife and children who came from Portland on the star Kilburn. Mrs. Edmunds had been at The Dalles for the last few months where she had gone for the benefit of her health. Pleased to know she is greatly improved by the change. They came over on Monday's train and proceeded to Bandon.

Wm. Dale, the book expert from Alameda, Cal., who had been in the Prosper Mill Co.'s office for the last month, departed for his home last Thursday, going on the star Kilburn from Marshfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Langworthy, Sr. were down from the Randolph mill last Saturday. Everything is progressing nicely at the saw mill.

A stranger, who is through this part of the country in the interest of the railroad and whose name we were unable to learn, was here one day last week. He was trying to secure the names of property owners here who would grant and bind, for the proposed new road, the right-of-way through their premises. He was unsuccessful in obtaining signers at this place and presume he thought the Prosperites were rather uncooperative about the railroad.

Wm. Hicking, manager of the Prosper mill was up the river the latter part of last week looking after his logs. Mr. Hicking is a great hustler and he keeps the logs rolling. It is due to his good management and strict attention that the Prosper mill has lost but few days in the last three years, and under his supervision the plant has undergone many changes. Had Coos county a few more such promoters our country would be quite different.
