Dairy Business in Coos.

Coos County as a Dairying Locality Compared With Humboldt County, Cal. Our Resources Much Greater Than Those of Humboldt.

The writer has often mentioned the comparisons which can be made between Coos County, Oregon, and Humboldt County, California, with regard to their adaptability to dairying. There are perhaps, few dairymen who have not heard of the famous Eel river valley, and more especially of its splendid dairy farms and excellent milk cows.

One of the wealthiest and most prosperous sections of the Pacific coast is Humboldt county, and its dairies and creameries, together with the industry and economy of its farmers have made it so. The tons of golden squares shipped from its creameries have brought in return a veritable stream of yellow metal, filling to overflowing the capacious coffers of her sons of toil. It is particularly favored with a combination of climatic conditions and a soil which makes it the ideal dairy country of the world. Added to this was its early settlement by Danes and Scandinavians, who, until recent years were considered the most practical and progressive dairymen of the world. But the Yankees, with their proverbial thrift, adaptability or qualities of assimilation, have "seen them" and "gone them one better." Or perhaps, more properly speaking, the foreigners have taught the Americans, how to handle the cows and the farms to produce the most and best results and the Yankees, with their inventive genius and skill in selling, have furnished the improved machinery and the market for the product.

The soil and climatic conditions of Coos county are nearly identical with those of Humboldt county, with the odds in favor of Coos county. Those who are familiar with both localities, say that Coos county has the advantage in the matter of soil—there being more or less rock or gravel in Humboldt county, while there is nothing of the kind in Coos, the soil being a rich loam and largely what is called "beaver dam" land. Eel river is confined between narrower and steeper banks and the overflow does much damage by washing deep ditches through adjacent farms. This is practically unknown in Coos county. The overflow is largely "back water," without any current and the sediment deposited by each freshet adds many thousands of dollars in value to all overflowed lands. Our state authorities say that this sediment is equal in value to ten dollars per acre each year as a fertilizer to our already rich bottom lands.

Again Coos county is said to have a slight advantage in the matter of moisture which continues to fall at intervals throughout the summer, particularly in the form of fogs and dew.

A large part of the early wealth of Humboldt county was derived from its world renowned red wood. Coos county has more wealth in the way of fir, cedar, hard wood, coal and gold and other minerals. Those who have traversed both sections thoroughly, say that for size, the Eel river valley, if placed on the Coquille valley, would make only a very small "patch."

When we come to sum it all up, the result is more of a contrast than a comparison, with Coos county far in the lead.

The wide awake Humboldt county people are aware of our more favored conditions and the opportunities offered here for investment. They are selling their farms there at from $200 to $300 per acre and investing the proceeds in our bottom lands at from $50 to $100 per acre, thus more than doubling their acreage in better lands with better facilities for their occupation. Only last week $17,000 of Humboldt money found investment in a fine dairy farm near this place. This is only one of a long list which we could mention. And we have invariably found these people to be industrious people and good citizens and such as we can take great pleasure in welcoming amongst us.

In time and at the present rate, our thousand hills will be divested of their timber and the bowels of the earth gutted of her natural but vast mineral wealth. But the "Jersey" and her descendants will live forever and her tribe will increase. More land will each year be cleared and improved and farmers will learn new methods of operation and invent new fertilizers so that each year each acre will produce more, and more cows can be kept on the same amount of land. Verily the dairy cow is the endless chain of wealth. Then here's to Old Coos, the richest, the healthiest and soon to be the wealthiest spot on this little sphere we call the earth!—Coquille Sentinel.

PAPER AND PULP MILL NEXT.

Prospects Bright For Getting Big Enterprise in Bandon.

The outlook for Bandon to have a paper and pulp mill was never brighter. The prospectus is out showing the product, cost to manufacture and profits of a ten-ton mill such as it is proposed to build, and the gentleman in Boston who is interested in the project, and who is acknowledged to be one of the very best paper makers in the U. S., is expected to arrive in Bandon about May 1st to thoroughly investigate the proposition.

He writes that he thinks the building of such a plant at Bandon the opportunity of a life time, and so confident is he of the success of such an enterprise that he is willing to take a large slice of the stock and give up a paying business in the east to come here and assume its management.

The proposed plant will represent an outlay of $227,000, divided as follows: paper mill, $107,000; pulp mill $50,000; working capital $70,000. It can be readily seen that such an institution would mean much to Bandon and the entire Coquille valley. Such a mill would give steady employment to from 65 to 100 people at good wages besides making a market for a class of timber not now utilized.

The profits of a paper and pulp mill here would be great. The selling price of paper is 20 per cent higher on the coast than in the east. The eastern mills buy their pulp from pulp makers, and they of course, must have their profit. That profit would be saved by this mill as it will make its own pulp. Samples of imported pulp have been sent here which is selling on the dock in New York for $70 per ton. This pulp is manufactured into paper which sells in the east for 7 to 10 cents per pound. This same paper sells on the coast for 9 to 12 cents per pound. The cost of manufacturing this imported pulp in Europe is $35 a ton, $14 of this amount goes for wood. The conditions are such that it is estimated that the same quality of pulp can be manufactured in Bandon for $23 a ton. At present there is no pulp made in America of as fine quality as the imported. They cannot make it in the east in competition on account of the high price of wood, and then again in order to produce it at anything near the imported price it would be necessary to make a very large product which would call for a big outlay of money, and then the price would be sure to drop owing to the imported being compelled to depend upon the American market.

The proposed mill for this place is to make fine grades of paper only. Work the first two years would be confined to ordinary grades of fine paper but after that only the highest grade paper would be made, such as are not being made now on the Pacific coast.

Arrangements are now being made to finance the enterprise. Many of our influential citizens in the Coquille valley have expressed a desire to take stock and it is intended to make it a local company as near as possible. Seattle parties will take what stock cannot be sold here.

If this enterprise is secured for Bandon it will be a great boon for the town and the Coquille valley as it will benefit directly or indirectly every citizen in the valley. It is a big undertaking and will take at least a year to get it ready for operation, but the stock company will be fully organized and incorporated under the laws of Oregon and shares placed at a figure that will be within the reach of all. A company will be organized and stock put on the market as soon as the Boston paper expert arrives.

Colfax, Wash., April 5.—Yesterday was housecleaning day for Colfax Citizens were out with shovels and rakes. In the business section proprietors and clerks were piling debris Wagons came later to haul it away. Back yards, vacant lots and alleys received as much attention as streets.

City schools were dismissed for a half day so that the children could assist in the general cleanup. The youngsters made trash disappear as if by magic. Teachers in all grades received written reports from pupils as to what they did. Each of the 800 children reported some kind of work done.

How is it we are able to offer advantages when selling Scillings Best? We handle it in large quantities, hence sell under favorable circumstances.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, the Secretary of State of the State of Oregon has notified me in writing that pursuant to the provisions of an act entitled "An Act making effective the initiative and referendum provisions of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Oregon, and regulating elections thereunder, and providing penalties for violations of provisions of this act," approved February 24, 1903, the People's Power League of Oregon duly filed in his office on February 3rd, 1906, an initiative petition containing 8,327 signatures properly attached to a copy of said measure, certified in accordance with law, demanding that a proposed amendment to Sections 1 and 2 of Article XVII of the Constitution of the State of Oregon, shall be submitted to the legal voters of the State of Oregon for their approval or rejection at the general election to be held on the 4th day of June, 1906, being the first Monday in June, 1906, designated by said People's Power League of Oregon as "Constitutional amendment providing method of amending Constitution and applying the referendum to all laws affecting constitutional conventions and amendments," which said proposed amendment is hereinafter particularly set forth.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Geo. E. Chamberlain, Governor of the State of Oregon, in obedience to the provisions of said act heretofore first mentioned, do hereby make and issue this Proclamation to the people of the State of Oregon, announcing that the People's Power League of Oregon has filed said initiative petition with the requisite number of signatures thereon attached demanding that there be submitted to the legal voters of the State of Oregon for their approval or rejection at the regular election to be held on the 4th day of June, 1906, said day being the first Monday in said month, a proposed amendment to Sections 1 and 2 of Article XVII of the Constitution of the State of Oregon, designated by said League as "Constitutional amendment providing method of amending Constitution and applying the referendum to all laws affecting constitutional conventions and amendments," which said proposed amendment is as follows:

"Sections 1 and 2 of Article XVII of the Constitution of the State of Oregon shall be and hereby are amended to read as follows: "Section 1. Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in either branch of the legislative assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments, shall, with the yeas and nays thereon, be entered in their journals and referred by the secretary of state to the people for their approval or rejection at the next regular general election, except when the legislative assembly shall order a special election for that purpose. If a majority of the electors voting on any such amendment shall be in favor thereof, it shall become a part of this Constitution. The votes for and against such amendment, or amendments, severally, whether proposed by the legislative assembly or by initiative petition, shall be canvassed by the secretary of state in the presence of the governor, and if it shall appear to the governor that the majority of the votes cast at said election on said amendment, or amendments, severally, are in favor thereof, it shall be his duty forthwith after such canvass, by his proclamation, to declare the said amendment or amendments, severally, having received said majority of votes to have been adopted by the people of Oregon as part of the Constitution thereof, and the same shall be in effect as a part of the Constitution from the date of such proclamation. When two or more amendments shall be submitted to the voters of the State at the same election, they shall be so submitted that each amendment shall be voted on separately. No convention shall be called to amend or propose amendments to this Constitution, or to propose a new Constitution, unless the law providing for such convention shall first be approved by the people on a referendum vote at a regular general election. This article shall not be construed to impair the right of the people to amend this Constitution by vote upon an initiative petition therefor."
