COQUILLE NEWS NOTES

Leander, Our Correspondent
Tells of the Week's Incidents at the Hub.

The storm clouds have disappeared and we are basking in sunshine which is duly appreciated by us all, more especially the farmer for the recent heavy rains have been detrimental to their crops, and now the pleasant sunshine brings gladness to their hearts, also to the logger. The camps are exerting every effort to make up lost time, and every available man is employed, consequently our streets almost deserted, aside from the usual street loafer which infests all cities.

Dal Cathcart, our surveyor elect is over here with his radiant and illuminating countenance which shines more brilliant than our electric lights. He is engaged in surveying a new road across to Fairview. The road is a needed acquisition. The farmers along the line have our sympathy knowing Dal's ravenous appetite for delicious delicacies as we do.

There are several strangers sojourning in our city their mission unknown but madam gossip has the air rife with reports relative to their business.

The clean up wave has struck our city with cyclone force. The ladies have assumed initiative and commenced operations with a vim. All kind of committees appointed. Some one found in a divine book that cleanliness is next to godliness. Now we have always had a surplus of godliness and we hope the cleanliness will return better results than the former. Now when you Bandonians come up this way you will be met at the suburbs of our city by a committee of ladies with a bucket of water, soap and scrub brush, and thoroughly cleansed before you are allowed to enter the portals of our city. Then you will be escorted to a tonsorial artist where your Frosty complexion will be changed and you will be allowed to mingle with us. And in due course of time we expect to see the city by the sea side follow suit for nature has endowed her with natural facilities and her inhabitants are enterprising. But arouse from your drowsy lethargy and do not let your sister cities out do you in this all important and necessary improvement. Strangers will make note of it, and do not allow impregnating germs to exist in your midst.

The official mandate has been issued to close the saloons July 1st, and the universal exclamation is, "What shall we do to be saved." The disciples of Blackstone are investigating the technicalities, but it has a dry look, and we are of the opinion that we will have to depend on the city by the sea for the elixir of life to quench our thirst and revive our languishing spirits. Consequently when you come this way emulate the acts of the good samaritan toward your less fortunate brothers. However we congratulate ourselves and are taking a little soothing syrup to allay our nerves. If these horrid saloons will close, peace and harmony will prevail and we will be living in an Eden of paradise tranquility prevailing. We can dispense with the services of the marshal and night-watchman, put out the lights, and go to bed at dark. The cows can live on the grass growing in the street. We care nothing for enterprise, so long as we can live in a sanctified city.

I see you are going to have a big whoop-a-la celebration the 4th, and inviting us all to come and hear what the wild waves are saying. Now we will be there, I will don my Sunday trousers and LuLu her peek a boo bonnet and get down grandfather's old gun of revolutionary fame. Now I do not care what the wild waves are saying, but if I hear of or see any of those handsome and marketable young men of Bandon of which there are an overproduction, flirting or attempting to alienate LuLu's affection for me in any manner whatsoever, I will bring grandfather's old gun into active service and there will be something doing and it will not be shooting fire-crackers for pastime.

School Superintendent Bunch is around in his official capacity, visiting the different schools on the river, and your correspondent filed an application to be appointed deputy. If there is any one office that I prefer, it would be that of visiting all of the handsome school mams in the Coquille valley. Yum yum!

LEANDER.

A base ball team from here went to Coquille last Sunday, and were defeated by a team there to the tune of 16 to 20.

At the school meeting Monday, Geo. P. Topping was elected director for the three-year term and G. Boak for the two year term. Robt. Frederick was elected secretary.

"The tongue of the dumb sing," Isaiah, 35: 6. To many people the day of miracles is past. The personal manifesting of the power of God to the individual is a theory rather than a fact. The testimony of the Samaritan woman of old to her people, "Come see a man which told me all things that ever I did," is repeated to the people of Bandon by Ensign Storey and officers of the Marshfield Corps of the Salvation Army who shortly will be visiting Bandon. The case of Ensign Storey viewed from whatever standpoint the observer may take is most remarkable. Called some seven years ago to the work of God, he neglected, or rather rejected his call, and took up with an advantageous business proposition made him at the same time, by a leading firm in the city of Rochester, New York state. God has his own way with dealing Jonaba. Some three weeks after going to business, he rose from his bed one morning after returning the night previous well in every way, to find his voice had left him. John Wana-maker, his own people, and others interested in his case, took him to the most eminent specialists of Chicago, and elsewhere, but none could find any cause of this strange visitation nor help him. For fourteen months unable to speak one word, dependent on tablet and pencil, his voice in answer to prayer was restored him, when he, dumb though he was consecrated himself to the service of God.

The Ensign is revisiting Coos Bay at the desire of the people of Marshfield. Both Methodist and Presbyterian churches were unable to find standing room for the crowds that wished to hear him on his last visit to that city. Date of his visit to Bandon July 14, 15. Where will hold meetings advertised later. The Ensign has a good voice, his songs mostly his own composition, and set to popular tunes, Back to Baltimore, "Teasing" and others.

The W. R. Haines Music Co. Marshfield, will refund all expense of transportation, including a days' stop at Marshfield, to anyone purchasing a piano, coming from the following places or tributary thereto: Langlois, Bandon, Coquille and Myrtle Point. We carry piano players, pipe and reed organs, talking machines and a full line of sheet music and musical merchandise, also Domestic sewing machines. Easy payments.

On account of so much rain most of the boys from the camps have taken their departure for Coquille where it is now "dry."

The Herman Bros. have just completed a very pretty gasoline launch for R. W. Bullard.
