

Langlois.

The most important social event since our last writing was the installation of officers in the lodge of the Women of Woodcraft, which occurred last Thursday week ago. The Port Orford lodge were invited, and nine ladies from that town attended. There were also present guests from Bandon and Portland and from our home town. Lunch was served at the Haagensen restaurant to about forty in all. The event closed with a very civil dance in the evening. The lodge seems to be flourishing.

Among the recent arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ortick of Fort Scott, Kansas. They are guests of Mrs. S. T. Malehorn, who is a sister of Mrs. Ortick. The sisters had not met for about thirty years.

Mrs. Jeff Thrift arrived last Friday from Coquille. She is spending a few days at the home of her father, Mr. Hawkins.

Mrs. Ed. Thrift went to Marshfield last Saturday to spend a few weeks. J. C. Logan was in town last Saturday on business.

The many friends of Dr. T. C. Green will regret to learn that he passed on to the Great Beyond last Friday evening. He was in Spokane at the time of his demise. The last few weeks of his life were passed in extreme suffering from which death proved only a happy release. He lived a useful life, and will be especially missed by his many patients. He was always kindhearted and generous.

The strike is still on, much to our inconvenience in many ways.

The saddest event within our memory was the funeral obsequies of the late Mrs. Frank Straub, who departed this life last Saturday night. The last sad rites occurred Tuesday of this week. She leaves a husband and many helpless children to struggle on alone.

"God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

Miss Myra Thompson has gone to Port Orford to spend a few days.

The camping season is upon us. Several families have chosen Flore's creek as a location for a few weeks. The fishing, bathing, and sailing advantages are not to be overlooked there. Even our nearest neighbor has staked her tent between us facing the East, so that she can pray toward Jerusalem, with nothing to disturb but the cow bell serenade.

Railroad Surveyors Here.

A party of about fifteen S. P. railroad surveyors are at present making their headquarters in Bandon. They are going over the survey made two years ago and this party is covering the section between Beaver Hill and Port Orford. After reaching Port Orford they will return and make the final survey and set the grade stakes.

FROM BUSY PROSPER COQUILLE NEWS NOTES

All the News of a Week's Happenings Told in a Brief Manner.

Commercial men from S. F. and Portland were thronging our little place last week, though for several weeks representatives from the former city were seldom seen in our midst, it appears to be resuming its former wholesale activity and able to again handle the outside patronage.

E. Fish, bookkeeper for the Prosper Mill Co., made a business trip to Carmichael's camp on Bear Creek last Tuesday. He made a tour of the camp and feeling the after effects of his trip, expresses no desire to again traverse such rough country.

Mr. McQuigg of Coquille came down on the Favorite last Tuesday, business with the Prosper Mill Co. called him here.

Dr. Houston, of Bandon, made this place a professional call last week.

Tom Perkins, the pioneer nursery man of Parkersburg, was greeting old friends in Prosper last Friday.

Mr. Colvin was here Thursday, delivering ordered volumes of the late San Francisco disaster.

Ed. Taylor, once a resident of the Coquille, but of late years a sojourner of central Oregon, has recently returned from Lookingglass and is temporarily located here.

Mrs. Crites of New Aberdeen was a passenger to Bandon Thursday.

Mrs. A. A. Anderson, of Bandon, made this place a short business visit on the 20th.

H. N. Russell, of Randolph, passed through this place enroute to Bandon Thursday.

Dr. H. E. Judge, a late arrival from west New York was introducing himself to Prosper people Friday. He represents a religious denomination, the Latter Day Saints, and is looking up a suitable location for a church. As the Prosperites are all "Salvationists" we referred him to Leander.

J. Moore, the Randolph gardener, passed through this place to Bandon Friday.

F. Hilgren and Axel Sandstrom were passengers to Bandon Thursday.

C. Barker and wife, of Fairview, visited the former's brother Fred, and family, at this place the first of last week.

The probable sales of Prosper real estate, of which we have made mention, are not yet consummated. Property here is on the increase and almost invaluable. When an investor presents himself for a purchase, price is set and when he returns it has advanced a hundred or two.

A dance was given at Bullards Saturday night. It was not largely attended yet a pleasant time was reported.

Mrs. Carothers and daughter Miss Welcome, returned Saturday, from a two weeks visit with friends at Coquille. They had an enjoyable time.

Mary Hansen, of Marshfield, is visiting Pearl Bullard, of Bullards.

A. Griffin and Ray Van Anken, of New Aberdeen, emigrated to Bandon Saturday. The latter is seen wandering in that direction quite frequently of late.

The largest raft of the season was towed from the Randolph Slough, Saturday. C. Ashton, the skilled raftsman had it in charge. It was made up of stowed logs, length about 500 ft. and width about 55 ft. containing about 350 or 400 M. The logs were from Anderson's camp and were taken to Johnson's Mill.

H. B. Williams, an oil extractor, from Portland was at this place in the interest of his profession last Thursday. He has a process of extracting oil, from pitchy cedar and fir stumps, which is used as a superior oil for paint or stain.

Rumor has it that two different parties are planning to have a vessel built here but nothing authentic has been given out and it is said, nothing will be definitely known till the one now under construction is launched and towed out.

T. P. Hanley, was down Saturday evening to find sale for beef from his farm near Lampas.

The R. R. surveyors passed through this place the first of the week. In the line of survey, few changes were made from that of two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge and wife, of Bandon, accompanied by the former's father and mother, drove to this place Sunday to see the new vessel.

Mrs. Wm. Hicking, of this place, went to Parkersburg Monday where she joined a picnic party for a days outing.

Leander, Our Correspondent Tells of the Week's Incidents at the Hub.

The weather is extremely dry and sultry in this part of the hemisphere and we are sadly in need of a rain to refresh and invigorate the vegetables and grass, and if it is not forthcoming fall feed will be scarce. Already the milk is falling off at the creameries which is premature in accordance with other seasons. The farmers have their hay secured and a rainfall would be a blessing. The fruit crop is figuratively speaking a failure. Certain locations are more fortunate than others but as a whole it is a failure. This is something which here tofore unknown in this county. Even the blackberries have failed to respond abundantly. The berry pickers can be seen returning with empty buckets, and a disappointed look upon their countenances.

A great many of our citizens have hied away to the city by the sea to recuperate and breathe some pure ozone from the placid waters of the Pacific ocean, and at the present time our city resembles a cemetery to a certain extent. However there are some improvements going on in the form of dwelling houses. J. A. Lamb's five residence is nearing completion. Paulson, Wm. Nye and Belloni, have commenced the construction of fine residences on Nob Hill and when completed will be a fine acquisition to the already palatial residences in that fashionable locality.

The steamer Liberty is undergoing repairs the result of an encounter with a schooner recently in your city. The probis attribute it to the saloons. They say the crew was intoxicated. Be it so or be it otherwise when the steamer arrived at Coquille she resembled a dismantled Russian gun boat after being entertained by the Japanese war fleet. However she will be ready to resume operations soon again.

I see Lynn Doyle's mother-in-law is down your way. She gave a synopsis of a camping outfit that was unfortunate enough to camp on the mud flat over night. Now Mr. Editor if she gets that nagging old tongue in motion against you you will be praying for the Tupper Rock to fall upon you or be tempted to commit suicide by jumping in the river to shield you from her scurrilous old tongue, which when thoroughly lubricated will wallop you to a finish. Better you have Judge Quick sit on her for insanity. Poor Lynn comes to town occasionally to see us boys but everything is dry and he said he guessed he would come no more, no place to refresh. Go to church or stand in the street and meditate over the situation, over what it might be if things were different, and then grasp the first opportunity to get away to the city by the sea or Marshfield.

Our city is in a considerable of discord and discontent over the saloon proposition and there is a great traversy of opinion existing and it is to be regretted that such is the existing circumstances, for it is noticeable to strangers visiting our city and does not have a favorable impression, but the impregnating germs of discord exist here, and it will take a thorough fumigation to extinguish them.

Monday's Dispatch brought the remains of Mrs. W. W. Hayes here for interment. She was followed to her final resting place by a large concourse of relatives and friends who had assembled to pay the last sad tribute of respect that the living can pay the dead. Grandma Hayes as she was familiarly known throughout the county had she been permitted to live four months more, would have passed the four score mile stone. She leaves a kind and affectionate husband and large family. All have grown to maturity and are our most respected citizens. She was one of the pioneer landmarks of our county. Well may it be said that her life was one of usefulness without one blot or blemish to her noble and philanthropic character. She will be missed from the fireside and family circle, and large concourse of friends. But she has gone to her final resting place leaving a pure noble record as a monument to her memory.

Randolph.

J. Moore visited relatives in Bandon Friday.

A. Pershaker of Prosper was up Saturday looking after his property interests of this place.

Ned Lawrence and Guy Johnson, employes of Anderson's camp, took in the dance at Bandon Saturday night.

Jack Hayter of Bandon visited his brothers the Messrs. W. O. and C. A. Hayter of this place Thursday.

A crowd of our fun loving young people attended the dance at Bullards Saturday night, which they pronounced a grand success. The only thing that marred the pleasure of the evening was that the violinist went on a strike about two o'clock.

A game of baseball took place Sunday between the Randolph and Bandon teams in which Bandon was defeated by a score of 8 to 9.

Mr. Chas. Hayter and little son Cecil took their departure Monday for the upper river where they go to visit friends and relatives for a few days.

Miss Gertrude Miller of Coquille visited her friend Miss Mintie Doak, Monday.
PEGGIE and PATSY.

Port Orford.

Zack Boice was in town Friday night greeting his old friends in his usual hearty manner. The last few years have grayed him up, but have not changed his cheerfulness.

Oscar Mather has returned to his Sixes river homestead, having settled with Eddie Divilbiss. We are glad that the boys have settled their contention as to whether the land is agricultural or mineral, for it is both. Better if all our disputes were settled by arbitration than by litigation that causes loss of time, money, and temper, and usually involves others.

John H. Coy, while working in his hay-field near Ophir on the 15th of July, dropped dead from heart disease, after working but a short time in the morning.

Mr. Coy came to this county from Marion county, Oregon about 35 years ago, and has resided for many years at his home on Cedar Fork.

It is said that arrangements are about completed along the coast for purchasing a small schooner, fit her up with gasoline power and trade all the ports from Coos Bay to Humboldt, to call in at Rogue and Klamath rivers. It is believed that such a vessel will pay, as it will certainly be a big improvement over the present uncertain transportation, and loosen the grip of every monopoly that dominates this stretch of coast.—Tribune.
