

Dave Collier Dead.

A dispatch to the Journal from Moscow, Idaho, says: David Allen Collier, aged 26, who came here three months ago from Coquille, Or. where he owns valuable property, was found unconscious in a vacant lot and a few hours later died at his father's residence without regaining consciousness. The father says his son had been on a big drunk for eight days. When he was found blood was flowing from his mouth showing he had suffered a hemorrhage. The body will be removed to Coquille City for burial.

Andrew Bossen went to Marshfield this week with a younger brother to have an operation performed for the removal of a growth on the latter's eye.

The board of Equalization for Coos county will meet at the office of the county clerk, August 27th.

Earl Goodman returned from California on the last Elizabeth.

D. E. Stitt has sold his residence property to Fred VonPegert. Consideration $1200.

Embargo on S. P. Freight.

San Francisco, Calif. July 30.—An embargo on freight was extended today on all goods coming into the city by freight over the Southern Pacific, except on crude oil and perishable goods, such as food stuffs. This action was taken after a conference of the local officials of the Southern Pacific.

In pursuing the general policy of General Manager Kruttschnitt, Saturday last an order was issued placing a ban on all shipments from the northern part of the country and as this order was made general today San Francisco is cut off from all supplies by freight.

The effect of the present embargo is sure to be disastrous unless speedily relieved and it is feared that it will cause the price of all goods barred to go up.

The railroad officials are of the opinion that if the blockade of freight is not lessened in the course of a few days it will become a serious danger to the city. It is estimated that there are 5000 loaded cars in the yards of San Francisco and Oakland.

All the News of a Week's Happenings Told in a Brief Manner.

Leo Cox, of Randolph, departed Wednesday for Spokane, Wash., going by way of Roseburg. He makes this chiefly a pleasure trip and expects to be away several weeks.

J. McDonald, traveling for a Portland shoe house, was a caller here last Wednesday.

Messrs. S. B. Anderson and Wm. Hansen, were passengers to Bandon last Wednesday.

The plates and rudder braces are yet to be placed on the new vessel and the launching will take place one night during the latter part of this week. E. Heuckendorff went to Marshfield last Monday to order the castings. He returned Tuesday and Nels Nielson was sent over to await the completion of the work.

Misses Walker, Walsler and Graham, of Bandon, were up to this place for an afternoon outing, last Wednesday.

Mrs. F. Gilman, of Arago, has been visiting friends at this place for the past week.

The Prosper mill was closed for a short while Monday, resulting from a slight break in the machinery. The planer ceased operation for a day or so due to the absence of the planer-man, who, bent toward matrimony, was off to meet one of the incoming passengers on the Elizabeth.

Levi Smith, logger from near Myrtle Point, was down on business with the Prosper Mill Co. last week.

J. Dunn, the ship inspector was a Bandon visitor last Saturday.

A. Pershbaker went to Marshfield, Saturday to attend the funeral of C. H. Merchant, which was held at that place Sunday.

Manuel Wilson and wife, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Newell, who recently came here from Gardiner, have taken their departure for Tacoma, Wash., where Mr. N. will take a position as brakeman on the Northern Pacific.

Mrs. D. Tiller, was down from Randolph shopping Saturday.

Mrs. J. Conrad, now a resident of Bandon, was up to this place on a short visit last week.

Mr. Gehrig, the Bandon brewer, was up Saturday. He purchased a horse from A. Willard, to use in his delivery wagon.

Lynn Doyle's mother-in-law made a special trip to Prosper a few days ago to recover the jacket, bonnet and parasol which she loaned to "that Prosper gal," on a recent and eventful camping trip. Upon disembarking from the Favorite she immediately sought the recipient of her valued favor, and approaching her said, "I sorter like this little place of yours and as I wuz kinder skeered that you wouldn't find my parapther nalia back, that I'd jist take myself down and git them. I wouldn't be so particular bout them but you know nuce Ezra, to show me his long and everlastin' devoshun, give me them last Crismus, and I wouldn't like anything to happen to them. I also had a errand to do fer the feller who writes them funny pieces in the Sentinel and I done it all up on the onetrip."

She kept up a continuous discourse on numerous topics of interest to her,—the return boat whistled and Becky—ah! seized with excitement says, "Wall now, I fergot ter look round fer that Sentinel man's room. He jist likes it here and requested me ter look fer a couple rooms where he could stay and kinder rekint up fer a few days but as I hev fergot to see about it, I'll write a little ad, and you send it to the Recorder—(which read like this) Wanted—furnished apartments suitable fer gentleman with folding doors."

Bidding the "Prosper gal" good-bye she climbed on the boat, shouting back she said, "Now don't fergit that what I give ye, fer if he finds I hev'n't been mighty keerful bout his bizness, and he goes ter rile me up too much I'll make some changes on the map of his face."

Wm. Toller and Burgess Bra have been rafting logs from the latter's camp the last few days. They were brought to the Prosper Mill.

A number of Prosper people took a leave of absence Sunday and joined the excursionists to Bandon. Returning on the Liberty late in the afternoon the velocity of the wind was such as to render the boat almost unmanageable and after leaving the dock the machinery became disabled. The tug was brought into service and towed her to Prosper, where a delay of half an hour enabled them to proceed under her own steam. The travelers made good the stop over and an extra force of clerks were commissioned in the store to quell their aroused appetites.

We are told that the clean up committee at Coquille had gone out of business. From appearances they failed to complete the rounds of their design—Hark Dunham's Sunday jumper looks as if it had escaped the friction of their lathered brushes and still retains its dusky lue.

J. Pederson and Andrew Nielson, who went to S. F. on the schooner Oregon last trip, returned Monday evening coming per steamer Kilburn to Coos Bay.

The captain who will have command of the new vessel building here, came in on the last Elizabeth. He has been in the employ of Sudden & Christenson of San Francisco.

COQUILLE NEWS NOTES

Leander, Our Correspondent Tells of the Week's Incidents at the Hub.

We are still sweltering in heat and sunshine. Last week there was indications of rain but the clouds passed by and at the present time every thing denotes a protracted dry spell, weather and otherwise.

Notwithstanding all this the increase in population exceeds any former period and your thriving city by the sea is not in it. Last night there was four new arrivals ushered into existence. Peoples' wife gave birth to a fine son; Arthur Ellingson's wife a daughter and Slocum the druggist's wife a pair of twins. So you can see they are coming two by two, as the animals went to the ark. The problem that confronts us now is, Peoples will have to put a revenue on butter-milk to defray the additional expenses attached thereto to buy that boy boots and pants. Good record for a butter-milk town.

John Yoskam received the sad intelligence that his wife, who had gone to Arizona for the benefit of her health, was worse and he has hastened to her bedside.

Fred Von Pegert has negotiated for a one half interest in the machine shop of A. Garfield, in your city. Fred will be a good acquisition to your community and together they will make a strong firm endowed with energy and ability and fair dealing. The day is not far distant when their star will shine brilliantly in the constellation of machinists.

Fistic encounters are of frequent occurrence on our streets. Almost any time you can see the work of Corbett and Jeffries exemplified.

Excursions and picnics are in vogue and the order of the day. Last Friday the Sunday Schools gave an excursion to the city by the sea, and your correspondent, heretofore having maintained a good reputation as a Sunday School scholar, was invited to attend and readily accepted the invitation. Everything passed off smooth and harmonious. However there were some in the mix-up who were not even on speaking terms with a Sunday School. Doc Dean, the pencil pusher for the Herald, was there and seemed to know all the ladies. Lynn Doyle was there but when he seen his mother-in-law hobnobbing around with Quick, thinking perhaps they were plotting some evil design against him, he cached away in the glory hole with Peoples' butter-milk. After our arrival at Bandon and the crowd had dispersed and gone to their camping ground, Lynn's mother in law was looking around the boat for dead soldiers, thinking perhaps someone might have left some stimulents to revive her languishing spirits. She found the coffin but the soldier was gone. All in all they had a good time and enjoyed themselves. Us Sunday School scholars know how to have a good entertainment and enjoyable time.

There is going to be a moonlight excursion to Arago some night this week to dance on the pavilion erected for the 4th of July, and from all appearances a large crowd will avail themselves of the opportunity of taking their sweethearts, or some other fellow's, just as the case may be, and go moon gazing and hear what the gentle zephyr breezes whisper through the green foliage of that his toric grove.

I see your Prosper correspondent says they are all Salvationists at Prosper but I am informed that she attended the base ball game in Bandon Sunday when she should have been to Sunday School working in the Lord's vineyard. Furthermore, two weeks ago when she cast aside the imploring entreaties of Ensign Storey punishment was adumished to her in the form of camping on the mud flats all night. Now, when she boarded the Stm. Liberty at Bandon Sunday, misfortune overtook the vessel. Now repent yea before it is everlasting too late and go to Sunday School on Sundays. LEANDER.

Presbyterian Church. There will be church services in the Presbyterian church next Sunday, Aug. 5, both morning and evening. Sunday school at 10 A. M., and Christian Endeavor at 7 P. M. All are cordially invited.

Hark Dunham had a violent toothache Saturday and with murmurs of agony sought the services of a dentist in a jiffy. He was the first visitor to Dr. Tatom's parlors, and when his form darkened the doorway on departure he carried a tusk of considerable proportions and grandeur in his capacious tobacco pouch. Hark may use the molar as a bowl for his odoriferous corn-cob, but his only regret for its removal is the fact that his whistling mechanism is now out of gear. Three pounds of dynamite, we understand, were consumed in dislodging the tooth.—Sentinel.
