A Chinese often presents his intended bride with a pair of geese, and they are regarded as emblems of conjugal fidelity.

New York city imports are growing rapidly. The city is now receiving foreign goods at the rate of $736,000, 000 a year.

Sealing wax is not wax, nor does it contain a single particle of wax. It is made of shellac and resin melted with turpentine.

New and heavy all-steel cars are about to be put into service for the transportation of mail between Boston and New York.

The head of an Eskimo family gives his doctor a fee as soon as he comes. If the patient recovers, it is kept; if not, it is returned.

About 70 specimens of the extinct great auk are now preserved in museums. A specimen recently sold in London brought $2,000.

In Bolivia the natives of the interior wear hats and shirts made of the bark of a tree, which is first soaked in water and then beaten until pliable.

The only method of reducing danger to life by snakes in India is, according to the Pioneer Mail, the removal of prickly pear and noxious undergrowth.

The moon is the sluggard of the solar system, its 2,273 miles an hour in its journeying around the earth comparing badly with the earth's 66,579 miles an hour.

In Siam the number of rooms in a house, of windows or doors in a room even of rungs on a ladder, must always be odd. Even numbers are considered unlucky.

The rhinoceros is the thickest skinned quadruped, its hide being tough enough to resist the claws of a lion or tiger, the blows of a sword or the balls of an old-fashioned musket.

A wonderful pearl bearing the exact likeness of the late Queen Victoria of England was found in a fresh water mussel in the Mississippi river near Davonport, Iowa.

A firm of London motor manufacturers supplies its customers with specially colored confetti, which the motorists sprinkle when running through a police trap. Drivers who follow at once read the sign and act accordingly.

In their recent joint meeting the foreign mission boards of the United States and Canada appointed a committee to investigate the religious conditions of the 130,000,000 people in Russia, with a view to beginning Protestant mission work among them.

It was stated recently at a public hearing in Australia that £1,000,000 worth of rabbits were shipped to England every year; that the rabbit, as a commercial commodity, was "only in its infancy," and that the trade would probably grow to £5,000,000 a year.

New Steamer for Coos.

Between the 1st and 10th of October the steamer George W. Elder will be operated on the run between Portland Coos Bay points. The definite announcement to this effect was made yesterday by J. H. Peterson, who is practically the owner of the vessel although Charles P. Doe, of the North Pacific Steamship Company, has been taken in as half owner in the vessel.

According to Mr. Peterson, the owners of the vessel have looked over the traffic situation along the Pacific Coast and after considering several prospective routes for the vessel, decided that the route between Portland and the prosperous country of Coos Bay offered the best inducements for the operation of the boat in a proper manner.

Coos Bay trade with the local merchants is growing daily and with every department of the coastwise steamers F. A. Kilburn and Alliance, which are the only two crafts calling at Coos Bay from this port, the shipping demand is increasing and these vessels are forced to leave behind more freight each trip.

This vessel which has been on the drydock for over two months undergoing repairs after having rested submerged on a sunken rock in the Columbia river for 13 months is practically ready to be floated and will be available for service about October 1. Speaking of the new run Mr. Peterson said:

"The Elder will be placed on the Coos Bay run as soon as she is ready for commission and we will keep her on the run as long as the trade warrants the operation of the vessel. Both freight and passenger demands in that direction seem too heavy for the steamers now on the route to handle and the placing of our vessel on the run will not harm them in the least for this is a growing country and accommodate all three vessels. At any rate we intend to try it as an experiment, for it is a short haul and offers better inducements than any of the other routes we have had under consideration.—Oregonian.

Log Shortage on Bay.

Lack of cars is working a hardship on the bay millmen, who are at present depending, to a great extent, on a supply of logs from the Coquille. There are not enough cars to keep the logging camps on the Isthmus running steadily when hauling is being done from the Cedar Point boom, and when vessels are being loaded at the depot with lumber from the Coquille mills at the same time. The result is that hauling from Cedar Point has to be discontinued for days, at intervals, and as a consequence the mills run short of logs. It is said the S. P. has plenty of old cars in Sacramento, which are being fixed up for logging purposes, and that from now on the Czarina will bring up a few each trip. This is good news, and it is hoped that after a while the road will be well supplied with rolling stock.—Coos Bay News.

A fly salesman dropped in on one of our young business men the other day, carrying a finely polished oak cabinet. "I want to sell you a peach of a talking machine," he said. "Got one," replied the young business man. "What kind?" was asked. "The best kind on earth," was the response. "Where did you get it was the next question. "Married it," said the y. b. m., and the salesman bled off to look for a victim elsewhere.—Ex.

Sawmill for Isthmus Slough.

For some time past negotiations have been under way, looking toward the establishment of a sawmill on Isthmus slough, on what is known as the old Hall place, adjoining the McCormac new log boom above Eagle Point. It was thought at one time that the enterprise had fallen through, but we are assured by those in a position to know that all arrangements have now been completed, and that the work of construction will commence at once. The capital has been furnished by eastern people, and on Saturday one of the principal owners, A. A. Courtney, arrived and took charge of business here. The mill is to saw timbers to be used for a certain purpose, and the contract for the machinery calls for a capacity of not less than 50,000 feet per day. The company has a waterfront of 900 feet, and will construct a wharf 400 feet long, to admit of two vessels being loaded at the same time. A spur track will be put in from the railroad, and logs will be delivered at this point will be quite a boom for Flagstaff, which is close by.—Coos Bay News.

Crowell on Bear Hunting.

All of a sudden, the bushes in front exploded and shot out a bear that looked big as a Carnegie library. He saw us and at once stood up on his hind flukes and exposed a half-acre of manly bosom to the enemy. Little did he dream that he was confronting two of the deadliest shots since the days of Daniel Boone. He appeared quite careless, in fact.

Schweitz was still wrestling his gun while we were frantically trying to cock ours, not noticing that it had been cocked by some blundering idiot before.

The ticking of our watch sounded so loud that it scared us—nothing else could have been the cause of it, sure. The past fitted through our mind like a moving picture machine gone crazy. It was about three seconds before we realized the position we were in. There we were, a peaceable editor, facing a poor, helpless fellow creature with the intent of cruelly puncturing it. It was a terrible thought.

A glance at the guide showed us that he was choking to death with fright or laughter, won't say which.

Another noise fractured the stillness—a growl mixed with a fierce sneeze: We closed our eyes as the cold froth struck us on the shins. When we opened them we saw a strange sight. The bear was in tall flight—that is he was ambling off about as fast as a girl comes away from an ice cream parlor.—N. H. Crowell in September Field and Stream.

By the Sad Sea.

Same old summer
As of yore;
Same old breakers
On the shore;
Same old music
By the band;
Same old bathers
On the sand;
Same mosquitoes,
Same old bites;
Same old people
Out o' nights;
Caudy, popcorn,
Pressed in slabs;
Lemonade, and
Soft-shelled crabs;
Same old flavors
In the air;
Same old sameness
Everywhere.

Port Orford.

The crew of surveyors that we mentioned in our last issue as working between this place and Sixes river, have moved their camp southward, where they will probably resume surveying at Whale's Heads, and run on into California.

Miss Lizzie Caughell appeared before Commissioner Upton Monday, and gave bonds to the sum of $1000, for appearance before the Federal Court at Portland, in connection with alleged irregularities in the Postoffice at Gold Beach.

W. F. Riley who has been spending several days in town, will start for San Jose about Friday. While in Curry he spent a night in the mountains in company with John R. Miller and H. T. Stewart. The party succeeded in bagging three deer and one bear, and Mr. Miller had the unique experience of having a bear walk off with one of his deer which he had left in the woods over night.—Tribune.
