THURSDAY, SEPT. 20, 1906.

The time of year is at hand for the terrible scourge typhoid fever to commence its ravages. Naturally this section is almost if not quite immune from that monster plague, but conditions may bring it on at any time in any place no matter how healthy a country may be. The people of Myrtle Point have had one case in their midst, and that town is naturally as healthy a place as can be found we may say on earth. When the white man took up his abode here half a century ago the natives knew nothing of fevers, malaria being a total stranger to this valley. Since settlements have been made by the white race, lands cleared and the soil turned up to the sun, the decayed vegetation of which it is formed is believed to have brought on unsanitary conditions. In the early days people came here from the interior valleys to get rid of malarial symptoms, and Dr. Hermann, a noted physician, has left the facts on record which show that one week's sojourn in this valley at that time was a complete cure for all fever symptoms.

People nowadays get careless, and from the fact that this country is celebrated as health-giving climate they do not look after sanitary defects. They allow heaps of rubbish to accumulate, use water from wells that have never been cleaned, allow cesspools to form in backyards, sweep the accumulations of the house into the backyards and neglect to burn the litter thus accumulated. Ere long the fever germs are formed and ripen for their destructive work. Loved ones are taken away ere the cause is removed and a household is in mourning. In view of these facts, that no one can dispute, is it not the duty of every inhabitant of the city and country to look after the sanitary condition of their homes without an hour's delay, and thus protect themselves and their innocent dependents as well as the community at large.—Sentinel.

Of course in busting up the Shylock industry in the country, we mean no disrespect to the late Mr. Shakespeare.

There are two perpetual swindlers—ice and gas. The gas meters run for the company, and the ice boxes melt for the company.

Mr. Bryan did what was expected of an honest American, when in his New York speech he commended President Roosevelt for his great efforts to rid the country of law breaking corporations.

Look on the bright side, there is always a bright side. The smaller the chunk of ice the less dirt there is in it.

Senator Dick wants the Ohio Republican platform to be the product of the entire convention—something so entirely unprecedented in politics, as to excite the fear that he is suffering from overwork.

If North Carolina continues to send lynchers to prison and train its National Guard for riot service, it will fill up so fast with immigrants that all other southern states will be distanced.

Never knew how easy it was to spell all those hard words 'til 'Carusie cum along and shode us.

When Capt. Hobson started the report that Japan is seeking a chance to quarrel with us, he evidently had not heard the rumor that Japan would like to borrow $40,000,000 of this country.

Cuba has the generals if we will supply the guns and the men behind.

Learning to spell takes the mind off the ice famine, dollar campaign, automobile fatalities, earthquake calamities, Russian atrocities, Cuban traitors, inside bank robberies, Pittsburgh millionaires and Judge Lynch.

It is estimated that the naval review off Oyster Bay next month, will cost nearly half a million. But even this is cheaper than a real war.

Tom Johnson has involuntarily removed himself from the boss-ship of the Ohio Democracy. As we have heretofore observed 'tis a bad year for bosses.

Mr. Allison of Iowa is able to remind Mr. Cannon that being a "favorite son" is not what it is cracked up to be.

Senator Beveridge merely wished to direct public attention to the fact that he is something of a key note himself.

It is scarcely necessary to add that the Sage who failed in New York a day or so ago, is an entirely different kind of Sage.

After all else is said about the Georgia campaign, with its numerous amenities, the triumph of the Hon. Hoke Smith was a mighty smashing of the machine.

What has become of the patriot army of Cuba that has been rewarded with millions for allowing the American army to free the republic.

Will the President's next message be notable for its statesmanly qualities or its spelling?

Dowie's lack of confidence in Overseer Volivia as a financial manager, probably is equalled only by Volivia's distrust of Dowie as a spiritual leader.

Those native Cubans seem to have an itching every now and then for a spanking.

TREATMENT OF DRUNKARDS.

Glasgow not only owns and operates its street railways, and other public utilities, but it has an institution unknown in this country for the treatment of "drunks." Instead of throwing them into jail and thence bustling them to a rockpile, they are placed for an indefinite period in a municipal inebriate reformatory, which is under the management of 22 benevolent and public-spirited citizens, who, like most city officials there, draw no salary, the good they can do being pay enough. The inebriates are fed nourishing food four times a day, are subjected to discipline, to regular hours and approved medical treatment, and educational opportunities are afforded them and means of recreation is provided. They are obliged to work, however, and wherever possible earn their "keep"; if more, a percentage is held for them till they are discharged, which occurs when they are so "built up," physically, mentally, that there is reasonable hope that they will be not only willing but able to withstand the temptation to drink. The institution just about pays its own way by the inebriates' labor does them all good, at least temporarily, and permanently reclaims many.

Is not this method of dealing with confirmed or habitual "drunks" more humane, more economical, more sensible in every way than the ordinary method? It may not be quite so practicable in the large cities of this country as in European cities, yet the Glasgow method seems worthy of consideration.—Portland Journal.

Visitor Says he Has Opportunity to buy Everything From Cemetery to Timber.

"It is amusing," says a visiting capitalist, "to look over the Coos Bay country, particularly after one's business becomes known to those who have interests here they wish to dispose of."

"I have been offered everything in the nature of real estate from a cemetery to a coal mine, since my business here has become known. I have made several purchases on Coos Bay, and expect to make more, but I do not want to buy the whole peninsula and part of the timber lands. It is a fact I fully believe to be true, that I have been offered in real estate within the past few days what would make a county three times the size of Coos. There is a vast amount of holdings which have been hoarded from time immemorial and since there is something like activity in many places on the Bay, every person with a gully or a particularly steep hill property thinks his holdings should command San Francisco prices and any one who does not care to buy these is slow and fails to see the great advantages of getting in before the rush starts. But with all this annoyance, I wish I had the money to buy everything that is offered me."—Coos Bay Times.

Our young friend Kennatt Lawrence, spent Sunday with his parents in this city. Kennatt is now one of the Southern Pacific surveying crew that has been encamped near Coaledo for a few weeks, but which moved this week to the Claussen place six miles below here on the river. The crew comprises 20 men under the leadership of a gentleman named Brown. It is running the survey for the Southern Pacific railroad extension, and it is headed down coast for Humboldt county. From a prominent surveyor of this county it is gleaned that the purpose of the company when finally building is to bridge the Coquille at a point about three miles above Parkersburg.—Sentinel.

We trust those earthquakes have no idea of making a tour of the world.

Taft may be President Roosevelt's favorite statesman but Brander Matthews is his favorite speller.

The real trouble with Cuba seems to be that there are not enough offices to go around.

In 1896 tin was quoted in the English market at $270 a ton. It is now quoted in the same market at about $970 a ton. Sudden fluctuations have carried it as high as $1,042. Market manipulations cause part of this rise, but the increased demand for the metal has caused at least one half of the general increase.

The Nels Rasmussen property on the northwest corner of A and Front streets has been bargained for by the Flannagan & Bennett bank. The property is 30x95 feet and is at present occupied by a saloon building and a real estate office. This is considered one of the finest business locations in the city. It is given out, or at least understood that the purchasers will erect a three story bank building on the site next spring, at the expiration of the saloon license which will control until then. While the price of this deal was not given out for publication, it is supposed to be in the neighborhood of $16,000. Negotiations were conducted by Claude Nasburg.—Coos Bay Times.

A Lakeview man tells the Examiner that he slept on his claim one night to keep it from being jumped, and when he awoke the next morning his pants assayed four ounces of gold to the pound and his whiskers went $30 net.
