Veneer and Panel Plant Offered Coquille.

The people of Coquille have a proposition offered them which they can by no means afford to reject, and by some power, superhuman if necessary, the sleeping Board of Trade must be roused and spurred up to vigorous action. The proposition referred to involves only the giving of a building site and small cash inducement, the latter not specified or particularly dwelt upon, and in return the community is to boast of a flourishing veneer, panel and fruit basket factory that will give employment to 16 or twenty men the first year and 40 or 50 men thereafter, and cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

A. K. Hatteberg & Son is the firm that makes the offer to this city. Mr. Hatteberg, Sr., is at present connected with the veneer and furniture factory at North Bend. He is thoroughly experienced in this line of manufacture, having devoted the better part of his life to it, and has a plant now operating in Michigan which he desires to move to Coquille because of our better adapted conditions in the way of river, marketing chance, and plentiful fir and other hardwoods. Mr. Hatteberg's son is the manager of the eastern plant which is guaranteed to be an up-to-date concern and free of all incumbrance. The elder Hatteberg claims to have invented a piece of machinery commonly used in veneer factories, and in other ways gives the assurance that he has a knowledge of every detail of the business.

The gentleman paid a visit to Coquille a few days ago, took a look about town, and talked to a few of our citizens. He was very much impressed, and seemed anxious to come here if only a site and some funds to aid him in moving were pledged by the city. He returned to North Bend, and on Tuesday Mayor Stanley received a plat of the proposed factory and a statement of the proposition which he has to present to our people. The plat can be seen at Mr. Stanley's office, while the accompanying statement is as follows:

"A. K. Hatteberg & Son proposes to build a veneer, panel and fruit basket factory at Coquille if suitable arrangements can be made. This factory will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000, and will employ 16 or 20 men through the first year, and after that time 40 or 50 men. We would like to get as an inducement a mill site 300x300 feet, or thereabouts, on the river bank adjoining the new shingle mill (fuel from the mill being the object), and also what cash you people would see fit to donate to this enterprise. We would build at once so as to be in operation the last part of December next. This mill would work up about 1,000,000 feet of logs a year, and the product of these logs would bring somewhere about $90,000, meaning, of course, after the mill is running full blast."

The above statement fully explains itself, and it is now up to the people of Coquille to say whether a new industry is to be invited to our midst, augmenting our existing prosperity without much financial outlay on the part of the city. To our notion it is an offer which we cannot afford to ignore. Let the Board of Trade awaken, get together enthusiastically, and meet the conditions of the offer made by Hatteberg & Son. The proposition is warmly endorsed by such of our citizens as were spoken to by Mr. Hatteberg on the occasion of his recent visit.—Sentinel.

An exchange thus describes the man who does things in a hurry: "The unwise man is always in a hurry. He eats in a hurry and gets apoplexy. He talks in a hurry and says too much. He does business in a hurry and goes broke. He reads in a hurry and is superficial. He votes in a hurry and produces corruption. He marries in a hurry and gets a divorce. He trains his children in a hurry and hurries them into evil ways. He gets religion in a hurry and forgets it in a hurry. He makes his will in a hurry and leaves a legal contest. He dies in a hurry and goes to the devil, and his tribe increases."

Port Orford

Dennis Conniff, county surveyor, passed through town last week on his way to survey the new wagon road to be built from Seaside to Denmark.

Dr. Peterson of Seattle and his brother departed by the steamer Elizabeth for Seattle via San Francisco. They are brothers of Mrs. Bancroft, whose husband is superintendent of the Elk river mining Co.

It is reported that the Port Orford Cedar Co., contemplates closing down the Adolphsen mill in the near future, as they are unable to secure teams to haul the lumber into Port Orford at $2.25 per thousand and refuse to raise the price.

It is said that Prof. Heinze of Denver, who has been shipping the Black Oxide of copper from the Canfield & Hart mine on Collier's creek in Curry Co., has found the ledge. As this is the richest copper ore ever found it means much for the future of this county, as the enterprise is backed by Denver multi-millionaires. The ore is said to average 84 per cent.

The steamer Elizabeth called in on her downward trip, last Friday night, and anchored in the bay until morning, when she came in to the wharf, and took on board about 40 cords of matchwood, 40 thousand feet fine cedar lumber, several tons of butter, and mixed freight. She left here about noon, having several passengers from this place for San Francisco. Our people are pleased with the steamer, and think she is just about the right size for this place. Captain Jensen is a polite social gentleman, and liked by everybody.—Tribune.

Stm. Elder to Call at Coos Bay.

Escorted by the Elmore, the steamer Geo. W. Elder arrived from St. Johns last night and moored at Martin's dock, her first visit to the local harbor since she was wrecked near Goble, about two years ago. Her repairs are practically completed, but it will require about two weeks to fit her up with furnishings. She is scheduled to go out on her first trip on Oct. 18.

Originally it was planned to operate her in connection with the Roua oke on the Portland-San Pedro route, calling at Eureka. But the intention is now to send her no farther south than San Francisco and have her make port of entry calls at Coos Bay and Eureka. This decision was reached after the California & Oregon Steamship Co. began to operate the Alliance on the Coos Bay run. It is claimed that by making such arrangements the Elder can give the local merchants a far better service and at the same time it will be possible for her to get all the traffic she can possibly handle. The F. A. Kilburn is the only opposition she will have at the way ports, except the Alliance which is making Marshfield her southern terminus.

Those who went down to Martin's dock to look over the Elder pronounced her to be a much better looking vessel than she was before being disabled. All of the heavy repair work has been completed and a big force of men are now employed putting on the finishing touches. She has been painted from stem to stern, and did he not know differently, the casual observer might take her for a brand new craft just off the ways.—Telegram.

 MRS. SARAH COSTELLO.

According to the latest statistics, Uncle Sam is the world's greatest business man.

Mrs. Thaw has announced that she intends to "tell all," and those of us who haven't forgotten how may as well prepare to blush.

The total packet-seed trade of the country amounts to 120,000,000 packets, of which the government gives away 40,000,000, and the dealers sell 80,000,000.

Never judge by appearances. A shabby coat may contain an editor, while the man wearing a plug hat and yellow kid gloves may be a delinquent subscriber.

The Chicago man who returned home after thirty-one year's absence and gave his wife $5000, got off rather cheaply after all in the support of the family—about $3.25 a week.

"Think what a dreadful world this would be," says and exchange "if all the people were like you." But think how much more dreadful it would be if they were just like your neighbor.—Kansas City Journal.

What are you doing for your town? If you have no confidence in the growth and improvement of the town and country in which you live how on earth do you expect other people to move among you and cause the country to develop and grow for your benefit.

Statisticians estimate that twenty-two acres of land are necessary to sustain one man on fresh meat. The same space of land if devoted to wheat culture would feed forty-two people; if to oats, eighty-eight; potatoes, Indian corn and rice 176, and if to the plantain or banana, over 6,000 people.

Uncle Sam has the best credit of any man in the world. He recently wanted to borrow, at only 2 per cent per annum interest, $32,000,000 to build the Panama canal, and $445,000,000 were immediately offered him. Don't worry about our Uncle Samuel. He is in easy financial circumstances, thank you.

Illinois leads the union of states in wealth of farm lands. It ranks every other state in the average real estate value of its medium farms per acre, having outstripped New Jersey, its rival in that particular, since the census of 1900 was taken. Illinois, therefore is not only the wealthiest, agriculturally, of all the states as a whole, but acre for acre, irrespective of area.

Iowa claims to have twenty-two per cent of all the farm telephones in America, with about 12,000 miles of farm telephone wires. The increase of farm telephones during the last three years throughout the entire Northwest has been remarkable. It is a good sign; it shows that North western farmers are alert and up with the times. The telephone is more necessary to the farmer than to the city man.

The quick lunch habit is the cause of domestic troubles in cities, says the secretary of the Chicago health department—lunch which is bolted while sitting on a stool in a restaurant, consisting mostly of coffee and rolls. But how about domestic troubles in small towns and the country, where ample supplies of good bread and butter, beef steak, eggs, coffee or milk constitute the meal and where the quick lunch habit does not exist?

In Oregon and Washington more than half the area is covered with forests of the first growth. On the shores of Puget Sound the bulk of the forest trees stand 250 feet high, while firs have been cut measuring 350 feet in height. The problems involved in felling these trees often cause perplexity. A twenty-four foot log sawed from the lower part of one of the huge firs weighs thirty or forty tons, more than a ton to every lineal foot, such is the density of the wood and the great diameters.

Give your children the best education you can, even if they should not live to profit by it and should disappear all your hopes, you will have the consciousness of having discharged your duty to them, of having done all in your power to make them good courageous men and women.—Ex.
