MRS. NELSON & MRS. McKENZIE

Card of Thanks.

T. H. Shaw and Mrs. Nancy McIntosh take this means of thanking their friends and neighbors for the aid and assistance extended to them during the last illness and death of their beloved wife and mother, the late Martha Francis Shaw. Dear friends, we shall long hold you in fond remembrance.

Genial Hark Dunham was down from Coquille yesterday looking none the worse for an experience said to have befallen him ten days ago, for which Claude Fox devoutly wishes. According to the story Hark was at work on the battered wheel of the steamer Liberty when the supports on which he stood gave way, precipitating him to the realm of the fishes. An 18 inch monkey wrench went with our good friend, along with a quantity of firewood which was shaken from the steamer's fore decks by the rocking motion due to the troubled waters of Hark's sudden bath. The boat itself escaped serious damage.

There is a disposition among some to disbelieve the claims of J. B. Marshall that his beds are of substantial construction. If the ordinary turn-over act of an ordinary sized being will wreck the hurricane deck of a feathered snoring repository it is agreed by all of Mr. Marshall's friends that his claims of being an expert on beds, everything considered, are decidedly ill-founded.

Mrs. Ellen M. Blacklock passed to rest at her home near the Presbyterian church in Bandon at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, dissolution following upon a protracted illness complicated with advanced years. Deceased was a widow of but short period, was a native of Ireland and 75 years of age. She had lived in Bandon since 1873, and was a good Christian woman—a member of the Methodist denomination. The funeral will take place from the late residence tomorrow at 2 o'clock p. m.

The first annual banquet of the North Bend Chamber of Commerce was held in the new Oregon hotel at North Bend last Thursday evening with Mayor L. J. Simpson the guest of honor. At the head of the banquet table sat Father Edward Donnelly, L. J. Seymour, Peter Loggie, F. H. Brigham and C. S. Winsor. Seymour, H. Bell and Henry Maynard of Tena were also in attendance.

Miss Mand Garfield moved her millinery business to her new location on upper Main street Saturday last, and in the evening formally observed the fact by having the head play in front of the premises. Miss Garfield certainly has neat new quarters where her elegant stock of millinery can be displayed to better advantage.

H. M. Axtell of Port Orford paid this office a call Monday. The gentleman is seriously thinking of starting a first-class restaurant down there.

Mrs S T Malahorn left for Portland last Friday, being called there because of the sickness of her son-in-law, W L Gould.

The burial of Mrs Martha Shaw of Four-mile occurred last Sunday afternoon at the cemetery near Denmark. The service was conducted by Mr E Rackleff. The deceased was a sister of Geo Fitzhugh and the mother of Mrs McIntosh of Marshfield. Her husband also survives her.

A meeting was held last Saturday evening at the school house to organize a literary society. Officers were elected and debaters named to discuss the question, "Who has the greater right on American soil, the American Indian or the white man?" A motion was carried to meet again on next Wednesday evening.

Dr Steele is here again, and, as usual, causing terror and pain to many of our good people. But he is a first class dentist.

Dr Tatom, the Coquille dentist, is on a professional trip down the coast.

A week ago last Saturday evening occurred the Dairymen's ball, which was not as successful as that annual festival usually is, excepting with a few hilarious individuals who continued joyful through the following day. You know this is a dry town. Can't buy intoxicants here. (?)

I learn that W V Cope has leased his ranch two miles south of town to Merton Langlois for five years. Mr Langlois will take possession January 1, 1907. I dislike to see the old and tried friends go, but welcome the new ones.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Tinkler to Wm Sorenson took place on Monday afternoon at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs Chas Woolley. The ceremony was performed by Justice Russell, and immediately followed by a sumptuous dinner. The day was closed by the usual rousing charivari, succeeded by a free dance. Everything connected with the whole affair was enjoyable and enjoyed. The young couple intend making their home at Randolph.

Rev Geo Roche will officiate at the morning and evening service at the church next Sunday, Oct 28th.

Mr Boyd, our teacher, is conducting an evening class in bookkeeping at the school house.

Capt Whitney and wife passed through town Tuesday. The gentleman is removing to Sixes to engage in mining.

Miss Rudolph, who is now in Bandon, is expected here today. She is the niece of Mrs J Langlois of Cape Blanco, and comes from California to visit Oregon for the first time.

I learn of the recent demise of Mr Christian Christensen. He was well known here. He went to San Francisco a few months ago for medical aid, but his sickness carried him off.

Through a misunderstanding we stated in a recent issue of the Times that A. T. Fetter had sold the Bandon Recorder to George R. Lind and Steve Scotten. We learn later that Mr. Lind is the sole owner, having employed Mr. Scotten as editor. Daily Times.

Thank you, neighbor, but please try once more and may be you will get it fully correct. There is no "Lind" connected with this paper.

The steamer Roanoke grounded in the entrance to Humboldt bay ten days ago, but, with the assistance of tugs, was floated 24 hours later. She got on the south spit in endeavoring to dodge a steam schooner, and her 226 passengers traveling from Portland to San Francisco were very much worried for a time.

COQUILLE NEWS NOTES

Leander, Our Correspondent Tells of the Week's Incidents at the Hub.

Well, Mr. Editor, I am compelled by force of circumstances to give you a very dry letter this week—so dry, in fact, that it parches my very throat to think of it. We of the conservative herd are wearing elongated faces that closely resemble those seen at prayer meeting, but as a matter of fact we are simply grieved over our compulsory recourse to water. Yes, it is dry times in Coquille, and as a last straw for our salvation we are going to invest in some flying machines so that we can get to Bandon or Marshfield quicker than the boats or trains can haul us. Everyone of us has a tongue just as long if not longer than our cheerless phytogs.

The beautiful musical opera "Queen Esther" was rendered to large and appreciative audiences in this town Friday and Saturday evenings. Everybody was well pleased with it, and there is some talk, I hear, of their repeating it in Bandon before long.

The matrimonial bark about which I told you last week is going to sail for sure this evening, and I certainly wish my friends, Geo. Baxter and Miss Grace Skeels, every happiness that a kind Providence can bestow. They are numbered with our very best young people, and certainly George should make as good a Sentinel for the lady of his choice as he does a Sentinel for the town of Coquille. That's saying much.

LEANDER.

Decides Against Saloons.

A dispatch from Salem under date of Oct. 19th says: That cities have no power to enact charters that conflict with the local option law was the decision rendered today by Circuit Judge George H. Burnett in the Coquille saloon case, which he tried in Coos County some time ago. This is a sweeping defeat for the saloons, for if the decision is affirmed by the Supreme Court it will destroy the last hope of the liquor interest to circumvent the local option law.

The Coquille case was brought for the purpose of testing the law, and it has been understood from the beginning that the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court. In a dozen towns in the counties that went "dry" last June the saloonmen stand ready to have new charters adopted if charter provisions are held superior to the state law. According to Judge Burnett's decision such a move will be of no avail.

Judge Burnett tried this case for Judge Hamilton while Judge Hamilton sat in Judge Burnett's court in Yamhill County. The facts are that a local option election was held in Coos County, and West Coquille Precinct, in which the town of Coquille is situated, voted "dry." At a subsequent election the people adopted a constitutional amendment which authorizes the people of a city to adopt or amend their own charters, "subject to the constitutional and criminal laws of the State." The town of Coquille proceeded under this section and adopted a charter which authorized it to license the sale of liquor.

Immediately after the election a license was issued to George E. Baxter, under which he sold liquor in Coquille. He was arrested, convicted and fined $50. He took a writ of review to the Circuit Court, and the case was argued at great length before Judge Burnett. The case was taken under advisement, and today Judge Burnett mailed his decision to Coos County to be filed and recorded.

Judge Burnett wrote no opinion in the case, but from the issues it is apparent that he must have decided the following points: That the local option law is constitutional; that the local option law is a criminal law, since it defines an offense which is punishable by indictment and fine; that the people of a city located in a precinct which has gone "dry" cannot therefore adopt a charter which will suspend the operation of the local option law.

Roy Royer was up from Prosper last week, where he is engaged in fishing. He reports that the salmon run this year is extra good. Last year their average catch was about 75 fish, while this year the average is about 125 a night. The run is steady this year, while last year it was spasmodic.—Enterprise.
