Siskiyou Forest Reserve.

A dispatch from Salem of recent date says: A proclamation creating the Siskiyou forest reserve, comprising about one-half of Josephine county and two or three townships of Douglas county, was received today by Governor Chamberlain from President Roosevelt. This is the reserve concerning which a strong protest was made a year or two ago by residents of Curry county. As originally planned, the reserve included about three-fifths of Curry county, but the protests were so strong and persistent that the lines of the temporary with drawal were changed, and in creating the reserve no Curry county lands were included.

The reserve covers over 700,000 acres, or about 31 townships, reaching from the California line to the Southern part of Douglas county, taking in nearly all the western half of Josephine county.

The State is affected by the creation of this reserve by reason of the fact that within its borders are about 30,000 acres of unsold school lands, which the State can use as base for the selection of lien land, thereby realizing about $6 to $7 an acre for the land.

Whether the creation of this reserve will also open the way for more "scripping" is not known here in official circles. The Oregon & California Railroad Company has a large amount of grant lands inside the reserve, but the impression has been general that the repeal of the lien land act put a stop to the creation of new "scrip." A recent publication from the Department of Interior touches on the subject in such an ambiguous way as to leave doubt.

The Governor has also received notice of the creation of the Fremont Forest Reserve in Eastern Oregon. This reserve is situated in Crook and Klamath Counties, extending from a point about 12 miles south of Klamath Indian Reservation. This reserve comprises the greater part of 72 townships, extending in irregular form from the Cascade Reserve easterly to range 17, and north and south from township 19 to 33.

The first services at the Methodist Church with the new pastor, Rev. Geo. W. Ellis, for this conference year were held last Saturday evening and Sunday morning. Owing to the Quarterly Conference convening in Coquille, Mr. Ellis was not present Sunday evening. The largest congregation that has met in this church for some time greeted the pastor. Much interest was manifested, and the members much encouraged. Tuesday evening Dr. M. C. Wire, Presiding Elder of this district, preached to a good congregation. An after meeting was held, and several persons were deeply interested in a personal religious life. The pastor and congregation feel very much encouraged in the work for the coming year, and hope to do a great deal. We acknowledge a pleasant call from Rev. Ellis who is an old-time preacher and a former commercial traveler as well.

Prof. E. B. Kausrud, the new leader of the Bandon Concert Band, arrived per steamer Elizabeth Monday from his late home in Rice Lake, Wisconsin. The professor has already proven to the boys that he is just as represented—an all round thorough musician—and he appears to be a jovial and affable young gentleman besides. His family will join him a little later.

Notes from Four Mile.

A very pleasant dance took place at the residence of J A Shields Saturday evening. Quite a few Bandon people were present, and all went off happy with the promise to return again.

The new sawmill at the McKenna place is coming right out to the front. A Davis expects to have it grinding out lumber at a lively rate in a short time. Mrs. Flora Davis moved up last Sunday to take charge of the cook house at the new mill.

Fred Miller was called home last Sunday by the severe illness of one of his children, but at last reports the child was on the mend.

TH Shaw, in returning from the postoffice at Four-mile the other day, came in contact with a badly scared deer. The animal ran all around and over Mr Shaw, but, with the creek and brush at his command, he finally managed to get his knife out. But the knife, Mr Shaw said, had not seen a grindstone for many a day, though it was all the weapon he had, so with a great effort and all of his main strength he succeeded in killing the frightened antler. Mr Shaw says although he is past seventy he can still wrestle a deer as good as some of the boys.

The roads are drying up again considerably down this way.

New Lake is having quite a run of fish this season. The Pomroy and Guerin boys are handling a seine in those waters.

Captain Henry A. Bottger, an old-time skipper on this run, is again sailing between San Francisco and the Coquille river. The captain purchased the old schooner Coquille a few weeks ago, secured a crew and headed at once for the scenes of former days. He went out Sunday with his second load of lumber in the hold of the Coquille, and expects to return here in due time. Capt. Bottger tells us that it has been eighteen years since last he saw this port, and he now notes a change that his eyes can scarcely believe. He has a grown up family living in Oakland where he owns some property and is comfortable. He retired from the sea for a few years because of advancing age, but finally drifted back to his old calling. The captain suffered some financial loss by the San Francisco disaster.

The Order of Washington is an insurance as well as a fraternal organization. The Insurance Commissioners of Idaho and Washington investigated the society at its own request, and gave it a most flattering testimonial, setting forth that, despite the San Francisco calamity, the society is in the best shape possible to carry out all of its contracts. P. J. S. McManama, special supervising deputy, is now in Bandon in the interest of the order, and is meeting with every encouragement to institute a branch here. He holds the best recommendations for his society. The affairs of the society are carefully and conservatively handled, being conducted with the least expense and in the interest of the policy holders at ways.

Mr. Greek of Roseburg has just returned from his annual pilgrimage to Bandon with his wheelbarrow. For a distance of about a hundred miles Mr. Greek trundles his wheelbarrow from the valley to the coast, and enjoys his outing as thoroughly as the man with the automobile. On the wheelbarrow he packs his tent, bedding and provisions, camping at night and lurching at meal time enroute. Mr. Greek eats but two meals a day and they consist of raw rolled wheat and milk. Though about 50 years of age he is remarkably vigorous, and hopes to enjoy the trip over the scenic road between Roseburg and Bandon for many years to come.—Enterprise

The following kind words from our able contemporary, the Coquille Sentinel, are duly appreciated: "The Bandon Recorder has started out with new vigor to advocate the best measures possible to be adopted for the rapid growth of its town and country. The editor is wide awake, and the good people of the seaside city should give the Recorder the support it justly deserves."

Move for Organization.

Our fellow townsman, T. B. Wheeler, was one of the few Bandonians who managed to reach the joint Chamber of Commerce meeting and banquet at Coquille Monday evening. The gentleman, we hear, made a stirring address at the festive board in advocacy of united action by this valley for the valley's interests, and he was heartily and genuinely applauded. Mr. Wheeler feels a keen interest in the Coquille Valley, and he left here last Monday at noon that he might be certain of reaching the enthusiastic gathering. It was the sense of the meeting that the Chambers of Coquille, Bandon and Myrtle Point join hands for the securing of needed improvements to the river and bar, and for working up a company to build a steamer to run between Bandon and Portland. A resolution was adopted asking each of the three Chambers to appoint a committee of two for conference as to the best ways and means of securing organization and effective work. The Chambers are to report the identity of their committees to the secretary of the organization at Coquille.

The members of our Grand Army Post request the announcement to be made by the Recorder that they will give a grand masquerade ball at Bank Hall on the Saturday night preceding Christmas. The usual prizes will be awarded, and it is unnecessary to add that the affair will be an event of the season. Full particulars will appear on posters at the proper time.

C. B. Holloway, who has been working as fireman on the steamer Dispatch for some time, resigned yesterday and will go up the river to take employment at telephone construction.

Frank Layton and E. Gundlefinger, two popular men of the river, were again interviewing friends and customers here since our last.

Dr. D. L. Steele, Dentist, has returned from his trip down the coast. Can be found at his office every day from now on.
