Jeff L. Crosby is at home suffering from cuts and bruises. Mr. Crosby was driving a four horse team that was being used in breaking a log jam on Elk creek. The creek made a curve at the place, and, in prosecuting the work, a log was hooked onto that came up dead against a rock. Before the horses could be stopped the leaders had thrown the wheelers into a slide. The driver was riding one of the animals, and he went over first and had time to roll out of the way before the horses fell or he should certainly have been crushed to death. The fall knocked Mr. Crosby senseless without depriving him of the power of moving, and he crawled out over the jam to the other side of the creek instead of coming back the shortest way. He was assisted out of his predicament—Enterprise.

Attorney George P. Topping is at work drafting a new municipal charter for Bandon, and intends having it ready for presentation to the Legislature when that body meets Jan. 14th. The instrument will be forwarded to our Representative, and will likely be ratified without delay, thus giving our town a new and up-to-date charter—one that is indeed badly wanted and should have been had before this. Mr. Topping considers it best to not act under the constitutional amendment adopted last June which purported to give cities and towns the power to amend their charters without the sanction of the Legislature.

The Southern Pacific has asked the North Bend council for twenty acres of valuable waterfront property for terminal grounds, but the council considers the request beyond its reach. To utilize the site the company must bridge the bay, and this matter has not yet been settled.

T. W. Robison of the Bandon Hardware Co. has a decided taste for window decoration. The other day he improvised a battleship from the wares of his establishment, and it has proven quite an attraction to pedestrians in that quarter of town. Tommy has certainly an artistic hand.

Saturday evening next, Dec. 29th, is the date of the concert and entertainment to be given at the local opera house by the North Bend Concert Band. Without a doubt a great treat is in store for the music loving public of Bandon. A dance will be the concluding feature of the affair.

W. R. Boice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Boice of this place, but for the past ten years a resident of Humboldt Co., Cal., was recently married at Eureka, to a Miss Banister. Mr. Boice is quite well known in this section, having lived in Curry county for a number of years.

Everett Hatcher was among the Christmas sojourners in Bandon. He tells us that Johnson's mill, in which he is employed, has completed its 11-hour rush run. The mill had hard work keeping pace with orders.

"Queen Esther" May Come.

The people of Bandon will be pleased to learn that arrangements are under way for putting on the beautiful musical opera "Queen Esther" in this place about the first week in February. Such is rendered probable through the efforts of Mr. C. R. Wade who opened correspondence about the matter with Prof. M. E. Robinson, who managed the production of the play both at Marshfield and Coquille not many weeks ago. Queen Esther is an opera that delightfully entertains, and requires quite a company of local talent in its successful presentation. Bandon has a quantity of such talent, and Prof. Robinson understands the play in its every phase.

We hope to give our readers further information on the subject next week or the week after.

To Increase School Levy.

Among the changes which will be proposed to the State school laws at the coming session of the Legislature, for which bills have been prepared in the office of State Superintendent Ackerman, is one proposed to amend section 3374 of the code providing for an increase of the annual per capita levy upon all children between the ages of four and twenty years in each district from $6 to $8.

This section, as it now appears upon the statutes, calls for a per capita levy of $8, but the Legislature, in passing upon the bill, cut the amount down to $6, but the change was overlooked in the drafting of the code. It is now proposed to insert the original amount asked for, as the benefits derived from the levy to the State school system have only been limited by the amount of revenue raised from this source.

F. Freund, owner of the Langlois oil well, and his foreman, Jack Tauze, were up to Bandon yesterday after supplies, Mr. Freund going on to Coquille in the afternoon. They report work going actively ahead at the well with indications flattering for striking oil in copious quantities.

Three public Christmas trees were held in Bandon this year—one at the Methodist and another at the Presbyterian church Monday evening, and one by the Latter Day Saints Tuesday evening. At all these the usual interesting exercises were carried out.

Joe Coach reports that while prospecting for coal on Lampa creek a couple of weeks ago he unearthed a human skeleton that had evidently been buried for many a year as portions of it crumbled just as soon as exposed to the air.

The Mask Ball.

The masquerade ball given by our soldier veterans at Bank Hall last Saturday evening was an event to be remembered in the social history of Bandon. Particularly is this true because of the monster attendance, for, while a rousing success financially, there were a few shortcomings in the general details that will be noted and corrected next year. By this we especially refer to the failure to take the names and identity of costumes at the door, and to a better manner of distributing the prizes according to rotation.

But we are not going to say that the soldiers did their best to provide all with an excellent time. People came from all points on the river, and the town was crowded, the ball packed. About 180 tickets were sold and there were near 170 maskers, many grotesque make ups and several quite pretty. The floor was under the aegis of James T. Mars and James K. Scott, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Captain C. P. Jensen, Joseph McKenna and Steve W. Scotton decided the prize-winners of the evening. The two first prizes were secured by Miss Mand Garfield and H. C. Culver, respectively. The music furnished by the Seaside Orchestra, under the leadership of Prof. Kansrud, was as usual par excellence.

Sixteen prizes were generously donated by our business men, a list of which, with the donors, will be published next week.

Jerry L. Lingo and Miss Calista Garroutte were joined in marriage last Saturday evening by Rev. Wm. Horsfall, the ceremony taking place at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. G. Hoyt, in the presence of relatives and a few others. Jerry and his bride have gone to housekeeping in the Hartman dwelling, and begin their wedded career with the best wishes of many friends.

The new wharf for the Cody Lumber Co. will be all completed, it is expected, by tomorrow or Saturday, and then will begin the construction of the mill foundation. For this there must be almost a solid mass of piles driven, but with a first class driver and an efficient crew the work will be greatly expedited. The force has proven very capable, and did a good job on the wharf.

To Protect Frogs.

Owing to the great demand for frogs and their consequent increasing destruction, a bill has been prepared and will be immediately presented to the Legislature to prevent their total extermination. The bill provides for an annual close season during spawning time, and enacts penalties to prevent the destruction of the spawn.

At present there is no statutory check on the destruction of frogs, and the Fish and Game Protective Association who are moving on the matter, are demanding that it be made unlawful to kill frogs during certain months of the year.

Judge Hamilton refused the receivership that had been requested by J. H. Diers in the case of the Coos Bay Harbor at North Bend, but granted an injunction restraining the defendants, Messrs Sain & Keith, from selling the plant, and appointed Mrs. McLeod referee to take evidence to prove Diers' ownership in the plant. The action of the court will not interfere with the publication of the Harbor.

"Recorder's" Voting Contest.

The people of this section of Coos should not forget that the RECORDER is going to give away a $50 sewing machine and a $40 bedroom set the first of next February. It is a voting contest. The contest is already under way, and the names of the ladies voted for to date are as follows:

Thought Someone Snored.

"Who in the name of Christendom is it that snores so much and all day at that?" enquired a gentleman—a stranger among us—of the writer yesterday morning. Not understanding at first what he referred to we unwittingly said:

"Don't know, unless it is Bedillion, or 'Fat' Lorenz, or Walter Nelson. It might possibly be Jack Hoover, as he is up nights, but if Hark Dunham was in town I'd wager a V it was him."

"Well, the snores come from the woolen mill quarter, and it might possibly be Mr. Bedillion," remarked the gentleman very earnestly.

Then we "tumbled."

"Oh, that's Cody's piledriver," our friend was told, and a hearty laugh followed.

The piledriver in question does belch forth some gruesome noises that could readily be mistaken for slumbering lung power, and if the driver worked at night as well as by day we would all have the nightmare for certain. But then it is hitting good beds for our future prosperity, and we can endure its snores with good grace.

NOTE.—If the party who took my overcoat from Garroutte's stable some time ago will return it to the barn at once no questions will be asked, but if he fails to do so I shall be forced to make trouble for him.
