Howard Ballard, alias J. Ryder, was brought over from Marshfield last Saturday and placed in jail in this city charged with robbery.

Miss Edna Lorenz left Monday, via Marshfield, for San Francisco, from where she goes to Redding for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Sam Norton.

Mr. Geo. Robison and Miss Mary N. Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lamb, were married at the home of the bride's parents at Fish-trap on last Wednesday evening at 7:30, Rev. Branham officiating.

The 4000 feet of cable which was lost overboard from the steamer Dispatch one day last week was raised last Sunday. The cable was under the city wharf and was raised with the aid of a donkey engine and several men after four or five days' work. It was valued at over $700 and would have been quite a loss to the steamboat company had they been unable to get it up.

The mill in this city started up Wednesday morning, after an illness of two or three days, which were required to do some repairing. Notwithstanding the recent drop in the price of lumber all mills on the river are running at their utmost capacity, which means much to this section of the country. Johnson's mill is running day and night, and we are informed others would be doing likewise if the help necessary for the night shift could be secured.

The steam schooner Sequoia was ashore just outside Humboldt bar a few days ago, and it was expected she would be a total loss. She was crossing in at night, and the captain mistook the south jetty for the north jetty, resulting in the vessel going ashore on the south spit. She was pounding heavily in the breakers when the Kilburn crossed out enroute to Coos bay. The Sequoia was built at Fort Bragg in 1898.

Some of the crew of the steamer Kilburn got into trouble at Eureka, as the following from a Eureka paper has a tendency to prove: Andrew Eugene Beck, winch driver on the steamer F. A. Kilburn, and Burton Wilson Merriam, boatswain, charged with threatening offense upon the person of Vincent Rutledge when the Kilburn was last here, were taken into custody by Constable Redmond this morning and brought before Justice of the Peace J. W. Ryan. In view of the fact that the men were needed aboard the craft, and in that the vessel had to go to sea in the afternoon, the agents put up $100 cash bail and the men were released.

Recommends $60,000.

It was announced that Congress would pass the appropriation bill last Monday, but as to the provisions of the bill, if passed, with respect to this river and harbor we had no advice up to our press hour today. Very likely this fact is attributable to the prevailing storm and prostrated wires. The following very pleasing news was contained in a telegram to the Oregonian of Jan. 23d:

The local engineers recommended an appropriation of $60,000 for the Coquille River, but the War Department cut this to $40,000. The committee finally consented to give the larger amount, as that will complete the existing project. In addition to the appropriations, the committee authorizes surveys with a view to formulating new projects for deeper channels at the entrance to Coos Bay, and for further improvement of the Coquille River.

Charles Maconsby, alias Charles Underwood, erstwhile bedmaker and passer of worthless checks, accompanied Officer Harry Stone, of North Bend, to Coquille from Marshfield Monday morning, where he will make a visit, the length of which will be decided at the spring term of the Circuit Court. Pending the decision Maconsby will abide in the county jail. Too much whiskey is the excuse given by him. The fellow stole a bank book and wrote out a spurious check for $105 on a bank at North Bend.

Card of Thanks.

To all the dear friends who by word or act extended us so much aid and sympathy during the last illness and death of wife and mother we return our warmest heartfelt gratitude. Such kindness, we avow, shall have enduring remembrance with us.

Russell A. Alger, millionaire lumberman, statesman and former Secretary of War, has gone to his reward. A dispatch from Washington, dated Jan. 28th, says: A special train of six cars, bearing the body of the late Senator Alger, left here this afternoon, and it is scheduled to reach Detroit tomorrow. Mrs. Alger and her five children and other relatives were accompanied by representatives of the Senate and House and several Congressmen. President Roosevelt and other high officials of the nation and scores of prominent diplomats attended the funeral ceremonies at the Alger home this afternoon.

Sheriff Gage advertises that on Feb. 23rd he will sell at public auction in Coquille all property in Coos county on which taxes are delinquent for the year 1905.

Attorney Chas. McKnight of Marshfield has recovered from a very severe illness during which he submitted to a surgical operation.

Mrs. Russell Buried.

The funeral of the late Mary Russell, who died at Parkersburg eight days ago, was held in Bandon on Monday, at the Methodist church last Friday, Rev. G. W. Ellis officiating. The services were largely attended and very pathetic.

Mary Jane Russell was born at Gualala, Mendocino county, Cal., in January, 1877, and moved to Marshfield with her parents when yet quite small. She was married to one J. A. Russel at Parkersburg in 1892. Five children were the result of this union, the oldest, Edna, being 14 years of age. Deceased had suffered from tuberculosis for about one year, and died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Anthony McCue, in Parkersburg. Besides the children—two girls and three boys—she leaves a mother, Mrs. J. E. Blake of Arlington, Wash., a brother, Wm. Hamby, of Edmond, Wash., and five sisters, Mrs. John McCue and Mrs. Anthony McCue, both of Parkersburg; Leanna, Ruby and Pearl Hamby, all of Arlington, Wash. Mrs. Russell lived in Washington State from 1904 until two months ago. She was the second daughter of the late H. Hamby, and was a kind-hearted woman—an indulgent mother.

W. E. McDuffey Dies.

W. E. McDuffey, veteran of the Civil War, and an old and highly respected resident of Coquille, has gone to join the silent majority. He passed away at the county seat Monday night at the ripe age of 77 years. Deceased was a native of Indiana, and had lived in this county for 20 years. His wife died at Coquille 19 years ago. He leaves two sons, Ethan and Bert McDuffey and a daughter, Mrs. Harvey James, to mourn his demise.

Mr. McDuffey was a quiet but affable old gentleman, and we believe had not an enemy in the world. He had held public office for 11 years in Iowa before coming to Oregon, and was a Justice of the Peace once at Coquille. A number of years ago he lived for a short time in the vicinity of Bandon.

Death Relieves Her Suffering.

Mrs. M. Gallier Answers the Final Summons Saturday Night.

Weeks of bitter patient suffering were brought to a close Saturday night when Mrs. Matilda Gallier, wife and mother, drooped her eyes in the last long sleep. The end was peaceful—so peaceful that even the watchers noted it not—and the spirit of her who had exulted in the happiness of her loved ones was released as a merciful close to indescribable pain. For weeks the candle had flickered, and it was only a sorrow, not a surprise, when the word went forth Sunday morning that it had finally extinguished at about 12:30 a. m.

Mrs. Gallier was a victim of pneumonia and heart trouble. Possessed of remarkable vitality, though weighted with years, she bore her illness with wonderful endurance, and it is truly astonishing that the Destroyer was resisted as he was. All that was possible from loving hands and medical science was invoked in her behalf, and to those who mourn there is comfort that chance remained for parting kiss and tender farewell ere the soul of wife and mother took flight.

There is a particular sadness attached to the passing of this lady. Only a few weeks ago, as the Christmas tide was approaching, she and her aged husband returned from a tour of the East, and fondly they watched as their sons made ready for the observance of their golden wedding anniversary. That event was to occur on Dec. 16th. The plans were fairly inaugurated and all was joyous expectation when sickness—the last it was destined to be—laid claim upon the venerable lady. Cruel that Providence could not have stayed his hand for a brief period at least, and allowed a happy function to replace one of sorrow. Fifty long years marked the wedded career of this respected couple, and the end of that span finds the twin asundered by eternal decree, the sorrowing husband bowed low with his grief and rendered alarmingly ill as a consequence.

Matilda M. Houstis was born in New York City, Aug. 24, 1830, and died Jan. 27, 1907, aged 76 years, 5 months and 2 days. She was married to William Gallier Dec. 16, 1856, at Yorkville, Kendall County, Illinois. In 1871 she and her husband emigrated to the Pacific Coast, finally locating in Coos county two years later. Three children were born of the union—Stephen and Edward Gallier, now residents of Bandon, and a daughter who died in infancy.

The funeral occurred Monday at 11 o'clock a. m., and despite the severe weather there was a large attendance, many coming on the morning boat from up-river points to pay a last tribute of respect to the departed. The services took place at St. John's Episcopal Church, and Rector Horsfall delivered a touching sermon. There was also beautiful music by a choir, and honorary as well as active pallbearers. At the grave in Bandon Cemetery the service was short because of the descending rain—only a prayer and a hymn, and the clouds closed about all that was mortal of a good wife and mother.

A. Lee of Myrtle Point was in town last Friday.
