Record Breaker.

During his first term Governor Chamberlain vetoed 29 bills. The total number of measures returned with his disapproval at the last session was 27. Neither Governor Moody nor Governor Lord vetoed any bills, while Governor Penneyer, during his eight years' term, returned a total of 20 measures with his veto Governor Geer vetoed three bills.

Principal among the bills returned with the disapproval of Governor Chamberlain was that making appropriation for the Mouth and Drain normal schools jointly. A question had been raised as to the constitutionality of this measure at the time of its passage. This fact coupled with the generally known attitude of the governor respecting appropriations for normal schools, made it reasonably certain that the amended bill of Senator Langhary would come under the veto ax.

Another important bill that was vetoed by the governor was that of Senator Johnson proposing state aid for the construction of roads throughout the state, an annual appropriation being made available therefor by direct tax on the assessable property of the state and amounting to about $200,000.

Fashion Chatter.

The month of March brings with it the Eastertide, and while it is a little early this year, nevertheless it will bring about the change of dress which is something vastly different from the winter styles.

It is safe to tell you that the voiles take precedence over almost every other material on the market. The material is light in weight, and being so perfectly adaptable for the present modes, it will be seen in the very smartest gowns. Voile is not a new material at all, but there are many new weaves, and the splendid colors are more numerous than at any past season.

Chief among the voile suits is the surplice gown. One of the handsomest patterns of this kind has a long sweeping skirt of gray voile trimmed with two five-inch bands of black velvet around the bottom. The surplice blouse is edged with narrow black velvet on the waist and short flowing sleeves. The sleeves have a deep insertion of green applique and are lined with the same color of silk, which is the shade of apple green. The guimpe effect of allover lace is finished off with the green and black and is very attractive.—Woman's World.

Coquille Notes.

From the Sentinel.

The Johnson mill above town has been getting out the timbers and lumber for the new Lyons & Johnson mill near Bandon. The same is rafted down to its destination, and is now about all gotten out.

C. B. Zeek, of Bandon passed through town Tuesday on his return from San Francisco. Mr. Zeek was the projector of the new wharf at the seaside city, now under construction by Col. Rosa for James E. Walstrom.

George Leneve was circulating a petition in town yesterday asking the county court to call an election the first week in June throughout the county for the purpose of voting "wet" or "dry." Saloon and anti-saloon men were alike signing the petition.

It is reported that the Jefferson, formerly on the run between Seattle and Alaska points, will replace the Kilburn on the Coos bay run. The Jefferson is a large and first class vessel and has lots of speed, as she is claimed to make 21 knots per hour.

The Aasen brothers who lately bought the logging plant from Geo. Pike three miles below us, have had a force at work this week putting the logs of this camp into the river. Meanwhile logging is going ahead at the Aasen's old camp east of town.

Tax collector Gage reports tax money coming in at a wonderful rate, the payments on Tuesday alone reaching almost $30,000. About 90 per cent of the county property owners are settling in a single payment to reap the benefit of the 3 per cent rebate afforded.

George Moulton was able to navigate about town with the aid of crutches this week. His foot which was injured by a fall in the skating rink, is badly swollen, and he cannot wear a slipper as yet. George refuses to pass even the vicinity of the rink in his perambulations.

H. B. Stewart of Myrtle Point, has shipped 10,000 strawberry plants to Silverdale, Washington. This is the first shipment of Coos county strawberry plants to find a market out of the state. This county should be a good county for a nursery on account of the rich soil and equitable climate.

An attempted burglary is reported to have been made in this city Wednesday night. The scene of the attempt was a small dwelling in the vicinity of the school house in which two of our young lady teachers make their residence. At about midnight one of the ladies awoke to find a man standing at the foot of the bed. She spoke to her companion and the man fled from the room. The got up and lighted the lamp and discovered the stranger peering in at the window. He disappeared shortly afterward, unidentified and taking nothing from the house. It was a bad scare for the defenseless occupants of the dwelling.

Port Orford Notes.

From the Tribune.

The Axtell case for violating the game law was tried by Jury before Justice J. P. Russell last Wednesday, and resulted in acquittal. There are said to be irregularities in the proceedings that may result in an overhauling by the Circuit Court.

Hon. R. D. Hume accompanied by Mr. Thresher, wife and child, arrived in town Monday night, enroute to Wedderburn. We understand that he is bitter against the late House and Speaker Davey, but he says that there were some sensible fellows in the Senate.

The schooner Bessie K., which sailed from the Coquille river February 24th, and capsized outside in consequence of too much deck load of lumber, drowning all on board, is now in plain sight near Island Rock a few miles South of Port Orford. As she has not shifted her position since Monday it is evident her anchor or anchor chains have caught on a rocky reef which exists there. Mr. Hume's tug is expected here today from Rogue river, and will tow the wreck to this place where it is believed she can be unloaded and righted.

Charles Jamieson, Superintendent of the Big Jewel mine on Sixes, was in town Monday, and informed us that he will start with his family for Brainard, Minn., via Coos bay today, where he will present the condition of the mine before the stockholders, and insist upon the use of centrifugal pumps in lieu of their expensive but unsatisfactory ditch. If they do not adopt his views he may never come back but will go into business in Minnesota. There is no question as to the richness of their gravel, and the breakdown in their ditch just when they had got into rich ground, and their mine well opened, was a calamity. We never had faith in the adequacy of their water supply, which lacked both in constancy and pressure, both essential in heavy gravel deposits; but we know their mines are rich, and if centrifugal pumps will do all that is claimed for them, there is no place more fitted for their use than the high extensive bars on lower Sixes river, so near and easy of access.
