The W. P. Fuller Prepared Paints and Varnishes for sale by C. Y. Lowe.

When you are in Bandon stop at the Pacific Restaurant and Grill Rooms.

The New Bandon Market is now open and ready to supply Bandon buyers.

Where do you get your feed and groceries? We can save you money. A. J. Hartman.

T. B. Wheeler will return from Marshfield tonight where he has been on business for the past few days.

How would you like to be the ice man? The Bandon Market. Tell us when you want good dry wood.

Did you know that you can get ten views of Bandon and vicinity at A. Rice's for fifteen cents?

The Skating Rink will be open Friday and Saturday evenings, and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Just arrived, a big stock of men and women's shoes. All the latest styles, all new stock, Lorenz & Hoyt.

3 acres, all improved, center of town. House, well and outhouses for $3,000. You can't beat it—E. OAKES.

J. T. Mars has put up a tent to serve ice cream for the accommodation of the public next to his confectionary store.

Special Sale on Millinery. Regular $2.25 Java Hats, the latest styles out. Friday and Saturday only, $1.75, at Miss Garfield's.

C. B. Zeek returned yesterday from Coquille where he has been having court business. He expects his wife back in a few weeks.

The Bandon Hardware Company has just received a new lot of the famous White Mountain Ice Cream Freezers. It has the triple motion and is the best of the best. See them opposite the Post Office.

A. Rice left Sunday for Roseburg where he will attend the Woodmen of the World Convention to be held at that place. Later he will visit with his parents at Rice Hill, Ore., and expects to be absent about two weeks.

The editor is not a mind reader and if you have an item of interest, he would be pleased to have you tell him. There are a great many items that he couldn't get in any other way, and does not wish to slight any one.

Mrs. W. D. Marshall and children left yesterday for Camas Valley and Portland for a visit with friends and relatives. They will be absent for some time and consequently W. D. is taking special lessons in the culinary art.

Most of the machinery on the ill-fated barge Chinook has been removed and they are taking it through the woods to where it can be transported. In taking the last winch off the cable broke and the machine fell a distance of 75 feet, completely demolishing it. It was valued at $1800. They have saved two winches and the boilers and the rigging.

The stmr Elizabeth arrived Tuesday morning after being out since last Thursday. She had 240 tons of merchandise for Bandon and Coquille River, and a lot of Mill machinery. The following were passengers: Miss Mary Lewis, J. Scott, and H. Dunham. The cause of the extremely long trip was the severe north winds which have prevailed the past week.

Announcements are out of the marriage of Miss Gwyneth Rudolph to John H. Tyler. The bride was visiting in Bandon the past winter and has many friends here. The groom is a young optician now engaged in business at Eureka, but formerly of Denmark. The marriage took place at the home of the bride in Hydesville, Cal. The Recorder joins their many friends and well wishers here in wishing them a happy and prosperous future.

Miss Cordelia Alice Porter and Grafton Tyler were married last Saturday at high noon at the home of the bride's guardian, Mrs. George M. Dyer, at Bandon, Oregon. The bride is prominent in social circles of Bandon. The groom is connected with the Bandon Woolen Mills and was formerly from Cincinnati, O., where his mother and sisters reside. The young couple were absent on a short wedding tour and will be at home after May 1.—Oregonian.

The S and W canned goods at A. J. Hartman's.

Atty C. R. Barrow of Coquille is in town today on business.

Boys, take her to the tent ice cream parlors and treat to ice cream.

Chris Rasmussen is giving his new residence the finishing coat of paint.

Don't buy a lot out of town, I have them just as cheap in town—E. OAKES.

All cream, ice cream, at the tent ice cream parlor opposite Mars' confectionary store.

The Bandon Drug Co. have just received a new display rack of which they are very proud.

The Skating Rink will be open Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Capt. Korth will accompany the captain on this trip of the Ruby to San Francisco.

Ladies' and Children's Hats. The very latest styles and the most up-to-date on the market, at reasonable prices. A. J. Hartman.

Died—At his home in Bandon, May 4th, Charles Taylor, formerly of Humboldt Co., Cal. Mr. Taylor's death was not entirely unexpected, as he had returned from Mexico but a short time ago, where he had gone for the benefit of his health. Besides his wife he leaves several children to mourn his death. The funeral took place Monday afternoon, and was very largely attended.

The Skating Rink will be open Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Ladies' Underwear, Ready made Skirts and Waists, at A. J. Hartman's.

The New Store.

The R. H. Rosa Company, Inc., will be open for business the first of next week. They will open up with a fine new $7000 stock of Groceries, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions and Ladies' and Gent's Furnishings; in fact, a full line of general merchandise. The members of the company are well known to the people of Bandon and the vicinity, and a share of their patronage is solicited. A special effort has been made in the selection of this stock to secure goods that we can not only guarantee, but that we are sure will give the best of satisfaction. Drop in and let us show you what we have. It is a pleasure for us to display our stock, and our desire to cater to our customers.

JAS. MAST, Manager.

Frank Whitney, Jr.

Frank Whitney, Jr. died at the home of his parents in this city last Friday of spasmodic asthma. He had been ill for the past few weeks with the grip, but died very suddenly. He was twenty years of age and has lived in Bandon the past four years. He leaves a father and mother and brothers and sisters to mourn his loss. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon. He was well known and very popular among his friends.

Notes From Four-mile.

Mrs. Luke of Coquille has been visiting her son John Luke of Four-mile.

Mrs. Bert Walker took a trip to Bandon last Monday.

Several people attended the funeral of Charles Taylor, at Bandon last Monday.

A party of sports were down from Bandon for a time, the latter part of last week, and from the amount of shooting along the county road, and the looks of several mail boxes, they were sure having it. We sometimes wonder if there is any law to protect people along the road, or their property from such crowds as travel along during the summer months. Several of the bullets were just the right height to have hit anyone in the head had they happened to have been in range. Boys you better be careful you are all well known. Such sport might cause trouble.

One of Four-mile's young dairymen was returning from a buggy ride, when he happened on a fair damsel. Of course he invited her to jump in and ride as it was on her way home she consented. Well about that time one of the colts he was driving became frightened and put forth a race horse speed, and of course the lady became frightened and jumped out of the rig. Well, nothing serious happened but the young man vows he will never ask a lady to ride with him again, at least until he gets his colts well broke.

Several have their telephone boxes

all ready to talk to Bandon as soon as the line is in shape.

We notice one of Bandon's popular men has gone down the coast into Curry county to trade horses, wonder why?

Steamboat to Portland.

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was called last evening to consider the proposition made by business men of Portland in reference to a steamboat to run from the Coquille River to Portland. A good gathering was present and the proposition was received favorably. The Portland people will fit a vessel built by Coquille River people if they will furnish a hull suitable for this bar.

They want a wooden vessel, 300 ton, 150 feet long by 35 feet beam and 10 feet depth, to cost approximately $75,000. The Portland people will fit her with 500 horse power engines, and otherwise equipped for service.

Wm Bingham is enthusiastic in the matter, and at the meeting G. H. Smith was given power to solicit stock in the enterprise.

Resolution.

Hall of Bandon Lodge, No. 133, I. O. O. F.

Bandon, Oregon, May 8, 1907. WHEREAS it has pleased the Supreme Ruler of the Universe to remove from this life our worthy Bro., B. E. Tupper, therefore be it resolved;

That while we bow in submission to the Divine decree, we deeply mourn his loss and extend to his relatives our sympathy in their bereavement.

That in the death of Bro. Tupper this Lodge has lost a worthy member, the community a good citizen, and his wife and family a loving husband and father.

That a copy of these Resolutions be spread on the minutes of this Lodge, that another be sent to his family, and that they be published in the Bandon Recorder and the Coquille Sentinel. Signed,

L. J. Radley,
A. G. Hoyt,
Phil W. Pearson.

J. T. Mars has erected a tent opposite his Confectionary store in which he will serve ice cream during the summer.

Fire at Coquille.

Myrtle Point, Coquille, Bandon and intervening towns are confronted by an ice famine as the result of the fire which totally destroyed the Davonport & Levene creamery and artificial ice and cold storage plant at Coquille about 3 o'clock Saturday morning. Already the first effects of the shortage are being felt.

The origin of the conflagration, which reduced to ashes and warped iron the eight thousand five hundred dollar establishment, is apparently an impenetrable mystery. An explosion which jarred the whole town and awakened people within a radius of five miles, was the signal that brought out willing citizens, who found themselves powerless to stay the progress of the flames.

S. M. Nosler, manager of the Coquille Steam Laundry, was one of the first to hear the explosion. Mr. Nosler lives in the second floor of the building which houses the laundry, which is but a few hundred feet from the creamery. He was awakened by the explosion about 3 o'clock, and the lurid reflection from the flames aroused him to a full realization of impending danger. He sprang out of bed and rushed to the fire station, but some one had anticipated him, and no sooner had he gained the street than the fire bell sounded.

Though the source of the fire is unknown, it is the supposition that the fire was caused by the intense heat which the ammonia tank, used in the process of making artificial ice, was subjected to. There was no night watchman at the plant, and the fires had been banked the previous night.

At the time of the fire the ice plant was running to full capacity, and an average of one thousand pounds of pasteurized butter were being put out daily.

There was four thousand five hundred dollars insurance on the establishment, making the total loss to the owners four thousand dollars. The building was constructed and equipped in 1903, and shortly after was leased to J. N. Jacobson, who has been in charge since that time. J. W. Levene and J. A. Davenport were the sole owners. Mr. Levene states that the plant paid about twenty-five per cent on the investment in 1903. It has not yet been decided whether to rebuild.

IF WATER NEVER FROZE.

There Would Be Several Startling Changes in the World.

The whole economy of nature would undergo a startling change if water never froze. The world's climates would be revolutionized. The icebound polar seas would cease to exercise their chilling influences, and consequently the currents of the ocean might either cease or be turned aside in different directions.

Thus the gulf stream would seek other shores than those of Britain, and the climate there might be subject to the extremes of heat and cold noticeable in other countries of the same latitude. The icebound rivers of the north, notably those of Russia and Siberia, would be open for navigation, and Russia's activity as a sea power and a commercial nation might alter the whole world of commerce.

Canada would become another country altogether. An immense tract of land would be available for cultivating hardy plants, and Greenland might be what its name indicates. The absence of icebergs off the coast of Newfoundland and Iceland would result in a much warmer climate in those islands, where now the crops often fail.

Ice, too, plays an important part in the economy of nature. Thus, if water never froze, snow, hail and hoarfrost would cease. The loosening of soils and the disintegration of rocks by the frost and many other now vital effects would be lost—in short, the absence of ice would be on the one hand an incalculable disaster, on the other hand a great boon.—London Globe.

THE BOARDING HOUSE.

Advantages of Its Pacific Influence in Married Life.

"Oh, dear, but this boarding house life is simply awful!" said the sweet young thing as she slipped her hot chocolate at a Chestnut street soda counter in company with an elderly fair companion. "I really don't see how you stand it," she continued in the same plaintive voice. "I am sure I shouldn't if I were happily married, as you are. I would have a house of my own, a cozy little place where there would be just myself and husband, serene and happy in our knowledge of each other's love." The older woman's eyes twinkled, albeit there was a somewhat grim look about the corners of her mouth, as she made reply: "My dear, you are very young and have lots to learn. Some unmarried philosophers on married life tell us that the boarding house is a feeder for the divorce courts and that it breeds discord for married people. Don't you believe them. When you have been married to a mere man as long as I have, you will find that the knowledge that your next room neighbor can hear if your voice is raised in anger and will tell your fellow boarders if you are heard to quarrel will have a valuable deterrent effect on not only yourself, but your lord and master as well, and many a cross word will be stifled in birth rather than have your disagreements published to the household."—Philadelphia Record.

Animals in Groups.

The ingenuity of the sportsman is perhaps no better illustrated than by the use he puts the English language to in designating particular groups of animals. The following is a list of the terms which have been applied to the various classes: A covey of partridges, a ride of pheasants, a wisp of snipe, a flight of doves or swallows, a muster of peacocks, a sledge of herons, a building of rooks, a brood of grouse, a stand of plover, a watch of nightingales, a clattering of cloughs, a herd or bunch of cattle, a flock of geese, a bevy of quails, a cast of hawks, a swarm of bees, a school of whales, a shoal of herrings, a herd of swine, a skulk of foxes, a pack of wolves, a drove of oxen, a sounder of hogs, a troop of monkeys, a pride of lions, a sleuth of bears, a gang of elks.

Identified Himself.

"Some people have odd ways of identifying themselves," said a disgusted westerner visiting New York. "The other night a man came up to me in my hotel and claimed old time acquaintance. I saw visions of the confidence game at once and fought shy. How do you think he convinced me? Well, sir, he finally pulled out one of his eyes. Yes, sir, he did. It was a glass eye, of course, but I then realized his peculiar affliction despite a greatly altered appearance. But, do you know, it wasn't a pleasant performance. In fact, I suggested that he ought to carry a duly certified identification card."—New York Globe.

Expensive Modesty.

"What's the matter, old man? You look sad." "I am. I just asked Farnsworth to lend me $5." "And I suppose he said he didn't have that much in the world." "No. He had to get a ten dollar bill changed in order to let me have what I had asked for."

Points of View.

"Beautiful memorial windows," remarked her husband as they left the church.

"I didn't notice particularly," said his wife, "but the light from it fell on the Jones pew, and it made her complexion a fright."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Keenly So.

"Are you interested in the vital issues of the hour?"

"Intensely. Say, can you lend me 50 cents to get some lunch?"—Baltimore American.

Now's the only bird lays eggs o' gold.—Lowell.

Gets Them Mixed.

A young man not a thousand miles from here, says an exchange, went with his sister to a dry goods store. He purchased a pair of gloves for his sweetheart. The sister bought a pair of hose for herself. Of course the clerk got them mixed. The explosion came when the sweetheart opened the package and found therein a pair of long black stockings. She blushed. Then she opened the note and read the following tender lines: "I am sending you a little present. Oh, how I wish that no other hands than mine would ever be permitted to touch them after you put them on. But, alas! a score of fellows may touch them when I am not by your side and other eyes may see them when you are on the street or at parties. I bought the longest pair I could get, and if they are too long you may let them wrinkle down. A great many girls I know wear them at parties. I want to see how they fit when I call Tuesday night. You can clean them easily dear, with benzine, if you leave them on till they dry. I hope they are not too small. Blow in them before you put them on."
