

Forest Reserve.

Washington, May 20—Approximately 91,520 acres of land adjacent to Siskiyou and Ashland national forests in Curry, Josephine and Jackson counties, Oregon, have been released from temporary withdrawal at the request of the Forest Service. Areas which have been released will be subject to settlement on July 23 next, not to entry, filing or selection until August 22, 1907.—Ashland Record.

It Pays.

Four years ago a Yamhill county man invested $60 in sheep. During that period he has slaughtered 18 for mutton, sold $400 worth of mutton and wool, and still has $250 worth of sheep left, or a total of $656.—West Side Enterprise.

To Cure Spinal Meningitis.

To the Editor of the Telegram: Here is a simple remedy that can be tried for the cure of spinal meningitis. Will you please publish it? Make a flaxseed poultice six inches wide and the full length of the spine and apply as hot as possible, renewing fresh ones every four hours. Also rub the back of the neck and between the shoulders with camphorated oil three or four times a day. Use plenty of the oil and rub it in well; it will soften the muscles and keeps the head from drawing backward. Also let the patient drink freely of fresh water, as it will not hurt and will help break the fever. I have used this remedy with success, and feel sure that it will help others. MRS. F. T. SMITH.

Shoots Black Bear.

One of the largest specimens of the black bear was shot by Kenneth Perkins on his ranch on Two-mile the fore part of this week. The carcass was brought to town Wednesday and was viewed by half of the town. The fur of Bruin is in fine condition considering the season, and he was rolling in fat. In consequence of his raid on the sheep pen on Mr. Perkins' ranch, there are many juicy steaks, and bear meat is something not to be sneezed at. It took one shot in the head to do the good work and Bruin tipped the scales something over 500 pounds.

Homes of the Savages in the Days of the Buffalo.

While in buffalo days some of the wild Indians of the plains occupied permanent dwellings during a part of the year, there were others who lived wholly in movable lodges.

These were made of buffalo skins tanned white and sewed together. They were of different sizes, the poor occupying smaller lodges, while the wealthy man, he who owned many horses, very likely had a large family and required a larger lodge. The size of a man's lodge was to some extent an indication of his wealth. Two horses were needed to drag the poles of a large lodge and one to carry the lodge itself, three horses for the transportation of the dwelling alone, to say nothing of the other property and the different members of the family.

A lodge of moderate size required eleven skins, and eighteen poles were needed to set it up. A sixteen skin lodge required twenty-two poles. The larger the lodge the greater was the number of poles needed. From the fact that they used an unusual number of poles in setting up their lodges it resulted that the Cheyennes had well stretched, nice looking lodges.

The northern Cheyennes declare that an odd number of hides was always used for the best lodges, and the number might range from eleven to twenty-one. The skins were sewed together with sinew thread. First, of course, the hides must be tanned, the hair removed and the skin softened. Then the Cheyenne woman held a sewing bee which was not unlike the bees of our ancestors in the early days of this country. She invited her friends to come and help her sew her lodge and provided them with refreshments. Among them was always one woman especially skillful in cutting out the lodges, and she fitted the skins together before the women began to sew them.—Forest and Stream.

Where Do the Cents Go?

Nobody knows what becomes of the millions on millions of cents that are minted annually, the production varying from 25,000,000 to 90,000,000 per annum. They simply vanish from sight and are gone forever. The phenomenon seems strange and is not easily accounted for. People say, "What becomes of all the pins?" That is easily answered. Pins soon corrode, and thus are transformed into nothing that is recognizable. A copper cent, on the other hand, is indestructible, comparatively speaking. But the solution of the problem seems to be that cents are subject to more accidents than any other coins. They change hands ten times as often as dimes, for example, and, being of small value, they are not cared for.—Los Angeles Times.

The Fiendlike Lilith Was a Complete Matrimonial Failure.

Whether Lilith was one of the female creations of chapter 1 or a demon or something between the two, she was, considered matrimonially, a complete failure. She was expelled after living with Adam for 130 years and subsequently became the wife of Satan, by whom she was the mother of the Jinns, so familiar in Persian fairy lore.

The emphatic remark of Adam when he first saw Eve, "This is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh," makes, it is suggested, a comparison between Eve and the beautiful but fiendlike Lilith not complimentary to the latter, while the reference to the birth of Seth to him as Adam's son "in his own likeness, after his image," conveys a painful hint of the unanny offspring born to Adam and Lilith.

Perhaps in revenge for this Lilith—the name occurs translated "night monster" in Isalah xxxiv—became the sworn foe of little children, whom she was wont to strangle with one of her glorious golden hairs unless the watchfulness of their mothers drove her away. It has indeed been gravely suggested by an etymologist greatly daring that our word "lullaby" is simply a corruption of "Lilla, ab!" (Lilith, away!) which mothers and nurses would croon over the cradles or write on the doorpost.—St. James' Gazette.

Backing His Theory.

"Do you still believe in inherited weaknesses?"
"Yes."
"How do you account for the fact that little Mary Bingley cries so easy and so often?"
"Her mother worked in an onion canery and her grandmother was an emotional actress."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

We Are Now Ready For Business

IN THE ROSA BUILDING.

THE STEAMER ELIZABETH brought our immense stock of General Merchandise, and it has at last been unpacked and we are now ready for business. When our stock was selected several months ago, we were particular to select goods that we could recommend, and that are the best money could buy. By putting in lines of standard goods, and keeping the stock up-to-date, we eliminate any possible chance of shelf worn, out-of-date articles that are so commonly found and are a drag on the market. It is with experience and the knowledge that our goods are worth every cent asked for them, that we expect to secure our share of the business, and keep it. Following are a few of the standard lines we handle:

The Lion Brand Men's and Boy's Hats, known the world over for style and durability, is the leader in our hat department. We have the Cahn-Nickelsburg Shoes for Men, Women and Children; all styles and sizes; When you want something "different" in this line, we would be pleased to fit you. It is impossible to enumerate the various lines in our grocery department, but we will state that our stock of Shillings Spices, Extracts and Baking Powders cannot be excelled anywhere.

Every Lady in Bandon is figuring on what she will wear this summer, and we have got something in our Fancy Dress Goods, Lawns, Crash, Outing Flannel, Damasks, etc., that will be just the thing. We have bought our stock from houses not represented here, and have patterns that you will not find elsewhere in town. Ladies' and Gents' Furnishings, all weights and sizes, qualities and prices. The exclusive agency for the La Reine Corsets, the ones you see advertised in all the magazines, has been secured, and we have them in all sizes. We also carry the F. P. Brand of Boys' and Girls' Knitted Waists. Our Notion Department and Ribbon Department is complete, and you have a wide opportunity for selection.

Give us a call. We will be glad to have you step in and get acquainted with our new store. With courteous treatment, prompt attention, and over all a square deal, we expect to handle your trade.
