The Coast Line.

When the perfunctory directors and nominal stockholders of the Northwestern Pacific met yesterday in Secretary Willient's office in the Flood building and voted to mortgage the property for $35,000,000 and to sell the bonds in New York with interest at 4 1/2 per cent, it was merely a formality in obedience to the orders of President E. H. Harriman of the Southern Pacific and President Ripley of the Santa Fe, the real controlling owners of the property and its proposed extensions.

The important fact to the people to be served by this road is that the owners intend to make a comprehensive extension into new territory and that the suspiciously large valuation on which the bonds are to be issued is based on the joint reports of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe engineers as to the real value of the completed system which is to be constructed with the proceeds of this bond issue.

It is not often that Chief Engineer Hood of the Southern Pacific admits any plans that are not already public information, but yesterday he declared that the company's engineers had run surveys from Eureka up along the coast to Marshfield on Coos Bay, and that men were out collecting the data on these surveys, as the records were destroyed in the big fire. He also announced that a line was being built westward from Drain on the Shasta route, to Winchester bay, about thirty miles northward of Marshfield, to which a southern extension was also being built. There is already a road about twenty five miles long from Coos bay southward to Myrtle Point, which is about fifty miles westward on an air line from Roseburg on the Shasta route. These proposed roads and the surveys indicating a connection between Eureka and Marshfield are admitted to be part of the plan of extension in addition to the building of the 105-mile gap between Willits and Pepperwood on the run from Tiburon to Eureka.

From Myrtle Point southward to Luffenblatz, the end of the short line that reaches about twenty-six miles northward from Eureka, is a distance on an air line of about 160 miles, and probably fully 200 miles the way the line will have to be built along the corrugated ridges that reach down to the coast. Luffenblatz is just west of the Hoopa Indian Reservation.

From Eureka northward to Coos Bay the proposed railroad extension of the Northwestern Pacific will have to cross in sequence Klamath river, Smith river, Illinois river, Sixes river and Coquille river.

The country, according to Chief Engineer Hood, is heavily timbered in sections, somewhat like the proposed extension to connect Willits and Pepperwood. There are many coast ridges and ravines to cross, and here and there little farms. The timber, not redwood, however, is of good size, and the country promises to furnish a good deal of traffic for the future road. Northward from Coos bay the chief engineer is not familiar with the character of the country, which may or may not indicate that the Northwestern Pacific is to extend up the coast to Portland. Hood says that surveys have not yet been made up the coast northward from Marshfield.

Weather Report.

The weather up to Friday was sunshiny, with nearly normal temperatures. On Friday rain began falling in the coast counties, which gradually spread to include the entire State. The rains ceased in the western counties Sunday afternoon and in the eastern counties Monday morning. They were sufficiently heavy to effectually break the drought in all districts west of the Cascade Mountains. To the east of this range of mountains, the rainfall averaged less than a quarter of an inch, and it was of great benefit notwithstanding more moisture is still needed in that district. The weather was unusually windy just preceding the beginning of the rains, but no serious damage occurred in consequence of high winds. During the latter part of the week it was cooler than usual, especially during the afternoon, when cloudiness prevented the customary diurnal rise in temperature. No harmful frosts occurred.

The Old Apple Tree.

In the shade of the old apple tree I've waited so long, love, for thee, that the voice once I heard, grows faint with each word, till its barely a whisper to me. There is to more buzz left in the bee, the blossoms are withered, ah, me!—and the tree that once grew where I waited for you, has changed to an old chestnut tree. In the shade of the old apple tree, where you heard the blazed buzz of the bee, with a big carving knife that I swiped from my wife, I am waiting and watching—by gee! Of daggers I have two or three and an ax and a entlass, you see; and I'll stick all these things in the next guy who sings, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

A Cow Missing.

Has been gone since Dec. 10, 1906. She is a white cow with light red head and neck, some white in face. She has a slit and bite under right ear.

Anyone letting me know of her whereabouts will be rewarded. Mrs. RACHEL WILLARD, BANDON.

Seven and one-half Chicken Ranches.

I have divided my land into a little over seven sections containing five acres each which I have on the market. These will make excellent chicken ranches, and the land is adapted to the culture of small fruits. A sixty foot right-of-way passes through fronting each tract. They lay two and a quarter miles south of Bandon near the plank road, and sell for $60 and $65 an acre. These lots are not in the hands of any real estate dealer, and I do my business direct with you. Call on or address,

C. H. CHANDLER, Bandon, Oregon.

LONG HAired MEN.

The Way Massachusetts Protested Against Them in 1649.

The following protest signed by Jo. Endicott, governor; Thos. Dudley, deputy governor; Richard Bellingham, Richard Saltonstall, Increase Nowell, William Hibbins, Thos. Flint, Rob. Bridges and Simon Bradstreet was published in Massachusetts in 1649:

"Protest, against wearing long hair, of the governor, etc., of Massachusetts: "Forasmuch as the wearing of long hair, after the manner of Russians and barbarous Indians, has begun to invade New England, contrary to the rule of God's word, which says it is a shame for man to wear long hair, as also the commendable custom generally of all the godly of all our nation, until within these few years:

"We, the magistrates, who have signed this paper, for the shewing of our own innocency in this behalf, do declare and manifest our dislike and detestation against the wearing of such long hair, as against a thing unclean and unmanly, whereby men do deform themselves and offend sober and modest men and do corrupt good manners. We do therefore earnestly intreat all the elders of this jurisdiction, as often as they shall see cause, to manifest their zeal against it in their public administrations, and to take care that the members of their respective churches be not delinquent therewith; that so, such as prove obstinate, and will not reforme themselves, may have God and man to witness against them. The third month 10th day, 1649."

Forgetful.

Hostess—Oh, professor, haven't you brought your wife? Professor—There I knew I'd forgotten something!—Punch.
