The City Election

SMALL VOTE CAST

New Council Composed of Business Men of Bandon.

Election day passed off without a wave of excitement. The number of votes cast was way behind the usual number, many not taking enough interest to spare the time to go to the polls. The ticket nominated at the primaries was composed of good business men, ones that could hold the reins of the town in good stead, and the election in consequence ran pretty close.

A. Rice, whose name was on the ballot for recorder, gave it out flat-footed that if he were elected he would not qualify, as he has just had the office a term and did not want it again. Following is the new board of trustees, with C. R. Wade for recorder. O. A. Trowbridge, Steve Gallier, John W. Hoover, E. Lewin and John Felter. All are well known and influential men who believe in an orderly and well regulated city, and who will look out for the best interests and developments of our growing little town.

Following is the ticket, and the number of votes each received:

Elect One.
For Recorder:
C R Wade	83
A Rice	41
Elect Five
For Trustees:
John Felter	63
M Brener	50
O A Trowbridge	97
J T Mars	62
John W Hoover	84
E Lewin	63
Nels Rasmussen	43
W R Panter	57
W F Disher	36
Steve Gallier	95

Hung the Jury Twice.

The case of Mott vs. Inman has twice been tried in Justice Strang's Court, the first case being May 20th, and the last the 25th. The subject in controversy is wages to the amount of about $27, and the point at issue is whether Inman, the defendant in the case is liable for the payment of the same now as Mott claims, or whether the said amount is not due until such time as Inman can place certain logs in the Coquille River, upon which logs Mott had been at work. Mott admits through his attorney G. T. Treadgold that he was to receive his pay when the logs were placed in the river, and further alleges that Inman agreed to have the logs in the river within a short or reasonable period of time, presumably within a month, but maintains that nearly four months has elapsed and that Inman has acted in bad faith, and failed to comply with his contract.

Inman, through his attorney, Geo. P. Topping has alleged that it was impossible to get donkey engines within the time specified, that he has exercised all reasonable diligence to get the said logs into the river, and the proper time has not yet arrived when he should be compelled to make a settlement with Mott for the said wages. The case was argued before a jury each time, as to whether or not an unreasonable time has elapsed, and in each trial the jury been unable to agree upon a verdict, and while the costs have amounted up far in excess of the amount in litigation, the parties seem to be no nearer a settlement than at first. The case will probably be re-tried again the last of this week. It is expensive fun for the litigants, but very interesting for the by-standers, as was evidenced by the crowded city hall at each trial.

The Excursion.

Sunday morning dawned bright as a new dollar, and word was received that a whole train load of excursionists had left for Bandon-by-the-Sea. They arrived via the Dispatch and Liberty about noon, and the day was spent out at the Lookout and down on the beach.

Their trip down the river had sharpened their appetites, and dinner seemed to be the first consideration. The hotels were filled to overflowing, and many had brought their lunch along and had picnics in the woods.

The excursion was given by the Acme band, a new organization in the musical line. They furnished music for the crowd of merry-makers on the boat and train, and then left the music at this end for the local band, who, after playing a couple of selections for the Acme boys, gave a short concert on the street. Owing to the extreme wind, it was a very hard matter to chase music and keep in time, so they were forced to cut their concert short.

The two boats left about four o'clock, all having spent an ideal day with one exception, that of the north wind, which always was a veritable black eye for Bandon. It seemed as if it had waited for this excursion so it could show how hard it could blow. However they have wind at the bay, and we venture to say that this of ours is a whole lot cooler than their's.

Nearly 350 were on the excursion and our streets looked something like Washington Street in Portland for a while. The boat companies will run regular excursions all during the summer, and the Marshfield people are invited to come again when the wind is in a little better nature.

Clean-Up Days Next Week

JUNE 1st, 2nd, 3rd.

City will Pay for Hauling Away Rubbish on These Days

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 3rd, 4th and 5th, the Town Dads have decreed to be set aside for cleaning up our city. Everybody is asked to clean up their yards and have the rubbish put in such a shape that the teams and men provided by the city can get at it to haul it off and have it destroyed.

This is the best chance to get the rakings from your yard disposed of without costing a cent. The city will provide men and wagons to haul it off for these three days, but after that date any place littered up with rubbish will be cleaned up at the expense of the city, who will charge it up to the property.

This is a preventative in a way toward fire. There is nothing that has a tendency to spread fire more than light stuff that may easily be blown about by the wind. Every house in town ought to take advantage of this opportunity to clean up their yards and the street in front of their houses.

Those old weeds that are growing in the street in front of the house makes a bad impression on the summer visitor. Keep them cut down and you will not only add much to the beauty of your home, but the whole town.

While you are putting your time into cleaning up, suppose you take a few minutes to nail up? There are lots of sidewalks that are loose for several yards in a stretch. How many times have you tripped over some one else's sidewalk? Is your sidewalk nailed down securely? It will take only a few nails and a little "elbow grease," but may prevent a broken limb to say nothing of the many instances in breaking the city ordinance against loud and abusive language—Nail 'em down.

Time to pick out that summer dress, and by the way, Lorenz & Hoyt have their new summer dress goods in now and you will find a fine assortment of the latest patterns which prevail this season.

His Price.

New York preachers are evidently cheap. It cost W. E. Corey $5,000 for his wedding supper, $5,000 for decorations and $5,000 for roses, and he managed to find a complacent divine for $1,000. It is unfortunate that in all New York a minister could be found who, for any sum, would unite this aged libertine with this dashing actress while the memory of the east-aside and faithful wife lingers in the hearts of men. It will be more of a disgrace if in New York there be a congregation or ministerial body that will claim fellowship with the man who performed this ceremony. Corey and his wife will quickly steer their gilded matrimonial boat on the rocks and no one need wish either of them worse fortune than is bound to come, but this preacher who sold himself his profession and the memory of a sanctified mother for $1,000 will never harmonize with the scenery in the New Jerusalem. That sort of a preacher would look as imposing with a harp and wings as Satan would dangle a baby on his smoking knee, or Beelzebub leading an infant class in prayer.

Tony The Convict.

Saturday night this week, the local dramatic club will present the five-act comedy drama, "Tony The Convict." The play is a mixture of pathos and comedy. It is by no means a new production and always gains popularity on each presentation. A dramatic company from Myrtle Point staged the production at that place, and was to have played it here, but we understand it was never put on.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:30. It is a two hour and a half play and the orchestra will fill in the intermission between acts with selections. This is the first local talent that has been put on for some time and a large crowd is expected to be present. The play has been carefully rehearsed and will be presented in good shape Saturday night. Seats 25, 35 and 50 cents at the Bandon Drug Co.'s store, until 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

New School House.

There has been a petition circulated in District 64 for signers to petition the County Superintendent to ask for a new school district. District 64 is too large and a number of the children have to walk three miles and over to get to the school house. It will be necessary for that district to at least build an addition on the present school house to accommodate the number of new pupils that will attend in the fall. In case of a division of the district, which is highly probable, there will be two school houses built, one lying one and a half miles west of the present building, and the other a mile and a half east.

The petition was circulated by J. L. Foster, who reports at this office that he secured every voter with the exception of one man to sign the petition, and his principal kick was that his children would have to go a half mile farther than before. There is no doubt that the district will have to be divided, and this is the time to do it. The additional cost of putting up the two buildings is not very much, and should by all means be done before next term.

The Skating Rink will be open Friday and Saturday evenings, and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Business Firms Are Burglarized

SECURES BUT LITTLE

Lorenz & Hoyt and Rasmussen Bros. were Robbed Monday

Blessed with a kleptomaniacal desire, some light fingered gent or gents, drilled up through the floor of Lorenz & Hoyt's general store Tuesday morning, early, and rambled over the establishment taking whatever was easy to carry. Fortunately the funds of the cash register had been removed all but $1.65 in small change so they did not secure very much from that source.

Sir Light fingers looked over the stock of clothing and shoes and from the looks of the articles left it was judged that they had taken one or more outfits complete, hat and all.

The clothing is from the Bing Clothing House, and while there is a couple of suspects, nothing has been done as yet. Lorenz & Hoyt propose to make this climate exceedingly warm for them if the culprits are found.

The same night the saloon of Rasmussen Brothers was entered and about $35 was taken from the register. Whether the two crimes have any connection or not, is not known, but circumstances are such as to credit both burglaries from the same source. A queer incident in the affair is that two half dollars were overlooked in the till of the register. Whether they were left for the purpose of providing change for the morning's business or not is not known but the firm is duly thankful for that small favor.

Both establishments are in the habit of leaving their cash registers open so that in a case of a burglary, the registers will not be broken. This is the third attempt to burglarize the store of Lorenz & Hoyt, in the past few years. This time the safe was tampered with, but no damage was done.

The County Election.

On Monday the third of June the entire county will vote on the liquor question. Up to date there has not been very much said either way, and it is thought that there will be even a less number of votes polled here next Monday, than at the City election. The principal fight will be in Myrtle Point and Coquille Precincts. There seems to be an argument on as to whether a special election will have the power to influence the election of last year, that made 15 precincts dry. There is a difference of opinion, and if the results are different in this election next Monday, there will undoubtedly be several test cases.
