July 4th.

Three weeks from today Bandon proposes to celebrate the Fourth of July, at least so everybody says, yet the general and sub committees in charge thereof have as yet bestowed themselves very little by way of preparation, at least so far as we can learn.

Why not have a carnival to add to and enhance the attractions of the day. The customary parade is usually over by noon, then base ball and various feats of athletic sport commingled with a few clown stunts furnish amusement for the crowds until 4 o'clock. All that is left for amusement is a few shots at the moon with sky rockets about dusk, followed by 347 couples juggling one another about the dance hall until the cold gray dawn of the morning after. We have not stopped to figure the cost, nor yet the possibility of a carnival, but only the plausibility. Wouldn't a big dancing pavilion on the wharf, new or old, or anywhere near for that matter, covered over with a tower of evergreens be attractive? If such a pavilion were out of doors, could not a carnival of beauty, with myriad Japanese lanterns, a carnival of endless fun and amusement be carried on round about and in connection therewith? Portland has her Rose carnival, New Orleans a flower carnival, towns nearer our own class like Port Orford and Gold Beach have their lodge carnival etc, ad infinitum. Let us be up and doing with the next one, and if we have a celebration, and if we have a crowd—why give them plenty of amusement, and the worth of their time and money.

Let the carnival open about 4 p. m. when the crowd will naturally return from the beach, the ball ground, and other places of counter attraction and then continue till midnight. What organization or individual will first start the ball "a-rollin'?"

Development League

The Oregon Development League under the direction of Tom Richardson of Portland is making extraordinary efforts to advertise this State during the coming summer and fall, in order to reap an immense crop of immigrants when the colonist rates begin next September 1st and continue for 60 days.

One of the attractions intended to inflame the fancy of the contemplating Easterner, is the Portland Rose Show and Fiesta. The organization of a State Livestock Association is under way and now assured. We quote from Secretary Tom Richardson's letter in which he says:

"Portland owes the perfecting of the organization to the State at large, for everyone realizes that the greatest success of the Lewis & Clark Exposition was the live stock show; that the greatest advertisement Oregon received at the St. Louis Exposition was the fact that "Loretta D" proved to the world by drawing first prize, that Oregon was the world's best dairy country, and now with the location of both Armour and Swift, Oregon and the Pacific Northwest should go forward in the development of live stock and supply the Orient and Alaska, the best markets in the world."

Advance agents from all the commercial associations from the different parts of the State are in Port to perfect the most feasible plans for co-operation among the different organizations of Oregon to colonize the State and develop a greater Oregon.

Among the delegates is Dr. J. T. McCormac, who is taking notes of Portland's method of advertising, for the purpose of building up a greater Coos County. The Recorder cannot too heartily endorse such work as Tom Richardson is engaged in, for we are too well aware of the limitless resources round about our own vicinity which only awaits the empty hand and idle capital of other people than our own, for we are all swamped with all the work we can take care of, and are then scarcely able to make an impression upon rugged nature. Developed to its highest capacity, our part of the State will support thousands where now we have only hundreds of people.

We commend the idea of a greater Oregon, and stand ready to contribute our efforts to that end.

Harry Orchard.

Alfred Horsley alias Thomas Hogan alias Harry Orchard, who has been telling the story of his crimes on the witness stand at Boise has proved himself to be one of the most remarkable characters of this or any age. Quietly and coolly, without the slightest ripple of emotion, in an off-hand way he has told of how he plotted to take the life of at least two score of innocent and prominent men, how he has manufactured bombs, carried sawed off shot guns, awaiting an opportunity to stalk his victim, how he has received money for his crimes anywhere from $50 to $500 for each dastardly crime perpetrated, how he had planned to take the lives of 50 non-union working men for the sum of $1 per head, and with all has proven himself either the biggest liar on earth, or else the most extraordinary assassin that will ever be chronicled in history.

Since he began his life as a professional assassin he has performed no manual labor, has followed no other business. With each human life taken, he paid no grudge, he had no object in view except the few dollars he claims to have received and upon which he eked out and prolonged his wretched life.

This phenomenal assassin, with his episode of wonderful simplicity and mechanical indifference to human life, is almost beyond the comprehension of rational human minds. Such a monstrosity has far over-reached the bounds of human law, society and consideration, and human society as a unit cannot too securely protect itself against such a being. The events of his varied life are more thrilling, more bloody a thousand fold than the most fanciful detective stories ever told in a dime novel, and by just so much are the more dangerous and demoralizing to human decency, morals and intelligence. The conclusion of the trial cannot be reached too soon, and the least that can be said about him the better.

The Portland Oregonian commenting editorially upon the recent Portland municipal election has stated that Mr. Devlin, the Republican candidate for Mayor, was beaten because Republicans, or those who call themselves Republicans, would not vote the Republican ticket.

Politics should not be involved where only local affairs and clean municipal government is at issue, and in Portland's case it is a signal triumph of the intelligent and independent voter over that of machine policies. No party, whatever its name, should be so secure in its stronghold as to lose all fear of defeat, all concern for retributive justice, or fear of prosecution from machine-grafting. The Oregonian furthermore says that there are other causes for Mr. Devlin's defeat, the principal one being that the people generally believed that the "interests" were back of Mr. Devlin. If this be the case, then Portland is to be congratulated upon her high standard of citizenship, to be commended that in her civic affairs, unlike numerous other cities of her own class, clean government is able to prevail against the machine, for it is one further step toward the political millennium.

To the tax payers of some of the Eastern and older cities we commend our progressive Rose City of the West.

Your editor, I. S. Bath left Bandon last Thursday morning with the "Tony bunch of convicts" bound for Coquille, and the next morning left that place for his old home in Hillsboro, via the Roseburg stage line. He will be gone for two weeks and many of his friends hereabout are speculating on the import and cause of his visit. We who are on "the inside," unfortunately, are unable at this time to furnish the much desired information.

Col. C. T. Blumenrother was in Coquille last Saturday, on business.

Ed. Oakes, the real estate man visited Marshfield and North Bend last week.

The juries for the Schmits case in "Friseo, and the Haywood case in Boise have been drawn and finally secured, and the two cases will very soon be well under way. It will be a picnic for the newspaper men, but the long-suffering public will have a repetition of something similar to the Thaw case except now the dose will be twice as large.
