SUNDAY'S TIMES says that there is a famine of fruit in the line of cherries, pears, apples and cantaloupes in the Coos Bay market caused by the delay of the steamer Breakwater. We haven't seen anything of this sort on the local market this season, must also be waiting for the Breakwater.

BANDON IS GOING TO Celebrate, and the Eagle's tail feathers are going to be pulled in a manner that has never before been attempted. The committee is devoting their utmost toward a program of interest and for something doing every minute during the day. We want to see all of our friends along the river here that day. Spend a day away from the heat and dust, and bring your lunch for an ideal day at the beach. Can you excell our bathing and fishing, or can you afford to miss this greatest day in all the year by not attending the celebration? Come down on the morning boat and stay all day with us.

THE EDITOR RETURNED last Saturday evening and has again taken up the reins. During our absence, which was spent in Portland and in Hillsboro, we had many inquiries regarding this section of the country. The prevailing idea seems to be that there is a city of Coos Bay, and Bandon is stuck up on Coos River. It is, "How far is Bandon from Coos Bay?" Marshfield and North Bend have done a world of good for their section by their untiring advertising efforts, but they forget that there is a Coquille Valley on earth. They fail to state that the greatest percent of the lumber and their huge logs are shipped over from the COQUILLE VALLEY on the railroad. There seems to be many conflicting ideas regarding most all of this part of Coos County. The outside world is little informed as to the amount of our lumber resources and the farming facilities. It would be a wise idea if our Chamber of Commerce would issue a pamphlet or descriptive matter of some sort that would place many of these advantages in a better light and at least give us our due.

WE WILL ENLARGE the RECORDER to a full-fledged 6-page paper every issue, commencing next week. Numerous delays have here tofore kept us from making this improvement, but now with our new equipment it has passed the possibility stage and is an assured certainty. This week has been spent in the most part in arranging for our new machinery, consisting of a new Fairbanks-Morse Gas Engine, Boston Wire Stitcher, Paper Cutter, 250 pounds of body type, cases, racks, imposing stones, and numerous other material which has been badly needed for some time, and which was necessary for an enlargement. We have also secured the first publication of the late novel "The Lion and the Mouse," in newspaper form, from the Associate

Press, and will commence running it as a serial. It is an unusually interesting story, and one of its principal features is in introducing as a principal character, a man similar to Rockefeller. Aside from an extremely interesting plot it is well worth your time for the many business tactics that are employed in the big concerns for the supremacy of trade. In enlarging this paper we have made room for country correspondence, and wish to extend the opportunity for a correspondent in every locality. Surely you take enough interest in the place in which you live to have the local news published! Drop us a line and we will provide you with the necessary stationery, postage, etc.

I AM A DOLLAR. A little ago, worn maybe, but still in circulation, I am proud of myself for being in circulation. I am no tomato can dollar—not I. This town is only my adopted home, but I like it and hope to remain permanently. When I came out of the mint I was adopted into a town like this in another state. But after a time I was sent off to a big city, many miles away. I turned up in a Mail Order house. For several years I stayed in that city. Millionaires bought cigars with me. I did not like this for I believe in the plain people. Finally a traveling man brought me to this town and left me here. I was so glad to get back to a smaller town that I determined to make desperate efforts to stay. One day a citizen of this town was about to send me back to that big city. I caught him looking over a Mail Order Catalogue. Suddenly I found my voice and said to him—he was a dentist by the way: Now, look here, doc, if you'll only let me stay in this town I'll circulate around and do you lots of good. You buy a big beefsteak with me, and the butcher will buy groceries, and the grocer will buy dry goods, and the dry goods merchant will pay his doctor's bill with me, and the doctor will spend me with a farmer for oats to feed his buggy horse, and the farmer will buy some fresh beef from around to you to get his tooth mended. In the long run, as you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you sent me away forever. Doc said it was a mighty stiff argument. He hadn't looked at it in that light before. So he went and bought the big beefsteak, and I began to circulate around home again. Now, just suppose all the other dollars that are sent to Chicago or some other big city were kept circulating right here at home. You could see this town grow. Honest, now—ain't I right.—EX.

I. C. S. Correspondence.

Editor Bandon Recorder.
Dear Sir: It has been my pleasure to spend a few days in Bandon in the interest of education—modern industrial education—typified by the I. C. S.

While I came among the good people of Bandon a stranger, I found that correspondence instruction was no stranger. Time has not allowed me to visit all of the people who have enrolled for our courses but those whom I have seen express themselves most favorably.

Mr. Chas. I. Kime was greatly aided by his correspondence course in securing his marine engineering license. He values his reference library far above the cost of the entire course. To prove that he means what he says, he enrolled for our course covering pattern-making and shop practice.

Mr. Donald M. Charleson has the following to say:

"Bandon, Oregon, June 21, 1907.
"I would like to say for the benefit of anyone contemplating a course in the I. C. S. that the money I invested in the same schools proved to be a very good investment. The course has helped me very much in my work.

"In dealing with the I. C. S. people, I found that they more than made their word good. They have a splendid system of teaching.

[Signed] DONALD M. CHARLESON.

Mr. Charleson means what he says as he is making a fine addition to his course from our library of TecnicoLOGY. He purchased all of the library volumes on Civil Engineering. These volumes are very popular with the Government Engineers. Many of them, like Mr. Charleson, have studied our courses.

Mr. F. F. Wood, principal of the Bandon schools and Mr. B. N. Harrington, boss weaver in the woolen mills, are subscribing for reference libraries.

Miss Anna M. Waldvogel, Miss Helen Logan, H. E. Boak, R. R. Tilton, and Irving S. Bath are enrolling for courses in various lines of work.
Sixteen years ago, Thos. J. Foster editor of Colliery Engineer and Metal Miner, as a result of an unusual success in "Questions and Answers" Department, he conceived the idea of a regular course of study in the art and science of coal mining. His coal mining course by correspondence was a success and soon became very popular. He concluded that if he could give instructions to miners who had grown up in almost total ignorance, so that they could fill the position of foreman and superintendent, then he could organize courses that would be as successful in other fields. To make a long story short, Thos. J. Foster is now the honored president of the world's largest educational institution, offering over 200 courses, employing over 3,000 people, with an enrollment of more than 1,000,000 students, rated in Bradstreet's Commercial Report $1,000,000 A1, the biggest rating given by these reports.

The International Correspondence Schools have done more than any influence since the world began to bring a good, thorough, practical, education within the reach of all who really desire it. Our charges are moderate and our courses require only odds and ends of spare time; then truly it may be said that a young man or a young woman need not give up in ignorance if he really wants an education.

To our old students I would say go ahead with your course and get your diploma if you have not done so already. No matter how long you have had your course, it is good until you complete it. If you have lost any instruction paper, the schools will replace it free of charge.

This will not be my last visit to Bandon. If I can be of any use to any of our old students, or our new ones, or any one contemplating a course, I should like to hear from them at 615-4 M. St., Eureka, Cal.
Very Truly Yours,
FEN E. NEWTON.
