

Supplement to
Bandon Recorder

June 27, 1907.

Trouble With Japs.

Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador, called at the Department of State recently and made a formal complaint because some small boys broke a few panes of glass in a green house belonging to a Japanese in Berkeley, Cal. Ambassador Aoki was greatly disturbed when he left the office of Secretary Root and was considerably annoyed when asked about the Japanese situation.

"I have no time to talk," stated the Ambassador.

It was clear that his feelings were much ruffled. While Mr. Root and the Japanese Ambassador decline to discuss the matter, Mr. Root undoubtedly did some plain talking to Viscount Aoki in regard to the action of the Japanese in attempting to magnify into an international question every trivial case in which a Japanese living in the United States is involved.

For some time there has been considerable impatience on the part of the Administration on account of the action of the Japanese. The Government is irritated by the persistence with which the Japanese Ambassador has pressed unimportant matters on the attention of the Department of State, especially as the United States has taken particular pains to show that there is no hostility against Japan on the part of this Government.

One of the questions which have arisen is whether the Ambassador is so persistent on his own initiative or whether he is acting under instructions from his Government. Mr. Root has repeatedly explained to the Japanese Ambassador the scheme of the American form of government and the fact that it cannot force state governments to act in the matter of giving protection to Japanese, but that in each instance where foreigners have been molested the state authorities are urged by the Federal Government to act.

Electric Line.

"When the citizens of Roseburg sought to form an alliance with Coos Bay to take the initiative looking toward the construction of an Electric line to connect that place with this place, it was done under the assurance that Marshfield and North Bend were ready and willing to enter into the project with an earnestness and zest that would do much to guarantee its eventual success.

"It has been a well known fact for years that there were a lot of 'boomers' and grafters, over there who have looked up and sought to follow the foot steps of Schmitz, Reuf et al of San Francisco, by securing valuable franchises and special privileges that in the end would line their pockets with ill gotten gains.

"It is said a terminal company has been organized with a watered capital of $100,000 to secure the water front from North Bend to Marshfield; that $60,000 of the stock is taken and that $40,000 is being held to bribe, or 'take care' of the city councils.

"We are unprepared to confirm or deny the report, but it stands out in bold relief that Roseburg must form an alliance with other portions of Coos County to secure this much needed road.

It will now be in order for new and other steps to be taken to build a road from Roseburg to Coquille, the eventual terminus to be Bandon. The Coquille river points in conjunction with Roseburg can bring about the building of the road, by united action, independently of the Bay side.—Spokesman.

Roseburg Will Make Lime.

The Aron Rose estate, S. C. Flint and A. A. Finek have sold to a syndicate of capitalists the well known limestone mountain and 80 acres of land situated 8 miles south of town, and the same is to be developed to the fullest extent.

This proposition means the employment of a large number of men and a marked increase in the pay roll of this city.—Spokesman.

Have you ever had that tired feeling, left just like the little end of nothing? Well, J. F. Mars has got just the remedy for it in his delicious all cream ice cream.

Haywood Case.

Excited almost to the point of frenzy by their overwrought imaginations, which have conjured up pictures of their homes being blown up and their families killed if their husband's votes are in favor of hanging Haywood, the wives of certain jurors have recently kept the authorities at their wit's end to prevent them from doing something to place them in contempt of court.

Mrs. Thomas B. Guess worried constantly because of the enforced separation from her husband, went to Judge Wood's house yesterday and insisted on seeing him. Two stalwart bailiffs had all they could do to restrain the woman without using physical force.

Mrs. Levi Smith has been in almost a hysterical condition for fear that if her husband voted to convict Haywood, radical partisans of the prisoner might blow up their house at night. "Yes," said Mrs. Smith, "I have been very apprehensive lest harm come to us if my husband should vote for conviction. I would have tried to see him if I had thought it possible."

The wife of another juror is said to have had her hand read by a palmist, who made gloomy prediction of scenes of disaster which might follow a verdict adverse to the defendant. This woman is also said to have bewailed conditions and to have wept freely while discussing the trial.

Word from various places in rural districts where wives of jurymen reside is to the effect that several are very apprehensive of what may follow to themselves and property in case Harwood is found guilty.

Port Orford Notes.

From the Tribune.

There is to be some fine racing at Marshfield July 3rd., as many good horses are expected there.

Rev. Geo. H. Roach will preach in Dairyville Sunday, and will be here Monday to officiate at the Church Wedding.

Henry Axtell came down from Bandon Friday, and will spend some time on his homestead on Elk River before returning.

Capt. Tonsor was at Bandon last week inspecting the L. S. Station, but as he did not come to Port Orford, we fear that there is to be more delay in building a station here.

Rube Gardner's many Curry county friends will be pleased to note that he has been chosen as Marshal of Bandon, and he will make a good one. Rube is a Curry county boy whom we have known all his life, and found him worthy in every possible position.

The following is a report of the Riverton school for the term ending June 14, 1907:

The local School Board have just purchased a large bell for the school and ordered a complete set of maps, globe, and a beautiful flag. The school board is composed of men who are awake to the public interest, and Riverton should be congratulated upon having a board of directors who act in harmony and for the interest of the pupils.

A sad accident occurred in Wm Crane's Camp recently, in which

Harry Martin lost his life. He sawed a log in two which began to roll and he was caught between that and another log, crushing his chest. His body was taken to Coquille yesterday evening and from there will be shipped to his home in Gardiner for burial. POLLY.

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the futures in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
