Port Orford News.

From the Tribune.

There is said to be an immense eleven point buck elk in the woods near Port Orford, and the way our town boys are wearing out their shoe leather and overalls, makes the merchants wish there were a few more bucks in the woods.

Browns party of R. R. Surveyors have the line completed below Euchre Creek and will move their camp this week to Rogue River.
As this is said to be the real line, it will be interesting to note where they will cross Rogue River.

Johnny Marsh, eldest son of Al Marsh, killed a large 7 point elk last Friday near his fathers home four miles from Port Orford. When he had killed it, which he did at the first shot he saw the big 11 point buck, which so many are hunting for, looking at him and but a short distance away. It was a temptation some could not have withstood, but the young mans respect for the law saved the biggest elk in the woods.

Phil Wilbur of Marshfield, but who first became an Oregonian at Port Orford, where he and his amiable wife resided a score of years ago, came down last week to see the old place again, and enjoy the many attractions. He received warm greetings from all his oldtime friends with deserved scoldings for not bringing his better half with him.
Mrs. Wilbur has been teaching almost continually since going to Coos Bay, and took up the work again Monday at Marshfield where she is one of the most popular and successful teachers, as well as a veteran of veterans in the profession.

A small sized whale is ashore south of the mouth of Elk river, but is nearly covered up by the sand.
It is an attractive object to sight seers, and smells just the same as a larger one would.

Last Friday was one of the hottest days in September, the thermometer going up to 82. Grass is getting an early start, but a little more rain would be beneficial. The weather, however, is ideal as it is.

Now that the measles are gone, the whooping cough has taken its place, there being some severe cases among the very young children.
The people are criminally careless in not trying to prevent the spread of all contagious diseases.

The Important Work.

"Who is that thin, starved-looking little woman who hurries by here early every morning, and hurries back late every evening?"

"She? Oh, she's a school teacher.
She gets about forty dollars a month for handling a roomful of children."

"And who is that big, fat, well-dressed man who strolls by here now and then, smoking a good cigar and looking at ease with life?"

"He? Why, he's an inspector of ash barrels, or something like that.
He gets two hundred a month from the city."—Life.

Oregon Development League.

[Special Correspondence]

Eugene has made a record for progress and has set a pattern for all the cities under ten thousand population for the entire Pacific Coast. She has built a first-class, hard surface pavement from the depot entirely through business district and has contracts for double that amount.
Her new electric cars equal those to be seen in larger cities. She has raised a twelve thousand dollar advertising fund and will employ an expert at $5000 a year to handle her publicity.

At the request of the Oregon Development League, Mr. G. A.
Westgate, Secretary of the Portland Country Club and Live Stock Association, —the Pacific National Show, has compiled the following on the subject of Oregon Live Stock:

"To follow President Newell's hundred words on Oregon fruit with a brief statement about Oregon live stock brings the realization that Mr.
Newell has produced a classic. Still, Oregon has won almost as many honors in live stock, enough to convince the great packers of America that the packing plants for the Northwest, Alaska, the Orient, and all lands touching the Pacific, will be built in Oregon. There are many more millions of profit immediately within reach in this State through the live stock industry, than connection with any other industrial effort.

"Remember this. Oregon owns the prize dairy cow of the world, and the first prize herd of Shorthorns as shown at St. Louis. Oregon horses, Sheep and swine are also winners, because conditions of soil, climate, water, and grasses are winning factors in the production of the best four footed.

"Oregon offers the live stock breeder economy in feed, continuous growth, early maturity, quality and soundness, with the world for a market. Double your money in live stock while your fruit trees are growing."

16,925 leaflets inviting people to Oregon will be distributed to the public schools of Portland today and tomorrow to go out in letters written by the pupils. This plan should be followed by every community in the State of Oregon.

A party of seven young ladies will be entertained at Portland Saturday.
They are chaperoned by Mrs. Edyth Tozier Weathered, well-known to the people and especially to the news paper fraternity of Oregon.

The Second Eastern Oregon District Agricultural Society will give its 17th Annual Fair at The Dalles October 8 - 12, Wednesday October 9th, has been decided upon for Portland Day and the attendance promises to be large.
