Myrtle Point Notes.

From the Enterprise.

It is reported that several Myrtle Point residences have been entered at hours when respectable persons are supposed to be at home and in bed. What the object of the visits are is not shown, but it is supposed that petty thefts of food is contemplated. It is a foolish risk for such small game and the fellow is likely to get his hide punctured on some of his visits for his trouble. There was some of the same kind of work done last year, and there was a suspicion as to who was the author of the mischief.

D. A. Utter, who opened up a brick yard on Isthmus inlet, Coos bay, has had trouble with the owner of the property and has leased the brick yard at Arago in which he will install new machinery and have it ready for turning out brick early next year. Mr. Utter says that Arago clay is much superior to the inlet clay for brick making purposes and makes a quality of brick that will compare favorably with the best imported stock. There are 53 acres of clay in the Arago tract.

Dr. J. R. Barr left the first of the week for San Francisco where he goes to take a post-graduate course in medicine. He hopes to return to Myrtle Point some time during the first part of January. Mrs. Barr will visit with her relatives at Eugene before joining her husband at San Francisco.

The new bank, which will be opened here by Flannigan & Bennet of Marshfield, with R. M. Supplee, cashier, in charge, awaits only the arrival of its safe to be ready for business. A new globe Diabold has been ordered from New York for the Marshfield bank and when that arrives the safe now used at Marshfield will be sent to Myrtle Point to be installed in the vault of the new bank and the doors will then be open for business. The furniture, and other fixtures have been installed and all other preparations made for opening.

The southern Pacific having failed in its efforts to bottle Coos bay with a line of railway, Seymour H. Bell has asked a franchise that the Times thinks may accomplish the same purpose, with an electric line as the controlling power. It is probable that Mr. Bell will come no nearer getting results than did the Southern Pacific. Coos bay does not seem anxious enough to secure railways to give a single line a monopoly of the harbor.

Geo. W. Claxton, at one time a Myrtle Point photographer, committed suicide at his home in Portland last week, by slashing his jugular vein with a razor and strangling himself with a clothes line. Mr. Claxton has recently been representing the Oregon Journal in eastern Oregon. He was temporarily unbalanced in mind by too close watch over his wife and six-year-old child who have been sick with typhoid fever. It is said that Mrs. Claxton had just passed the crisis of the disease safely when her husband gave up under the strain.

H. B. Steward gathered some fine strawberries from his berry patch last week and sent a box of the choicest specimens to Marshfield for display in the chamber of commerce exhibit. The berries are almost as large as the largest grown earlier in the year, are of a deep red color and their flavor is said to be fine. Some of the October berries in Mr. Steward's patch have a diameter equal to a silver dollar.

Coos county's assessed valuation this year is $13,586,692, an increase over last year's assessment of $3,553,735. A large part of this increase was made by raising the assessment on timber lands, the burden of which will fall largely on non-resident holders. The board of equalization will meet at Coquille on the 2nd, to retain in session a month for the purpose of adjusting differences in assessment.

With the four fingers severed from her right hand, Ehla, the two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wade of the south Fork, is destined to be a cripple for life.

The baby was playing around where her seven-year-old brother was splitting or chopping wood when the little woodsman let the ax fall across her fingers with the above result, leaving short stubs of fingers. The brother was overcome with grief because of the accident and says he didn't see the baby at all when he let the ax fall. Dr. Stemmler was summoned to dress the injuries and is confident that the little girl will find good use of her hand.

A man and his wife who got out of Marshfield, thinking they had seen all of Coos county when they were on the bay, were congratulating themselves on the train the other day that they had decided to make the trip over through the Coquille valley. "Why," said the lady, "if we had not taken a trip into this beautiful valley, we would have gone home not knowing there was anything worth while in Coos county." There are a great many who come to the bay and return to their homes without realizing that there is anything as beautiful and fertile as the Coquille valley in the county. The people on the bay would find it worth while to themselves and the county at large to direct attention to the Coquille when they have visitors.
