The Coquille Valley Sentinel has sent personal letters to some of our business men requesting jobwork, giving cut prices. The Sentinel never said a good word of our merchants, and need not expect to obtain their patronage. Better cover your home field before attempting to branch out.

Last Sunday, Nov. 9th, Allan, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Harrington, celebrated his 10th birthday, at Concrete Hall, and twenty-five of his young friends assembled for the occasion. Games were played, the principal game played being "Teddy Bear." Prizes were distributed, a lunch was served, with a large birthday cake as the chief attraction, and at 4 o'clock the party broke up with many kind wishes for their little playmate.

Walter Sinclair, of Coquille, was in town the fore part of this week in the interests of the commercial organizations of the three towns of the Coquille. The River and Harbors Congress convenes in Washington in December, and it is very important that a representative of the Coquille is at hand. Orvil Dodge offers to return and assist in securing an appropriation to dredge out the channel inside the bar along the river, which is shoal in some places. He did a world of good on his last trip, and we would be glad to see him return again in the continuance of this good work.

We had a call from B. L. Barry, of the Dayton Optimist, Oregon, who is in this territory representing his home fire insurance company, and incidentally to organize an association of the publishers of Coos Co. A meeting was called Wednesday, but at this date we have not learned the ultimate results. An association of this kind is of mutual importance to the publishers and their patrons. A uniformity of prices is established on all work, both advertising and in the job department. We were unable to attend, but will give our hearty co-operation to such a movement.

A brother of T. N. Moorhouse, the ill-fated passenger who was killed some days since while enroute by stage to Marshfield, arrived in the city early last Friday morning, and left the same afternoon for Owatonna, his home, with the remains. While in the city he expressed himself as much pleased with the surroundings, and stated that he would return to the city next summer for the purpose of taking a trip over the road where his brother met the fatality. He was accompanied by the divorced wife of Mr. Moorhouse, together with the little son. Before leaving he is quoted as saying that no blame was attached to Mr. Fenton or his employes, the accident being considered as unavoidable. — Roseburg News.

"We take clearing house certificates" is a sign now to be seen in the windows of almost every Portland business house. The financial sky is clearing, and there is every prospect that two weeks more will see conditions normal.

Whether it was the wind or just the feeling of youth the atmosphere Bandon imparts caused one of our attorneys to shed his accumulation of alfalfa, tenderly nurtured for the past year, we are not prepared to state; but it is a cinch that the beauty of the legal profession here is not injured by the change.

The truant officer, R E. Gardner, has been ordered by Co. Supt. Bunch, to notify a number of children under the ages specified by law, to enter school next Monday morning. A number are exempt from the list, but there are several who should be in the schools. The compulsory school law is one of Oregon's best laws. Parents who are narrow minded enough to either keep their children out of school or allow them to remain out of school in idleness before they have completed the eighth grade, are incompetent, and the arm of authority is recommended.

Announcement to Bandon Buyers

Ever since the change in management of our store a few weeks back our one great contention has been to provide room for the large stock of furniture that we have on the road. We have had to put much of our time into making extensive improvements in our warehouse and storeroom to accommodate this stock, so much so that we have neglected to make our bow before the public.

Is it our intention to run a furniture store, in all its lines, that will supply every necessity of our patrons in Bandon and vicinity. Our charges are reasonable, lower than elsewhere in the county, and lower than in the city. We will cater to all classes of patronage who appreciate a square deal in every respect, and a desire upon our part to secure any article of furniture not already in stock.

If you are not already a customer of ours, we invite you to call. We know you will be surprised at the extent of our stock, and we want to get acquainted. In behalf of the old management, we wish to thank you for past patronage and for any future favors.
