H. C. McAllister Appointed State Fish Warden.

Salem, Oregon, March 30.—After many months' deliberation and discussion, during which they have been beset upon all sides by a multiplicity of candidates and interests in the fishing industry, the State Board of Fish Commissioners has finally arrived at a conclusion in the matter of the selection of a successor to Master Fish Warden H. G. Van Dusen, and have announced the appointment of H. C. McAllister, of Portland, to take effect May 1st. The appointment was made during a closed session of the board. The election of Mr. McAllister was unanimous.

There were 15 candidates for the job, all of whom were given due consideration, but the most prominent were W. P. Andrus, a deputy in the office of County Clerk Fields, of Multnomah; former Deputy Fish Warden H. A. Webster, of Estacada; W. C. Babcock, of Oregon City, and J. U. Campbell, of Oregon City.

Although practically a stranger in this state, having come to Oregon from the east but two years ago, Mr. McAllister is looked upon as a suitable man for the position, particularly since he is not identified with any of the contending interests in the fishing industry. He is a member of the Travelers' Protective Association, and his election was strongly the choice of the entire board and Governor Chamberlain was strongly in his favor.

House Burns.

The residence of E. A. Phillpot in the east end of town was entirely destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. The fire originated at about 1 o'clock, and its origin is unknown.
