An $8,000,000,000 Crop Country.

Government Crop estimators feel assured of another large crop the ninth in succession. The chief statistician of the agricultural department estimates the value of this year's crop at a round $8,000,000,000. This, figures the New York World, "would pay the net interest-bearing national debt nine times over. Or it would pay the net national debt and leave enough to buy at par the stock of all the railroads in the country. It would nearly pay off the entire bonded debt of every American railroad. At assessed valuations it would buy every acre of land in New York city and replace every building in it, with a little remnant over equaling the combined assessed valuations of Chicago, New Orleans, St. Louis, Portland and San Francisco."

Panic makers will have a hard time in making hard times last very long in a country that produces an eight-billion-dollar crop every year—and this, we suppose, does not include dressed meats, poultry products and many other things more or less depending on the soil, and of course has no reference to manufactures.

Corn will as usual be the king of crops, but fortunately most of the estimated crop of 2,700,000,000 bushels is fed up near home. It would take to move it, says the World arithmetician, "2,520,000 30-ton cars, 540,000 more freight cars than there are in the country of every sort. The freight cars of all the world would not carry our wheat and corn. If there were cars enough and if the wheat and corn were loaded into 30-ton cars, 40 to a train, and trains were run at two-mile intervals at a speed including stops of 30 miles an hour night and day, it would take nearly six months for the procession to pass a reviewing stand. A bin built the size of a city block, 600 by 200 feet, would need to be more than six miles high to hold this wheat and corn alone!"

Such comparisons may help a little to give one an idea of the immensity of the volume of these crops.—Journal.

The Wolverine.

Time—Yankee Doodle.
There is a boat upon this creek
They call the Wolverine,
And from her stem unto her stern,
She's always neat and clean.

Onions.
Oh! Captain Willard keep it up,
Keep right on a trying;
Keep her engines eating oil,
And keep the water flying.

They ran her engines from above,
She is so very handy;
She swoops around just like a dove,
I tell you she's a dandy.

Onions.
She leaves Cornville at one o'clock
This speedy boat of ours,
And ties up at the Bandon dock
In just about two hours.

Onions.
Now you can ride upon this boat
For only fifty cents,
And if you want to ride on her,
You'd better hasten hence.

Onions. T. W. L.

BADLY SPRAINED ANKLE CURED

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings, of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Brummit, Hampton, Tenn. 5 and 10 cent sizes for sale by C. Y. Lowe.
