

A Foolish Policy

F. S. Perry and family passed through this city Monday on their way to Bandon where they will make their future home. Mr. Perry is one of the gentleman who was in this city a short time ago with the intention of establishing a veneer factory, though owing to the fact that it was impossible to secure a site at a reasonable figure they had to move the plant to Bandon for the future until land can be secured at a reasonable figure. Marshfield, North Bend and Bandon offered the gentlemen free sites for the factory but they would rather, for several reasons, establish the factory in this city. If Coquille had given these gentlemen a plot of land they would in a few months have a payroll which would amount to something in a few years. It seems that the citizens in other towns of the county are only too willing to give sites for manufacturing purposes, while Coquille demands prices which are exorbitant. We believe that it is a foolish policy to drive away payroll when these gentlemen did not ask Coquille for a site or a bonus but just the chance to secure land at a price which they would be able to buy and erect their buildings. —Sentinel.

It might be added that Bandon will give locations for many more such industries as the Veneering plant and prospects are very flattering for a number of them to come within the next year or two.

Cultivate the "Fieldsome" Spirit

This is the time of year when all of us like to be out of doors. Many who are not athletic love to be in the open air. They are "fieldsome." To them the salt laden breeze does not cause the anxious questioning of the yachtsman, "is there wind enough for sailing?" The rain which means that the tennis-mad friend must postpone his engagement to them has no annoyance. They put on a rubber coat, and paddle through the mud, revelling in the glory of the storm, the snow that costs our skating friend so much peace of mind demands no toil from them. Nature in all her moods is a cherished friend. Why should we not cultivate this fieldsome spirit? Only the young and vigorous can be athletic, but the fieldsome are of all ages and sexes. It has been said that there was no hope for the culture of our colleges until "the nine" deferred to the Muses. The athlete gets much from the forest and the stream; but he who is fieldsome gets more; he derives unconsciously a physical benefit that is mirrored in his happy mind. Does not the growth of the athlete into the fieldsome mark the growth of youth into maturity?—Boston Transcript.

Mystery at Oyster Bay

Oyster Bay, Aug. 17—The unusual activity at the Government executive office here, which has been apparent for almost a week, both day and night, has become the subject of considerable curiosity. Rudolph Forester, acting secretary to the president, and the force of clerks under him recently have been the hardest worked men in the village. Their duties begin early and at times have been continued far into the night. The executive office staff have been augmented by the arrival of two clerks from the Washington executive office.

Secretary Forester makes two trips almost every day to Sagamore Hill and each time brings back with him a mass of correspondence. His first visit, made in the forenoon usually consumes two or three hours. Recently he began making the night trip, leaving the office about 9 p. m. and remaining with the President frequently as late as midnight and sometimes after that hour.

Boy is Human Pin Cushion

Seattle Aug 18—Because Harold Springer, a 16-year-old schoolboy amused his playmates by sticking pins into himself, smiling all the while and apparently suffering no pain whatever, an excited neighbor telephoned to the health department that the boy was a leper. A physician was sent out to South Seattle to examine the boy. He found the youngster in the midst of a group of boys and girls who watched him with admiring awe while he jammed his face full of pins. He was apparently enjoying himself as much as were any of his audience.

A careful examination failed to show any trace of leprosy or any other ailment. The boy is perfectly healthy, but is able to thrust pins into any part of his body without pain.

Coos Bay Fair

The arrangement for the Southern Oregon District Fair to be held at Marshfield, August 26th to 29th, promises that it will be the largest fair ever held in this district. The work of repairing the old fair ground is nearly finished. The local people have given about $3,000, all of which was expended in making improvements. The fair grounds have not been used for fair purposes for a number of years so the grandstand was rebuilt to seat 2,000 people, a new pavilion was constructed for the exhibits and new stalls and sheds for the live stock.

The race track is in the best of condition. Fifteen or twenty horses have been in training there for some weeks and a better half mile track can hardly be found in the state. There are four events for each day and some fast time is expected. Horses are entered from California and from Curry and Douglas counties in Oregon as well as many of the Coos county horses. The races will be the best Coos Bay has ever seen.

The farmers throughout Coos county are being solicited to bring in exhibits and the fruit growers of Douglas county are also being seen by representatives of the fair with the result that those who want to exhibit will likely arrange a wagon load of fruit to be taken across the mountains. The fact that Coos Bay and Douglas county are only connected by a stage makes it a little difficult to get across with the exhibits, but live stock can be taken without any trouble and many of the Douglas county farmers have signified their intention of bringing their stock.

In fact every effort is being made to have the fair not only a county meeting, but a district gathering with all the counties represented.

Horse Thieves are Busy

Seattle, Wash., Aug 17—An organized gang of horse thieves is at work in Whatcom, Pierce, Skagit, King, Cowitz, Lewis, Skamania, and Clark counties, on the west side of the Cascades, and several counties on the east side.

Deputy Joe Hill declares that they are making a business of running fine stock across the northern and southern borders of the state. A band of stolen horses will be taken south to Oregon on the west side, and north into British Columbia on the east side. Hill says the thieves work together, and while the authorities have rounded up many of the best animals, hundreds have been driven off.

New York, Aug. 19—Ephraim Baylis regained his sight partially on his 89 birthday, after having been totally blind for 10 years. Mr. Baylis, who lives in Jamaica, has prayed constantly that sight be restored to him; and, he says that he has never lost faith that his prayer would be answered. Mr. Baylis suffered a stroke of apoplexy 10 years ago. While he was ill cataracts formed on his eyes, and he became stone blind.

Think They Have Gas

In the evidences of natural gas that are shown in the vicinity of Myrtle Point, the people here have prospects for a development that means more than anyone can fully realize, and it should be developed by local enterprise rather than fall to the lot of outside capital. A gentleman who has considerable experience in coal, oil and gas development says that is almost a certainty that a deposit of natural gas underlies this section. There is as strong evidence of the fact as is found anywhere and in his opinion it but awaits the drilling of a hole to make it available to the people. At any rate the small sums that are advanced to make the test would not be much of a loss if the gas is not found, while the finding of gas would make the promoters independent in the future on a small investment. The possibilities in the matter of cheap fuel cheap lights and power can hardly be estimated.—Enterprise.
