ACCORDING to report there was nothing said between Harriman and Governor Chamberlain in their recent conference at Pelican Lodge, about the Drain-Coos Bay line of road, but there is no indication that the road will not be built in the near future. What the people of Coos county want to do is to all pull together. What is good for one part of the county is good for the whole county; and what is good for one town is good for every town in the county. The thing to do is to lay aside all petty jealousies and work together as a united people for the development of the whole county and the sooner everyone realizes this fact, the sooner will the desired results be accomplished. Coos county is the richest part of Oregon, and then there are other counties through which a railroad would extend, when coming into this one that would make it a dividend paying proposition at once. If Mr. Harriman or any other railroad magnate would just take the time to investigate the situation, the railroad would be forth coming as soon as they could push it through. While Coos Bay and the Coquille valley are developing rapidly, yet they cannot reach the zenith of their possibilities until the railroad is completed through this section. Lets get busy and show Mr. Harriman that we need a railroad, and that he needs our railroad business. The railroad will be a developer of the country and the business will be a money maker for Mr. Harriman.

THE Fair at Marshfield this week is being well attended by people from Coos and adjoining counties and those in attendance say it is well worth the time and expense. The exhibits are good and the race program and other attractions are of the highest standard. Among the chief features of the fair is the concerts being given by the Bandon Concert Band. This excellent organization will give concerts at the Masonic Opera House on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week and there promises to be a big turnout at each concert.

Bandon by-the-Sea is becoming a more popular summer resort every year. When we get a railroad here once so that people from the interior can get in and out, there will be thousands come to this place every summer to enjoy the beautiful beach and the cool sea breeze.

State Fair

Great preparations are in progress for the State Fair to be held at Salem from September 14 to 19 and it is announced that the events of the year will surpass any previous effort. The Fair is going to be representative in size and importance. Ten thousand good, hard dollars are offered as prizes on livestock, agricultural and manufactured products. Eight counties of the state have arranged for complete exhibits, showing the extent and character of their various sources of wealth, and as a whole, it is believed the coming show will be unequalled on the coast in 1908. A racing program is provided reading like a romance when compared with the fairs of earlier years, but it is vouchered for. Two harness events will be contested where the prize will be $5000 each, and there will be six events with prizes of $1000 each. With such inducements, there can be no doubt that a classy lot of horses will be brought to the track. The management has cut out all betting at the track, which will have a tendency to force each horseowner to strive for first place and better races will result. It is also announced that the sale of beer has been discontinued. In place of beer stands a lunchroom will occupy the space under the grandstand.

In the concession quarter of the fair called the Corral, arrangements have been made for numerous side shows, free open air exhibits and other amusing features.

W. H. Carlyle has been engaged as dean of the livestock judges. He has acted in that capacity at the World's Fair and at a number of other expositions.

Arrangements will be made to run excursion trains from Portland over the Southern Pacific and the electric lines. Thursday, September 17, will be Portland day.

The fair grounds have been beautified by lawns and flower beds, many new show buildings erected, the grandstand rearranged, and all preparations are in hand for accommodating the record breaking crowd which is expected to attend the premier event of the Coast.—Telegram.

THERE are still many opportunities for investments and business in and around Bandon. There will be many new industries come here within the next five years that will greatly enhance the value of property, which, in comparison to the natural advantages of this and other places, is very cheap. The advantage of this city as a manufacturing center can easily be seen as we have an excellent harbor that is being made better every year, and will continue to be improved. We will always have a means of transportation, whether Mr. Harriman, Mr. Hill or any other magnate sees fit to build a railroad here or not, but there is no question, but that some of these gentlemen will get busy and build through here, at an early date, for the progress of the country cannot help but be an eye opener to them just as soon as they take the trouble to investigate.

A RAILROAD is soon to be built through Central Oregon by Mr. Harriman. It is not certain yet whether the route will be north and south or east and west. In fact there should be a road in each direction and they will both come sooner or later. Mr. Harriman says he is willing to build railroads as fast and as soon as he can be shown that such a road will be a dividend payer. Just let him take a trip through the country either from Drain or Roseburg into the Coquille Valley and Coos Bay country and if he is not convinced that a railroad to this place would be a dividend payer, then we won't say any more, that is if he thoroughly investigates the situation, from an unbiased standpoint. We have millions of dollars worth of business here for a railroad and will have more every year as the country develops, which will be more rapid than anyone can conceive of until he has looked into the conditions.

Windfall apples are wormy. Worms become moths and moths produce more worms. But hogs will eat windfall apples, worms and all. Therefore it behooves the careful orchardist to keep hogs in his orchard ready to eat every windfall apple as it drops.

Riverton Locals

E. H. Kern of Coquille was here last week surveying for a plat to accompany a request to the Interior department for a permit to build a coal bunker above this city.

J. H. Burns of Birmingham, Alabama is visiting his daughter Mrs. O. A. Kelly.

The saw mill started up last Monday.

On Tuesday of last week Mrs. O. A. Kelly and Mrs. Rohn met with a serious accident while driving on Front Street in Coquille. Their horse became frightened and the buggy was overturned, injuring both ladies, especially Mrs. Kelly, for whom it was necessary to summon a physician.

G. Gage has moved his machinery from the old mine and is now using it for sinking another vein of coal. Mr. Gage is a rustler and we predict for him a success in his new venture.

A movement is now on foot here to beautify our little city. The planting of ornamental shade trees heading the list.

Poison Rings.

The origin of the pretty custom of placing the wedding ring upon the finger of the bride seems to have sprung from the Egyptians, who presented the bridal ring as a token of intrusting the wife with all the husband's property. The custom was adopted by the early Christians, and thus it has reached us in the present day, when the ring is placed upon the bride's finger with the words, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."
Rings, however, have had other associations besides those of marrying and giving in marriage. Some Roman rings were hollow and filled with poison, obviously for the purpose of suicide, a crime then considered a virtue. A modern instance of this carrying death upon the finger is that of Condorcet, who when arrested by the notorious convention tore the jewel from his ring and drank the poison which lay in the hollow.

Stayathome—Oh, we're all right and getting along as well as could be expected.

Stayathome—She isn't so green as she was.

Wanderer—What's the matter? She isn't gray, I hope?

Stayathome—No; she's brown.

Wanderer—Brown?

Stayathome—Very married Samuel J. about five years ago, and she's wearing the Widow Green for the last Wanderer—What about you?

Stayathome—Well, I'm all right, if she's willing to be my color again. I'll
