The Gold Output

The Manufacturers' Record is circulating a postal card on the back of which is printed some interesting facts about the production of gold, past and present; together with some conclusions as to its effect upon the manufacture, trade and labor of the world. We can do no better than to present the facts as they are compiled.

"During the first half of the Nineteenth Century the total production of gold, was $787,000,000, while during the second half it amounted to $900,000,000. For the first time in the history of the world the production of gold exceeded $200, 000,000 in 1896, while in 1903 the output was above $350,000,000, and in 1907 it was $412,000,000. In other words, two year's production now will largely exceed the total production of the first half of the Nineteenth Century. The production of the twelve years from 1896 to 1907, both inclusive, was more than the total production of on the 16th day of November, 1908, the world from 1492 to 1895, a little over 400 years, was $8,700,000,-000.
