BANDON WOOLEN MILLS START BIG ORDER

Work Commenced on $80,000 worth of Merchandise This Week

MILLS WILL RUN AT FULL CAPACITY

This week the Bandon Woolen Mills started an $80,000 order for a Detroit firm and the mill will be run at full capacity until it is completed. Manager Bedillion stated to a representative of this paper Wednesday that it might be necessary to run at night part of the time so that this large order, together with other smaller ones might be finished by June 1, 1909. The woolen mill has enough orders ahead to keep it running at full blast for a year at least, and if business conditions open up in the east, as they appear to be at present, there will soon be sufficient work ahead to warrant the enlargement of the present plant. The local mill can weave cloth of the finest fabric as was demonstrated by the cloth taken to the recent Marshfield fair, and the work is so excellent that the demand for the finished product is continually increasing.

Manager Bedillion is very sanguine over the outlook for future business for the woolen mills and feels much encouraged with the past record and the future prospects.

School Opens October 5th

The Bandon public schools will open for the school year on October 5th. It had been hoped that the new school building would be completed so as to start the school year in it, but unavoidable delay has necessitated the beginning in the old building, but it is hoped that the building will be ready for occupancy by January 1st.

The school board has met with a number of difficulties that were not anticipated when the movement for the new school but they have successfully overcome all obstacles and now the work will be pushed along with all possible speed.

Protect your little school girls from the cold winds by getting coats for them at Rosa Cos store. The prices are right.

READY TO BLOW OUT BIG ROCK

Blast Will be Made as Soon as Under Current Permits

ONLY ROCK LEFT IN RIVER CHANNEL

Everything is in readiness to blow out the last big rock in the channel of the Coquille river at this place, and the blast will be made just as the swift under current from the ocean, which no doubt came from a storm at sea, subsides to a sufficient extent to allow the blast.

When this rock is blown out, the last obstruction to the channel will be removed and when the pilejetty is completed so that the sand on the bar will all be washed out we will have water deep enough to allow most any kind of a vessel to come into this harbor.

The work of driving piles will commence as soon as the necessary preliminaries can be arranged, and it will then be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. It is the intention to have the work all finished this fall if possible, and there is every reason to believe that it can be done.

Those who have the matter in charge say that every man they approached on the subject is eager to help out, and that all are exceedingly anxious to see the work completed.

LATER

Since the above was put in type and just before we go to press the anticipated blast was made, and the scene was indeed a beautiful one. As to the effect on the rock it is not yet known as it will be necessary to dive down and inspect the work before the result can be certain.

Ball Game

The ball game last Sunday on which the single lads had counted so much for so long to wallop the married man to a frazzle, turned out to go just the opposite way, and the way the old matrimonial veterans distinguished themselves against the young bloods was an event that will go down in the history of Bandon.

The single men had in their bunch of players several ex Coos county league players but the way the ball was pounded so unmercifully around over the acreage, and through the fingers of the crackerjacks, the spectators, had they been strangers would have had to believe that the aforementioned ex leaguers had never seen a base ball.

Billy Hohn, the boy wonder of this vicinity and the pride of everybody for miles around was in the box for the single men, naturally because he is single himself, but his wonderful cuts, drops, spit balls and other curves unknown to the outside world failed to even phase the opponents, and instead each volunteer would walk up to the plate, grit all the teeth he had left and mash out the fall.

Warren Littlefield did the twirling stunt for the married men for five innings and was a credit to the aggregation.

Hohn was relieved in the 5th by Ray McNair, an ex leaguer, but Ray only stood the bombardment 2 innings and then Hohn went back and worried through the game.

Littlefield also retired in the 5th and gave his position to a tall gentleman by the name of Holman, who didn't have any uniform, the uniform didn't make any difference, however, when it came to pitching, and the way he placed them over the pan and the way the little boys failed to hit them was a caution.

It was murmured around by several strangers that the married men could easily be distinguished by the hump on their backs, but for "ah that" and "ah that" they might have had humps on their backs and their teeth all gone and generally disfigured, but at the close of the four or five hours of strenuous playing for nine innings, the old war horses crossed the pan 13 times, and the gilded youth with blushing cheeks and curly locks only had time to make eleven.

They are a very determined set of youngsters, however, and are going to win a game from the married men if it takes all summer.

Bob Bedillion umpired the game and the only time he didn't give satisfaction were on occasions when he didn't see the plays.

The game was played for the benefit of the band, and that organization kindly condescended to draw lots and select 6 or 7 its members to do the music act. These 6 or 7 members strolled to the ball park, through the woods and gathered up enough courage to play two parts of a march at two different times. Where the rest of the band was is not known, and where the rest of the music belonging to the part of the band that was there is not known either. But the band got the money anyway and that is all that is necessary. Get the money.

Launch Party

A little launch party enjoyed an outing at Rocky Point Sunday evening taking well filled baskets of good things to eat, and to say they had a jolly time would be only putting it in a mild form. Those who went were Mr. and Mrs. Logan and daughters Miss Anna and Mona, Misses Hamlin and Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kopf, and Messrs. Pressy, Walstrom and Culver.

Rohn-Caswell

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at the M. F. parsonage at North Bend Friday September 4th, Rev. Lacy, officiating, when Curtis A. Rohn of Bandon and Miss Daisy B. Caswell, formerly of Ludington, Mich., were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock.

Mr. Rohn and his brother own the Rohn Shingle Mill east of town and by upright business methods and constant business push they have succeeded in working up a large foreign and domestic trade for the output of their shingles.

The bride comes very highly recommended as a young lady of many accomplishments, and was a great favorite in social circles of her home city.

The happy couple will make their home in Bandon, where they are cozily located in a suite of furnished housekeeping rooms in the Laundry building. They will be welcomed to the social and business circles of Bandon, and hosts of friends join in extending congratulations, and best wishes for a long and prosperous journey through life.

T. W. Robison has sold the Bandon Hardware store to Geo. P. Laird and Thomas Nielson and these two gentlemen took possession Monday morning. T. W. ROBISON

Margaret Iles Co.

The Margaret Iles Co. appeared in Bandon again Wednesday night and put on their famous play: The Girl and the Gambler. The opera house was filled to its capacity and that the entertainment was enjoyed would only be putting it in a mild form, as was evidenced from the constant applause coming from the audience.

The Iles Co. seems to be growing in popularity with each visit to Bandon, and there are more reasons than one why should. In the first place they always put on high class plays, and then the character of the troupe goes a long way toward making them popular, as the company is made up of ladies and gentlemen in every sense, and as they are making their home in Coos county they spent their money here, so that people feel that the money spent for the plays will be kept here and not carried off to some other place as is usually the case with a theatrical troupe.

The Iles Co. will be here again next Wednesday night when they will put on the world famous play Rip Van Winkle and they will no doubt be greeted with a crowded house.

The Arc Light Bowling Alleys have been the place of much amusement during the last week and a good many high scores have been recorded. Mr. Sellmer offers $2.50 as a cash prize for the highest score each month and up to date this month several crack bowlers have been on the trail. A. Christiansen started in with 207, then C. Tuttle followed with 214 and on last Monday S. E. Jenkins rolled 227. This is the highest score yet made on the alleys. Miss May Hamlin still holds the championship among the ladies with a score of 146.

TUG BOATS NEAR- ING COMPLETION

Will be Launched in about Four Weeks Both Strong Boats

ONE TUG TO BE USED IN THIS RIVER

The two tug boats now being built at Price's ship yards will be ready for launching in about four weeks. One boat is 100 feet long and 22 feet, six inches wide while the other is 94 feet long and 22 feet wide. Each boat will be equipped with powerful machinery and will be an ocean going tug. The larger one will go to Gardner where it will be used on the Umpqua river and the other one will be used here. Besides having the powerful machinery for the pulling of boats they will be equipped with steam towing machinery which can be used in exceedingly rough water for pulling the vessel up closer to the tug and thus taking up the slack rope and preventing the vessel from getting loose.

After the tugs are launched here they will be towed down to San Francisco where their machinery will be installed and they will then return for use in their respective places.

Mr. Price has been in Frisco for a few days looking after business interests there, both in connection with the boats under construction here and other boats he is figuring on for future building.

Accident Insurance

Col. C. P. Blumenrother has an ad in this issue of the RECORDER for accident insurance for saw mill men, loggers, lumbermen etc. It would be a good thing for these men to look up the situation as they are liable to accidents at any time and in case they are disabled for a time they can be drawing full benefits if they have an accident policy.

Fishermen go to Rosa Cos store for the best oil clothes and gum boots in the market.
