Kermit Roosevelt Beats up Voyager

Naples, April 6—Parental dis approval has been set upon Kermit Roosevelt's liking for poker games because the son of the ex-President of the Uuited States engaged in a fistic encounter with a fellow passenger whose remarks offended him. Though he praised his son's pluck, Mr. Roosevelt let Kermit know that such incidents would not be tolerated.

The encounter followed Kermit's efforts to bluff a German player in the poker game aboard the Hamburg. After losing a pot the German exclaimed:

"Einen eingebildeten luemmel und rowdy." (A stuck up ill-bred rowdy.) Kermit answered in German:

"Was wollten sie damit sagen? Ich habe sie nicht genug vertanden: Sagen sie das noch eimnal." (What did you mean? I did not exactly understand. Say it again.)

The German player exclaimed in English:

"You think you are better than a German Crown Prince."

"Ill show what I am," said young Roosevelt.

He arose from his seat and attacked the German, who was not only older, but had considerable advantage in weight.

Roosevelt landed hard punches that winded his opponent, and then finished him at will.

Trolleys Without Tracks

They are forever trying something new down in California. Its a new potato, or a new orange, a new breed of cactus or a new trap for the tenderfeet. There's something doing all the time.

The latest leaks out from Santa Barbara where a group of capitalists have applied for a franchise for a trackless trolley line. Wires are strung over the public road, and farmers, tradesmen, pleasure-seekers and others having the proper equipment hit onto the wire and away they go.

True, this line is not in actual operation as yet; but it is talked of; the franchise is actually applied for and thereby lies the right of common interest to discuss the matter. It is said, moreover, that some half dozen very short lines of this railless trolley are in operation in the suburbs of the European cities. Of course, if the business makes good in Europe we shall expect even better results in the glorious climate of California

Yet, to the uninformed aud uninitiated. there are many complexities suggested in the contemplation of this invention. There are a number of questions to be asked, if not answered. Suppose that a load of coal monoplizes the line and a party of high-steppers gets on the wire to go some where or anywhere, so so they go in a hurry, what would happen? We can easily perceive transportation problems here that would put rate making, common points, water competition and all that sort of thing in the shade. We can see nothing but a complete covering of parallel lines, slow wires and fast wires, freight and passenger wires, east or northbound, west or southbound wires. We can conceive of no invention so opportunely arrived as this in connection with the farmer's uplift idea, none that, in his higher development, should contribute more to the gaiety of the nations.—Telegram.

Booster Clubfor Myrtle Point

Editor J. C. Savage of the Coquille Sentinel who is secretary of the Coquille Commercial club, was sent to Myrtle Point Saturday as a special emissary to arouse the Myrtle Point people to the need of organizing a commercial club here to act with the other commercial clubs of the county on matters in which the entire county is interested. He remained until Monday and he and Orvil Dodge interviewed most of the business men. As a result of their efforts a meeting was called to be held at the Hermann hall Monday evening.

At the hour for the meeting a representative body of the business men had assembled and plans for a permanent organization were at once inagurated. The need of haste was shown by the fact that the various commercial bodies were to be represented before the county court on Tuesday to urge an appropriation for an exhibit at the Alaska-Pacific-Yukon exposition at Seattle.

W. T. Dement was chosen as chairman of the temporary organization, and J. O. Stemmler was elected secretary. After a letter from the Marshfield club was read, inviting co-operation in the county appropriation matter, the meeting proceeded to the election of permanent officers. C. C. Carter was elected president; Dr. S. C. Endicott vice-president; J. O. Stemmler, secretary, and W. F. Hendricks, treasurer.

L. C. Bargelt, S. D. Pulford and Orvil Dodge were named as a committee on constitution and by-laws to report at a meeting to be called in the near future by the president. It was agreed that the name of the new organization should be the "Myrtle Point Commercial Club." The question of incorporating the club and selling shares was favorably considered and will probably be settled at next meeting.

It was agreed to send a committee of five to Coquille to meet with the county court Tuesday and, with the delegations from the clubs, urge an appropriation for an exhibit at Seattle. The following were named as such committee: C. C. Carter, J. O Stemmler, L. A. Roberts, T. D. Guerin and Orvil Dodge. The same committee was authorized to confer with a similar committee from the Coquille club in reference to issuing a booklet descriptive of Coquille and Myrtle Point and the Coquille valley.

The meeting adjourned to meet again on call of the president.—Enterprise.
