Do You Hear Well?

The Stolz Electrophone—A New, Scientific and Practical Invention for Those Who Are Deaf or Partially Deaf—May Now Be Tested in Your Own Home.

Deaf or partially deaf people may now make a month's trial of the Stolz Electrophone at home.

This is a natural, important, and scientific method for the final selection of the one completely satisfactory hearing aid in a deaf and expensive hearing device. This new invention is a Patent No. 261,225, readers of this paper will find it a most interesting, enlightening, and frequently helpful device as trumpets, horns, tubes, etc., are used.

It is a tiny electric telephone which is applied to the ear, and which, in a few minutes, will give you a most astonishing and convincing idea of the clearness of all sounds. It overcomes the buzzing and roaring ear noises, and also so constantly and electrically exercises the vital parts of the ear that, usually, the natural, unaided hearing itself is gradually restored.

Prominent Business Man's Opinion

STOLZ ELECTROPHONE CO., Chicago—I am pleased to say that the Electrophone is very satisfactory. It is small in size and great in hearing qualities. MANICURED HOTEL WAITERS.

Latest Innovation in the Service of a Leading Caravanary.

Manicured hotel servants will be presented to-day to the guests of the Wolcott and it will be the initial presentation of a finger-nail condition that no other hotel in New York—or in the United States for that matter—ever has considered. The New York World says. The management has been impressed for three or four months with the general untidiness of waiters, bell-boys and other employees exclusive of the clerical staff and yesterday the following pronouncement was issued:

"Beginning on this date every employee of the Wolcott who comes in contact with the guests of the hotel will report daily to Miss Cora M. Parker, the official manicure, to have his or her finger nails clipped, cleaned, polished and filed.

"This order is mandatory and no excuse will be accepted for disobedience except illness or other excuse which the management shall deem to be reasonable.

"A room has been provided for the manicure near the waiters' dressing room, and she will be on duty from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m.

"No charge will be made for the service, which tends to promote cleanliness and which will appeal to the guests of the hotel. There is no reason why the finger nails should not receive the same attention as the hands."

The pronouncement of the edict was followed by two waiters making immediate application for treatment—Serath Carros and Antipolis Choganos. Carros has a large hand with spatulated fingers caused by close attention to the strings of a violin and to balancing saucers on his finger tips. Choganos has a long, slender hand, with oval nails. Each candidate was polished off in ten minutes.

"Fine," said Carros. "I like him. The young lady, she very nice. Don't hurt, just a little tickle."

Small Clifford had frequently accompanied Walter to the home of the latter's grandma, where cookies were always forthcoming. One day while there the cookies did not materialize at the usual time, so Clifford said: "Mamma says I must never ask for anything to eat, but I'm awfully hungry, just the same."

RAILROAD SAFETY DEVICE.

The "Death Button" Adds to the Subway Traveler's Security.

Safety in railroad travel is a vitally interesting topic, and an article in the Circle, entitled, "Making Railroad Travel Safer," gives some remarkable illustrations of the many inventions and automatic appliances which tend to guard the public from danger. One of these is called the "death button," making provision as it does in case of the sudden death or inactivity of the one in charge at the moment on lines where electric current has been installed as a propelling power.

The well-known "death button," now in use in the Manhattan subway trains is a safety device in line with this future development.

In the top of the electric controller handle, which is moved in a circle over a row of contact buttons by the motor man when he regulates the speed, is a little plunger which is the real factor in throwing the electric current off and on. It sticks through the handle and is held up by a spring.

Before he can get any current at all this button must be pushed down by the palm of the motorman's hand, after which he can move the handle about and adjust the strength of the current at will.

But should he drop dead at his post, or for any reason remove his hand from the lever, the little button would spring up from contact, the current would leave the motors and the car stop.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S WHITE STEAMER

When their labors were completed, the officials reported unanimously to Mr. Taft in favor of the White, and accordingly, a car of this make was immediately ordered from the manufacturers, The White Company of Cleveland.

The new car was delivered to Mr. Taft in Washington a few days before his inauguration and since that time it has been in almost constant use. There has not been a day when the president or some members of his family have not been seen riding around the national capital in the new car. It is hinted that Mr. Taft likes fast traveling and that when he rides out into the open country, he does not always insist that the speed of the car be kept within the legal limits.

C. A. Hawkins, manager of the Pacific coast branch of The White Company, 1470 Market street, San Francisco, said recently to a correspondent of this paper: "We are receiving many inquiries each day asking for full details regarding the construction of Mr. Taft's car and in reply we are sending copies of our catalog. Mr. Taft's car is exactly like any other Model 'M' 40 horsepower White Steamer except that his car has the United States coat of arms painted on either door. In other words, when we make a car for the president of the United States there is no way in which we can make it any better than the car which you, or anybody else, can purchase from us.

"Some of those writing to me about Mr. Taft's car say that although they are very desirous of having a car like Mr. Taft's, they are afraid that such a car is somewhat larger and more expensive than they desire. In reply to these letters I point out that our Model 'O' 20 horsepower car is exactly like our 40 horsepower model, except as regards the size of the different parts. The principle of construction is exactly the same and the smaller car possesses all the desirable qualities of our larger model. In other words, I point out that they can secure an exact duplicate of Mr. Taft's car for $4,000, or a car of the same quality but of smaller dimensions for only $2,000. Judging by the demand for White cars, a good proportion of those desiring to purchase automobiles are quite content to trust President Taft's judgment as to the best and most desirable make."

When the announcement was made several months ago that Mr. Taft would use an automobile during his term as president, much rivalry developed among the leading manufacturers for the honor of selling him a car and the public watched with interest to see what Mr. Taft's choice would be. The knowing ones predicted that the White Steamer would be selected and they pointed out that President Roosevelt had used White Steamers for two years at his summer home at Oyster Bay and had recommended this make to Mr. Taft as the most desirable.

This prediction proved correct, although Mr. Taft did not rely solely on Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation but, with his usual thoroughness, determined to have an investigation made of all the principal makes. Accordingly, he asked several officers of the War department to look into the matter for him and they tested many makes of cars, visited a number of factories so that they might see what materials were used and, finally, they investigated the records of the different types of cars in public contests and in private service.
