BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION
For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by C. Y. Lowe.

THE CANNON BURST.
Tragedy in a Celebration to Honor President Tyler.
In 1844 an accident took place in the American navy—the explosion of a big gun, the Peacemaker, on board the frigate Princeton, off Broad bay, in the Potomac river, eight miles below Washington. Those killed were Abel Upshur of Virginia, secretary of state; Thomas W. Gilmer, governor of Virginia; Commodore Ketnon of the navy, Representative Sykes of New Jersey, Representative Maxey of Maryland and Mr. Gardiner, an ex-member of congress from New York. The severely wounded were William Wilkins of Pennsylvania, secretary of war; Miss Wickliffe, daughter of the postmaster general; Colonel Dade, Colonel Benton, Judge Phelps of Vermont, Commodore Stockton, commander of the Princeton, and nine seamen. On Feb. 28, 1844, President Tyler, the members of his cabinet and their families and many other prominent persons, said to number 400, were invited by Commodore Stockton to spend the day on the frigate Princeton, which was lying at anchor off Alexandria. After the guests were on board anchor was weighed for a short sail on the Potomac, and the ship proceeded down the river to a point below Fort Washington. On the trip down the heaviest piece of ordnance on the frigate was fired several times, presumably as a matter of entertainment for the company. The gun had been constructed from a model made by Commodore Stockton, and President Tyler expressed a decided interest in the weapon. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon on the return trip the Princeton anchored off Broad bay, and the company was invited to luncheon in the cabins below the gun deck. After luncheon Commodore Stockton proposed that the gun be fired once more as a salute, he said, to the memory of the great peacemaker, George Washington. President Tyler, his cabinet and a number of gentlemen repaired to the gun deck. As the gun was fired the breech end from the trunnion's back was blown off, and this section was split in twain. One-half of it fell on Secretary Upshur. Two sailors removed it, but the secretary expired in a few moments. Governor Gilmer had been struck and killed by this section of the gun before it fell Mr. Upshur. The party on the gun deck was scattered, and the whole ship shook under the force of the explosion. The excitement was great. The bodies were removed from the Princeton, taken to Washington, placed in hearses at the wharf and carried to the White House, where they lay in the east room till the day of the funeral—a day of general public mourning.—Exchange.

EASTER CARD PARTY.

Decorations and Prizes Should Be Springlike and Pretty.
An Easter card party should be springlike and pretty. If you can afford it have the house decorated with spring flowers—daisies, jonquills and daffodils. The score cards should be ornamented with little bells suggestive of Easter bells, and have the partners find each other by matching the cards to see whose ribbons are alike. The bells may be fastened to the cards with ribbon bows. During the card playing have mineral water, salted nuts and candies passed and have the refreshments later. The prizes may be suggestive of Easter. Give a pretty growing lily in an attractive jardiniere for one, a low dish filled with growing pansies for another, an Easter hare filled with candies for a third, and several little chicks for the gentleman's booby prize, or a live rabbit if you think it will be all right. It will cause much fun and laughter. Have the favors on the refreshment table at each corner or pass them after serving if you do not have a sit down supper. An amusing idea is to pass to the gentlemen a big Jack Horner pie—you can make it yourself by covering a bread pan with crape papers—and another to the ladies. In the pies have all kinds of Easter conceits—china and paper mache rabbits and hares, eggs filled with candies, etc.—and let them draw them with ribbons that tie the presents with long ends that come through slits in the paper. Serve for refreshment chicken consommé in cups, egg salad and creamed chicken breasts, fees in the forms of eggs and cakes and coffee in demitasses.

THE JAPANESE FERN.

For Successful Growing the Plant Needs Plenty of Moisture.
Many persons who admire the Japanese fern balls which do so well for some home gardeners and fall utterly for others know little of the character of the plant, thousands of which are imported each season. The scientific name is Davallia bullata, but it is a species of the harefoot fern that is a native to Japan. It has a creeping root which runs along the surface of the ground, and from it small, fibrous roots are thrown out as feeders. These creeping root stocks, or rhizomes, are gathered by the Japanese and closely fastened over frames filled with sphagnum moss, which retains moisture in abundance when the plants are growing. The Japanese love to grow these ferns in all sorts of odd shapes, such as houses, animals, wreaths, pagodas, boats and figures, but few except the balls are imported. The chief reason for failure to have the ferns green is that they are not given enough moisture and are kept in too hot rooms. It is well to immerse the baskets occasionally in a tub of tepid water and never let them dry out. Dusts Automatically. Even the enterprising housewife has failed to find a method of keeping the dust off the window shades. It settles on the upper portion of the shade, being very perceptible when the shade is pulled down. She hates to get at it with a duster, as that requires the aid of a stepladder to reach it. A Canadian inventor offers an excellent solution of the problem in the automatic duster for window shades shown in the accompanying illustration. The duster is constructed as a part of the roller on which the shade revolves. As the latter is allowed to go up or down the duster automatically wipes off the surface of that part of the shade passing over the roller. As the shade is generally raised or lowered at least once a day, the shade is given at least a daily dusting. This attachment should prove of great value where white shades are employed, keeping them clean and thus prolonging their usefulness.

Newer Than Post Cards.
The sadly overworked picture postal has blossomed out in a new guise which is really worth while. It is made of fine white card of excellent quality, and instead of the usual picture on the back there is a selected quotation or motto beautifully printed and hand illuminated. The postals are attractive enough to be given the dignity of a frame and would often solve the problem of a valentine gift, which represents small money value. The conventional flower borders on some of the cards are exquisitely tinted, and the quotations chosen cover a large variety of subjects.
