OF INTEREST TO FARMERS AND MECHANICS

Farmers and mechanics frequently meet with slight accidents and injuries which cause them much annoyance and loss of time. A cut or bruise may be cured in about one-third the time usually required by applying Chamberlain's Liniment as soon as the injury is received. This liniment is also valuable for sprains, soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. There is no danger of blood poisoning resulting from an injury when Chamberlain's Liniment is applied before the parts become inflamed and swollen. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Lorimer Chosen on 95th Ballot

Springfield, Ill, May 26.—Congressman William Lorimer, of the Sixth Congressional District was elected United States Senator today by the joint session of the General Assembly on the 95th ballot, with 102 votes.

The election of Lorimer came about through a coalition of Democratic Assemblyman and the anti-Hopkins Republicans. The Hall of Representatives through the hours preceding the close of the deadlock was crowded with a host of persons. Strong efforts were made by former Senator Hopkins' aides to head off the break to Lorimer, but they were unavailing. The vote of Mr. Shurtleff, the 94 representative to vote for Lorimer, made the 101st vote, the vote which made the election of Lorimer absolute. Two House members did not vote—Daley and Hope—and with Senator Schmitt absent the total voting strength of the joint session was 200, 50 in the Senate and 150 in the House.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Monkey Faced Owls. On the banks of the Santa Ana river, in southern California, is a queer colony. It is situated among the cliffs which rise above the river, and in passing during the day one would not imagine the place was inhabited, for the members of the colony are fast asleep in the chambers of the cliffs. At dusk there is a change. At every one of the openings with which the rocks are perforated appears a face so humanlike in its expression that the beholder is apt to fancy he is seeing the pixies and elves of which he heard in childhood. The faces belong to a family having the name of Strix pratineola, or monkey faced owl. In the holes of the cliffs they pass their days and rear their young. At night they emerge in flocks and search the fields for mice and insects.

Game of Partners. In this game one player personates a lawyer. The rest choose partners and sit down in pairs in two rows, facing each other. The lawyer walks down the rows and asks a question of any one whom she pleases. This question must be addressed to one, but must invariably be answered by the partner, and if the principal speaks at all he is subject to a fine.

The partner must answer promptly and as absurdly as possible. The fun is the way in which the partners try the patience of those for whom they speak, answering in as opposite a way as they can to the known opinions of those for whom they are speaking. It is also difficult to remember not to answer a question addressed directly to oneself.

Why It Groaned. There is an old story, brief, but instinct with a dread warning, which it may not be out of place to recall for those who have never heard it: A boy had wandered into an orchard one windy day late in the spring. He stopped under a gnarled old apple tree which, under the pressure of the strong blast, was swaying and creaking and moaning as if in greatest agony.

"What on earth are you making all that fuss about?" the boy asked, in some derision. "Your moaning and groaning are enough to make a black cat turn pale."

"O-o-o-oh," croaked the tree dismally, "I guess if you were as full of green apples as I am you'd moan and groan too."

Facts About Goldfish. The original color of the goldfish was not gold, as many people have supposed, but light green, with a tinge of bronze. Careful breeding of the fish as pets has gradually produced the orange gold shade which now makes the little creatures so attractive.

It has been noted that goldfish have escaped from the public fountains of Washington into the Potomac river. The offspring of these runaway pets, raised in the new and more natural conditions afforded by the broad stream, have gradually regained their original light greenish garb, it is said. —Chicago News.

Just For Fun. Why is the shoemaker's the best trade going? Because his work is soled before it is finished.

Why should a bootmaker always be happy? Because if he loses his "all" he can buy "awl" again without much trouble.

Why does a conductor punch a hole in your car ticket? To let you pass through.

If all the seas were dried up, what would old Neptune say? I really haven't an ocean (a notion).—Philadelphia Ledger.

Scotland's Thistle. This is the story of how the thistle came to be the badge of Scotland. When the Danes invaded the country a night surprise was attempted. In order to more completely hide their advance the Danish soldiers walked barefoot. For awhile all went well till one of the Danes happened to tread on a thistle. The pain made him cry out, and his cry disclosed the fact of the intended assault. The Scots at once took to their arms and routed the invaders. The thistle thereafter became the national emblem.

Justice Is Blind. A game played by any number of persons, one of whom, representing Justice, is blindfolded. Justice is given a seat in the middle of the room, and a second player lends up the others, one by one, and asks Justice's opinion of each. Whenever the opinion is correct, as decided by a majority of the company, Justice changes places with the person judged.

They Like the Water. The Japanese bathe oftener than any other race in the world, and it is rare to find a boy or girl of six who cannot swim. In some of the villages there is an ordinance to fine the father if his children are not good swimmers at the age of eight. From the time a baby is a year old it is carried to the public baths.

Little Bobby Bucket. Little Bobby Bucket. Didn't like his school; Thought his teacher horrid; Didn't like the rule.

Never knew his lessons; Only liked to play; Such a foolish Bobby; Naughty all the day.

Got so many whippings; Didn't care a bit; Teased and plagued his teachers; Wouldn't ever quit.

Some time he'll be sorry; Naughty, naughty boy! How he'll wish he'd studied; For wisdom leads to joy.
