Mrs. Anselmo was called to Marshfield on business last week, and before going she had the misfortune to fall from a sidewalk about a foot high, breaking the small bone in her right leg. The City Meat Market has moved into its new quarters recently vacated by the Smith Bros. Market and the building has been newly papered, new fixtures put in and other improvements are being made so that when all is completed it will present the finest appearance of any market in the county. This enterprising firm is succeeding in building up a big business here and they are surely deserving of it all.

Last Thursday evening about 20 of the friends of J. H. Jones called upon him, unannounced and reminded him that he had passed another milestone in the journey of life. The Saturday previous was Mr. Jones' birthday but owing to unavoidable conditions the surprise could not be carried out until Thursday evening. The evening was spent in playing games and general enjoyment, and the usual tempting viands of such occasion were served.

The productivity and possibilities of Coquille valley upland soil has been demonstrated by Mr. and Mrs. E. From, who live near the school house. From a few rows of logan berry vines across their one lot last season they sold $50 worth of berries. The prospect for this seasons crop are as good or better than last year. With such an income from a portion of one lot the possibilities in acres is a mere matter of figures.—Enterprise.

Last Thursday was C. E. Kopf's birthday, (we wont say what one) and a number of friends who happened to find out, planned and successfully carried out a big surprise on him. He was kept entirely in the dark and was absolutely unsuspecting when he went to the door to admit what he supposed to be a couple of callers, but beheld when the door was opened, in filed a whole regiment. The "victim" finally recovered the shock and did the best he could to entertain the guests. The joke of it was that Mrs. K. didn't know much more about it than the victim himself as she was only taken into the confidence of the "intruders" the night before. Suffice to say it was a jolly crowd, and after some time was spent in playing games, an elaborate luncheon (we could not count the courses) was served.

Preparations for a fine time are being made and all of Bandon and the country for miles around will turn out to make it a success.

Government to Push to Limit

The suit commenced about a year ago to cancel the patents on the fraudulent timber entries of C. A. Smith will likely be pushed to a final hearing soon. The case is in the hands of Attorney General Wickersham who is admitted to be the most capable person holding the position in recent years, and it is understood he will leave no stone unturned in his effort to secure the cancelled entries.

It was a similar charge that formed the basis for the trial and conviction of the late United States Senator Mitchell.—Harbor.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

FOR A CHANGE.

If you were I
And I were you,
Just changed about,
I wonder who
Would get the worst
Of such a deal?
And just how you
And I would feel.

If I were you,
It seems to me,
At several points
A chance I see
To quite improve
Upon your plan
And make of you
A better man.

If you were I,
Could you indeed
Along my lines
Of work succeed,
Or would you make
A wretched mess
And bring upon
Yourself distress?

I wonder if
We'd ever sigh
If I were you
And you were I
And wish again
On hotted knee
To be the ones
We used to be.

His Limitations.

"I hear your family is going to take you into society, Ench-Charley?"
"Well, they do it at their own risk."
"Ain't you going to get nice about it?"
"Oh, I suppose I will have to stand for the clavhammer and the accordion hat, but I'll be dinged if I will eat soup with my fork."

Her Loss.
"My wife is very ambitious."
"That is a good quality."
"Yes, but there are no Marathon talking matches."

One Accomplishment.

"Do you play the piano?" asked the ingenious young man who was trying very hard to make conversation.
"No," replied the self made man; "I never took music lessons on but one instrument, and that was many years ago."
"And what was that?"
"The sawbuck."
