

Gris Harriman and Field

Chautauqua Special to Chicago Tribune.

Professor Charles Zueblin, formerly of the University of Chicago, at the Chautauqua Assembly tonight declared that the late Marshall Field was an example of a man overspecialized in business and deficient in culture. Then he asserted the United States should pay E. H. Harriman $1,000,000 a year to run all the railroads.

"A wonderful man was Marshall Field," said the sociologist. "He built up one of the greatest businesses in the world. And yet this business genius made the most pernicious will ever made. It is not only foolish, but dangerous—the greatest invitation to anarchy he could have made.

"Mr. Field made only a few benefactions, which are now hampering the City of Chicago as they have hampered the University of Chicago in the past.

"Then he left his enormous fortune to his little grandsons—a few millions at a time to be doled out to them in the course of about 50 years. Although dead, he insists on controlling his store and his wealth for 50 years. He couldn't take it with him, and so he ties it up and stays with it in person.

"What is the effect of this on his grandsons? Why, nothing but a miracle can save those grandsons from damnation.

"It would be profitable for the United States government to pay Mr. Harriman a salary of $1,000,000 a year or so and give him a free hand to run the railroads of the country as he pleased for the good of the country. He could do it well, as he has shown by his success in running them for himself.

"Emphatically, however, the Government should insist that he keep his hands off the finances of the country. In the railroad world he is a genius, but in the financial world he is a pest.

"Harriman is a kind of financial prestidigitator. He is the kind of man to take $50,000,000 in one hand, transfer it to the other hand, when, lo, and behold, there is $100,000,000 in the other hand. It is wonderful and, unfortunately, true. He is one of the overspecialized business men who disregards the public morals—men of force who are violators of law.

CHOLERA INFANTUM CURED

"Something like two years ago my baby which was then about a year old, was taken seriously ill with cholera infantum, vomiting and purging profusely," writes J. F. Dempsey of Dempsey, Ala. "I did what I could to relieve her but did her no good, and being very much alarmed about her went for a physician but failed to find one, so came back by Elder Bros & Carter's store and Mr. Elder recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. I procured a bottle of it, went home as quickly as possible and gave the baby a dose of the remedy. It relieved her in fifteen minutes and soon cured her entirely." For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Death of Mrs. Pomeroy

With solemn requiem and impressive word of the church, the final sad rites over the remains of Mrs. Lizzie Harper Pomeroy were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the city cemetery. Exequies were conducted at the home of Dr. L. L. Mahan and at the grave Rev. B. C. Ansley spoke the words of the burial service. The funeral procession was one of the longest seen here in years, and throughout the entire city a lull in the busy hurry of life told of the universal impress the sad death of so estimable and lovable a lady had had; unconsciously or otherwise, the whole town paid its respect to the dead, and from heart to heart was throbbled out that indefinable feeling of sympathy for the living whom the blow has left anguished and sorrow racked.

Dissolution occurred the previous day, and while the gradual but certain approach of that mystic end had long been realized by members of the family, consciousness of the inevitable could not alleviate the sting implanted by the Grim Messenger.

Mrs. Pomeroy was the personification of all the traits which make woman truly womanly. Gentle and refined, kind and loving, her life was an exemplification of all that is beautiful in human nature, and the sublimity of her Christian devotion and submission to the will of Him who doeth all things for the best was divine in its strength and purity.

Mrs. Lizzie Harper Pomeroy was born in Alabama, January 16, 1856. With her parents she removed to Texas in girlhood, settling in Grimes county, where she subsequently married Mr. Joseph Harper. At his death, she, with a brother, took up her residence in Oregon, and there after the elapse of years, became the wife of the surviving husband, Mr. Pomeroy. Other immediate relatives are: Two daughters, Mrs. L. L. Mahan of Hempstead, Mrs. H. Lorenz of Coquille, a son, Joseph Harper of Austin, and three brothers, R. D. Dickson and Robert Dickson of Arizona, and Lonnie Dickson of Corpus Christi.—The Daily Tribune.

INTENSE COLIC PAINS RELIEVED

"For some years I suffered from intense colic pains which would come on at times and from which I could find no relief," says I. S. Mahan, of Beaver Dam, Ky. "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me by a friend. After taking a few doses of the remedy I was entirely relieved. That was four years ago and there has been no return of the symptoms since that time." This remedy is for sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Call off Row of Company

The Coos Bay Times prints the following dispatch from Portland under date of August 12th:

The names of J. C. Lee, Mrs. M. C. Lee, his wife; F. T. Crittenden and J. C. Wallace will no longer appear on the criminal records of Multnomah county. The various charges and counter charges were withdrawn when it was found that there had been a general misunderstanding all around. Lee and his wife first made complaint against Crittenden and Wallace charging them with circulating a libel and in turn the Lees were arrested on complaint of Crittenden and Wallace charging embezzlement. It all grew out of a misunderstanding of the affairs of the Port Orford Orchard Tracts Company, of Port Orford, Oregon, which company was organized over a year ago by Crittenden. Lee was a fiscal agent of the company and a misunderstanding arose between himself and Crittenden, then president of the company but not now an officer. It was announced by the new officers of the concern that a reorganization has been effected and the original propositions of the company will be carried forward.

GRANULATED SORE EYES CURED

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes," says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "In Feb. 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Hackett Divorce is off

New York, Aug. 10—That James K. Hackett and his wife Mary, annering, who in private life is Mrs. Hackett, has taken steps to withdraw an action for divorce which she instituted in June last year became known tonight.

Mrs. Hackett, with her young daughter, is now abroad. Mr. Hackett is in this city, and the announcement that the differences which resulted in the separation have been adjusted came tonight from an authoritative source.

Mr. Hackett and Miss Mannering were married March 2, 1897, after they had appeared together in several plays. They acted together for some time after their marriage but several seasons ago they parted professionally, Mr. Hackett going into active management, and his wife continuing as a star. The estrangement arose more than two years ago.

Coquille Wins the Pennant

Coquille administered a double dose of defeats to the Marshfield Butchers', knocking them down from the pennant pole. These two victories bringing home again for the second time in succession the pennant to Coquille. The score of the first game, was 4 to 2. Baker and Troch being at the points for Marshfield and "Bub" and Jimmie for the Pennant Grabbers. The second game was called in the 7th inning with the champions on the long end of a 5 to 2 score. Saxton was on the slab in the second game while Gardner served up the benders in both games, pitching superbly, making the phenomenal record of 17 strikeouts in the first game and ten in the second. "Bub" was as steady as a clock; at no time did he lose control of the situation; his assortment was varied, being almost invincible. Be it known that all praise is due "slender smilax" in bringing home the two pennants to Coquille. Hats off to Gardner.

The season will be continued with a series of 5 or three games with Marshfield, the plans now being matured.—Herald.

Uncle John Kronenberg has had a letter from his wife and daughter Mrs. Dr. W. C. Owen, of St. Louis, who took passage on the steamer Elizabeth en route to Lodi, Calif., where they are visiting Mrs. James Blakey, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kronenberg. The old lady who has been suffering considerably from rheumatism of late, stood the trip very well, and while it is very warm at that place hopes are entertained that it will benefit her health.—Herald.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY NEVER KNOWN TO FAIL

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out one trip without this, my faithful friend," says H. S. Nicholas of Oakland, Ind. Ter. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Balloon Landed at Chasm's Edge

Chalons, France, Aug. 10—The balloon Sirius, which left here Sunday, has succeeded in flying over the Alps under the pilotage of M. Spelterine, carrying three passengers. The highest altitude attained was 18,373 feet.

A staff correspondent of the Figaro who was a passenger in the Sirius sends to his paper a thrilling narrative of the voyage.

He says that after crossing Mont Blanc the wind blew the balloon away from the plains and up among the mountains. Night was fast falling and a storm was rising; beneath were nothing but perpendicular walls of rock and narrow gorges. Only five sacks of ballast were left and to have continued their flight would have meant extreme danger.

M. Spelterine chose a narrow ledge at an altitude of 1800 metres for landing. To miss it meant death to all, but with marvelous skill he brought the balloon down and landed at the edge of a chasm. The balloon was deflated just as the storm broke.

Milan, Aug. 10—The balloon Albatross, piloted by Lieutenant Mina, today ascended to a height of 11,800 meters, or over seven miles, which is believed to be the world's record.

Is Offered $40,000

Roseburg, Aug. 12—Isador Selig, the Myrtle Creek resident, who drew No. 1 at Couer d'Alene on Monday, has been offered $40,000 for his claim after he secures a patent by five years residence on the land and otherwise complying with the homestead laws. This information was brought here by C. O. White a capitalist of that town. Mr. White says the offer was telegraphed to Selig by a party whose name he did not recall, and the condition was imposed that the buyer select the claim on which Mr. Selig would locate. It is quite probable that the would-be buyer wants Mr. Selig to occupy a claim that contains a valuable water-power site. If this proves to be the case, Mr. Selig will doubtless put his prize on the open market with a prospect of getting a still higher figure.

Endless Chain Crosscut Saw

The endless chain crosscut saw herewith shown is interesting as an invention for which much is claimed, says Popular Mechanics. Driven by a thirty-horsepower gasoline engine, the saw travels at a speed of 2,000 feet per minute. It is said that it will fell a tree eight feet in diameter in less than fifteen minutes and crosscut a log section in eight minutes. The machine sits on a turntable and can be swung to cut in all directions and angles without moving the sled upon which it rests.

No Heredity in Egg Laying.

Dr. Raymond Pearl and Frank Surface of the University of Maine find that selection for high egg production carried on for nine consecutive years did not lead to any increase in the average production of the flocks. In this experiment the daughters of "200 egg" hens did not exhibit when kept under the same environmental conditions such a high average egg production as did pullets of the same age which were the daughters of birds whose production was less than 200 eggs per year. The daughters of "200 egg" hens were not less variable in respect to egg production than were similar birds whose mothers were not so closely selected.
