His Discovery.

Tommy was studying one of the advertising signs in the car.

"Mamma," he said, "isn't 'Reason' a funny name for a girl?"

"Hush, dear!"

"And her first name is 'Theresa.' Look at it, mamma. 'Theresa Reason.' Gee! I'd change that name if it was mine!"—Chicago Tribune.

Calling Her Down.

The little boy's mother had accidentally dropped a book on his head.

"Mamma," he said, "after waiting a moment and hearing no apology, 'you should say 'excuse you!'"

The Husband.

Thy husband is thy life, thy lord, thy keeper,
Thy head, thy sovereign; one that cares for thee,
And for the maintenance; commits his body
To painful labor both by sea and land,
To watch the night in storms, the day in cold,
While thou dost lie at home, secure and safe;
And craves no other tribute at thy hands
Than love, fair looks, and true obedience—
Too little payment for so great a debt!
—William Shakespeare.

GAVE HERSELF TO THE LIONS.

Fragile Episode Behind the Scenes of a Paris Theater.

A drama within a drama occurred at a Paris theater one night recently when a young woman deliberately gave herself up to the lion and two lionesses which figured in the play, and was torn to pieces before any one could help her, the Montreal Herald and Star says. The lions had appeared on the stage, and their cage had been put back behind the scenes again. One of the keepers was a youth named Baillaud, and a girl of 19, Josephine Repoche, had come down to the theater with him. The two were lovers, but Baillaud's parents had refused to let their son marry the girl of his heart, and, being under age, he could not by French law, do so without their consent. In company with another keeper Baillaud left the theater for a few minutes, and as soon as the two men had left the girl went up to the cage, put her bare arm through the bars, and patted the lion's head. The great brute stretched a paw out through the bars and drew the girl toward him. The manager saw the paw fall on the girl's shoulder, saw her dress ripped, and the blood came from her shoulder. He and one of the actors rushed to the cage, but it was too late. The taste of blood had roused the lion and lionesses, and in an instant the three brutes were growling and tearing. The girl did not scream. In a few seconds she was dead. The lion's paw had smashed her shoulder blade, one hand had been eaten, and as a crowd of men with sticks and any weapons they could find beat off the lioness the lion drew the girl's dead body toward him. At this moment the two keepers came back into the theater, but friends kept Baillaud away from the cage. He fought, crying: "Let me die, too." The other men, at last, beat off the lion, and what was left of Josephine Repoche was drawn from the bars of the cage, laid gently down, and covered with a cloth.

Man of Many Limbs.

The old colonel was spinning off yarns of the civil war and in the heat of reminiscence patriotism his memory became somewhat tangled.

"Ah, gentlemen," he related seriously, "I shall never forget the charge at Chickamauga. It was there that I lost my leg." Ten minutes later the old colonel was relating an incident of Gettysburg.

"And when we climbed Little Round Top the bullets were whistling on all sides. It was there I lost my leg."

And thirty minutes later through a misty haze of smoke:

"Seven Pines, gentlemen. Seven Pines! Ah, that was the battle. One of my legs was shot from under me and—"

But just then a timid little boy looked up and asked shyly: "Grandpa, were—were you a centipede in those days?"

Spectacular Fire.

The most spectacular fire ever witnessed in the oil industry was at one of the Dos Bocas wells in Mexico. About 60,000 barrels of oil was burned up daily for nearly two months. The flames rose to heights of 800 to 1,400 feet.

Again from his back yard.
—Chicago Tribune.

For Old People.

After reaching the age of forty the human system gradually declines. The accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatic pains in the joints, muscles and back. These warnings should be promptly relieved and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription which shows wonderful results even after the first few doses and it will eventually restore physical vigor:

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint of high grade whiskey. This to be mixed and used in tablespoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime. The bottle to be well shaken each time." Any druggist has these ingredients or he will get them from his wholesale house.

Dangerous Risk.

"Look out, HI," shouted the farmer's wife as the big balloon soared over the farm with a trailing anchor. "Them thar airtights will hook you up like a fish if you don't watch out."

"Gosh, Mandy!" gasped the old farmer as he dropped his rake. "Yeou don't think they'd try to do sech a thing purposely, do yeou?"

"Wouldn't trust them, HI. That tall chap looking down here with the eyeglass is one of them thar Indiana writer folks and he's working on a book called 'The Uplifting of the Farmer.' Reckon yeou better keep yeour eye on that anchor."

Effect of Envy.

If envy, like anger, did not burn itself in its own fire, and consume and destroy those persons it possesses before it destroys those it wishes worst to, it would set the whole world on fire, and leave the most excellent persons the most miserable.—Lord Charendon.
