

Points for Mothers

Here are ten don'ts that mothers would do well to observe:

Don't yell "shall" and "shant" and "must" at the little ones or they may wish they had been born before their parents.

Don't tell your children how sweet and good you were as a child, for they may not believe you, judging from their acquaintance of you in later years.

Don't tell the little ones about the early bird and the worm. It's a wormy old chestnut anyway, and, besides, sleep is worth more than worms any day.

Don't hold up some other little girl or boy to your children for them to imitate. They probably know the child better than you do.

Don't send your little ones supperless to bed. If you were hollow you would toss all night.

Don't whip your children. It is barbarous. If you must do something in that line, kick yourself.

Don't lie to your children and then scold them for lying. Remember who was the father of lies.

Don't try to break their wills. Better break their necks.

Don't act as if superintending a gang of Italians when speaking to your children. You may prevent them from admiring you.

Don't fall to consider that a child has feelings of its own which in contrast to your own best as still as un-stilled as snow and as fair as heaven. This may make a better man or woman of you.

Baby's Morning Bath.
Some mothers will bathe baby's body regularly, yet not always wash its head. The baby's head should be washed every day, and it is better to do this at first. While the baby is still in your lap, undressed, but covered with a baby's blanket, wash its face and dry it; wash out its mouth with clean warm water or a weak solution of boric acid; wash each eye separately, then soap its head thoroughly, then soap its body, and then, with a firm hold, as follows:
With the palm of your left hand under the baby's back and with two fingers around its arm, with your right hand firmly hold him by the legs; then place him in his bathtub, still supporting his head with your left hand, and with your right hand wash carefully. Do not get the soap in his eyes.
The baby will enjoy this hugely, and even a young baby will splash and think it great fun.
The baby should be dressed quickly, but not hurriedly.
Have each piece of clothing warm, so that the baby will have a warm, cozy feeling after it is dressed.
When giving baby his bath be sure to have everything you can possibly need ready at hand.

Cure For Nail Biting.
Nail biting is a very common habit among children and is often the result of an extremely nervous temperament. It is a good plan to take such a child to a doctor, who will probably give him a good tonic to brace up the nervous system.
The child should also have pointed out to him how ugly his nails and fingers are getting. Show him how to keep his nails clean and well trimmed and try to induce him to take a pride in them.
A good plan is to interest him in kindergarten work of some kind that will keep both his hands and brain employed. If this is done the chances are that very soon the habit will disappear.

The Truth.
It often requires a considerable amount of mental effort to tell the truth. On no account must a child be allowed to shirk this, and the slightest lapse must at once and on the spot be drastically eradicated by punishment.
One form of untruthfulness arises from inaccuracy of observation. Later come exaggeration and romancing, especially if the first signs are thought to be amusing and are rather encouraged than eradicated. Above all, these children must be taught to observe accurately and to use their senses in the proper manner.

Have Your Sons Taught Dancing.
"I would advise every mother to have her sons taught to dance," says a woman of wide social experience. "Once properly learned it is a thing they do not forget and is such a help to them when they begin to go out. The best thing one can do for a boy growing up is to surround him with nice friends and encourage his both giving and going to parties. A boy also ought to be encouraged to take just a little interest in his clothes. Good clothes help to make good manners, and a well cut garment imparts an astonishing amount of courage."

Value of Olive Oil.
For a delicate child give nightly a warm bath, followed by a gentle, thorough rubbing with warm olive oil all over the body and limbs. This simple, safe, home treatment works wonders if given a fair trial.

LABOR LEGISLATION.

Professor Farnam Discusses Possible Results From Labor Laws.

The principles of labor legislation were set forth in his address to the American Association For Labor Legislation by Professor Henry W. Farnam. He declared that this conception of labor legislation, if it could be generally entertained by our legislatures and the public, would lead to certain important practical results.

"Each great period of the world's history has had some such economic ideal, which, whether or not formulated in words, has become a part of the morals of the time and country and has guided the law in its main features. Under the feudal system, for instance, society was divided into horizontal strata, based mainly on their relation to land and involving specific duties as well as rights.

"The economic ideal of the United States is very different from this. It may not be easy to define it in a few words, but its most concise expression is perhaps found in that part of the preamble of the federal constitution which states, after enumerating certain political purposes, that its object is 'to promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.' Our ideal is clearly not a caste system nor even a hierarchy of functions such as existed under the feudal system. It is a system of freedom which implies equality of opportunity for all.

"We are fortunate in this country in having an ideal clearly expressed and pretty generally accepted, and it is this ideal which must give consistency to labor legislation. But it is a consistency of aim, not of words, that we must aim at. A navigator might seem vacillating to the landlubber who observed that he sailed now on the port tack and now on the starboard tack and constantly changed his helm. But through all of the apparent changes he is working steadily against the wind toward his port. Labor legislation must likewise adapt itself to the particular exigencies of the times, maintaining always as its final purpose in the United States to secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity. Its very prohibitions are in the interest of a greater liberty, just as the traffic regulations of a great city put restrictions upon the individual driver for a time in order to secure a freer circulation for the traffic as a whole."

WIN TWO YEARS' STRIKE.

Tile Layers of Pittsburg Establish the Eight Hour Day.

After being on strike for two years the union tile layers and tile layers' helpers of the Pittsburg district have reached an amicable adjustment with the Tile Dealers' association. The strike has been called off, and the men have returned to work. The strike began Jan. 1, 1908. The new agreement and wage scale are to be in effect five years.
The agreement provides for an eight hour day. The tile layers will be paid $4.80 per day. All car fare is to be paid by the employer if the job is located more than one-half mile from the shop.
Wages of apprentices will be $3.25 a day for the first six months, $3.50 for the second six, $4 for the third and $4.40 for the fourth half year. Tile layers' helpers will be paid at the minimum rate of $2.50 per day.
It is also agreed that sympathetic strikes will not be considered a violation of the agreement when three days' notice has been given the employer.

Hatters' Union In Good Shape.

According to an Orange (N. J.) announcement, the United Hatters' Union of North America is so far recuperated from the heavy drains made upon it by the recent strike against the efforts to establish the open shop that its debts are paid, back salaries have been made up to the officers and full benefits to the men still out on strike are once again the rule.
The men who have gone back to work and who at first paid 13 per cent of their wages into the union funds and later had the assessment reduced to 5 may look forward to the early arrival of the time when the rate will be further reduced to the normal basis of 3 per cent. During the strike death benefits accumulated to the amount of $40,000, and they have now all been paid and new claims are met promptly.

Shorter Workday In Maine.

A new fifty-eight hour law went into effect in the mills and factories of Maine at the beginning of the year. The statute, which was passed by the last legislature, resulted in a general reduction of the working time among the manufacturing establishments in order to conform to the fifty-eight hours a week limit. Many of the mills met the requirements of the law by beginning work later in the morning, while others close earlier in the afternoon.

Boilermakers' Strike Settled.

The strike involving 3,000 boilermakers employed by the American Locomotive company, at Schenectady, Dunkirk, Pittsburg, Montreal and Richmond, has been settled through a conference between the company and the men. The dispute arose over a time standard for work.

New Union Label Section.

The formation of a union label section has been authorized by the Boston Central Labor union. The section will be formed along lines of the American Federation of Labor building department. Its main purpose will be to promote the use of the union label.
