Peculiar Experience of a Doctor With a Business Man.

In conversation one day about the peculiar views that commercial men sometimes entertain about professional services Dr. E. Weir Mitchell told the following story:
 "A very wealthy man came to consult me about an attack of vertigo. He said that he had just returned from a trip to Europe, where he had consulted eminent specialists, but that they had failed to afford him any permanent relief. 'A physician in London,' he said, 'asked me why I did not make an attempt to be cured nearer home. I thought on my way out west I would stop over to see you.'
 "'Has any physician you have visited looked into your ears?' I asked.
 "'No,' was his reply.
 "'I made an examination of his ears, removed some wax and a substance that appeared to be hardened remnants of cotton wool. I sent him away then and told him to come again in a day or two. He did so.
 "'Well,' he exclaimed, 'I am cured. How much do I owe you?'
 "'About $50,' I replied.
 "'As he drew a check he asked, 'Did you know when you first examined my ears that you could cure me?'
 "'When I told him that I had a very fair conviction that I could he said: 'Well, you are a blanked fool! You should have said to me, 'I think I can cure you, and I will do so for $10,000--no cure, no pay.' You would have got your money without a murmur.'
 "'Oh,' I said, 'if you feel that way about it there are several little charities in which I am interested, and--'
 "'No, no!' he interrupted. 'That is not business. I have my cure, and you have the price you asked. The transaction is closed.'"
 A Terrible Infant.
 I recollect a nurse called Ann, who carried me about the grass, and one day a fine young man came up and kissed the pretty lass. She did not make the least objection. Thinks I: "Alas!
 When I can talk I'll tell mamma!" And that's my earliest recollection.
 --Life.
 Not in His Line.
 "When you are grown up," queried the visitor, "will you be a doctor like your father?"
 "Oh, dear me, no! Why, I couldn't even kill a rabbit," replied the boy, with great frankness.--Argonaut.
 A Billville Jingle.
 Automobiles and airships--
 Where will we get to soon?
 We'll rise to where the old man is growin' in the moon
 And maybe tell the angels,
 "You just can't raise a tune!"
 --Atlanta Constitution.
 Knew His Game.
 He--A philosopher says, "The only thing worth while in life is trying to do something you can't and doing it."
 She (sweetly)--Is that why you play bridge?--Life.
 Favoritism.
 Every state has its favorite son.
 Though oft' he's led out to slaughter,
 But how does it happen there's never a one
 That has a favorite daughter?
 --Chicago Tribune.
 'Twas False.
 Lady (at the jeweler's)--Is this diamond genuine? Jeweler--As genuine as your own hair, madam. Lady--Ahem! Let me see something else.--Red Hen.

William Versus Enrico.

"Yep; we had a spirited debate in our literary society last night."
 "What was the question?"
 "'Resolved, That it is better to be a Caruso than a Shakespeare.' The negative won."
 "What was the argument that downed the tenor?"
 "The fact that Shakespeare can make himself heard without gargling."
 --Cleveland Plain Dealer.
 Hoo, Hoo!
 Who's always handling out new dope?
 Who said "No, thank you!" to the pope?
 Who is the whole world's only hope?
 We don't need to tell you.
 Who of the White House had a lease?
 Who used to boss New York's police?
 Who's now for universal peace?
 Why, you know, of course!
 Who's always on the jump and go?
 Who tells the wind which way to blow?
 Who seeks no friend and fears no foe?
 Now, what's the use of asking that?
 Who loves to hit a stinging crack?
 Who pretty soon is coming back?
 And what will happen then? Alack,
 The Lord only knows!
 --Somerville Journal.

Memoranda.

Professor--It was by the inscription on this colossal obelisk that we succeeded in positively identifying the mummy of Rameses I.
 Uncle Henry--I suppose all that Chinese rigmarole on there were his memoranda of the size of his socks, his watch number, whom to notify in case of death and such truck?--Puck.

The Way Now.

Oh, rubby-dub-dub!
 Three men at the club,
 And who do you suppose they be?
 The butcher, the baker,
 The candiestick maker,
 And prices go up a degree.
 Oh, grubby-grub-grub!
 For each patient dub,
 If he would have three meals a day,
 The clerk and the scholar
 Must spend every dollar,
 Everything goes up but their pay.
 --Judge.

His Specialty.

"Maggie married a street car conductor, but the match turned out unhappily."
 "Why so?"
 "He proposed she should pay her own way in their married life."
 "Merely the force of habit. It was something of a fare proposal."--Baltimore American.

Not a Tender Tie.

At last the tie is broken,
 Severed for aye!
 Yet he turns from its parting
 With never a sigh.
 He feels, though she loved him,
 She knew it must sever;
 That she never e'en hoped
 "Twould be lasting forever--
 The tie that she gave him
 In the Christmastide's glow,
 Which he's worn ever since,
 And that's five months ago."
 --Browning's Magazine.

Boy's Question.

"Pop."
 "Yes, my son."
 "Will you please tell me something?"
 "What is it, my boy?"
 "Why when you scratch your face it leaves a mark and when you scratch your head it doesn't."--Yonkers Star-man.

Slow, but Sure.

"Fly with me!" her lover pleaded
 As he pressed her to elope.
 But his wishes went unheeded,
 For she calmly answered, "Nope;
 Not while aeros, as at present,
 Are so apt to plunge and balk.
 But," said she, "the weather's pleasant.
 Don't you think we'd better walk?"
 --Lippincott's
