SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 29, 1870.

Democratic State Convention.

By virtue of the action of the Democratic State Convention, which was held at Portland, on Thursday, March 19th, 1868, and of the Democratic State Central Committee, which was held at the same place, on Jan. 8th, 1870, the Democratic State Convention will be held at Albany, on Wednesday, the 23d day of March, 1870.

at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, for the purpose of nominating Governor, Member of Congress, Secretary of State, Treasurer, State Printer, Judge of Second District, Judge of Third District, and Judge of Fifth District, to be supported at the next June election.

By order of said Committee, representation to said Convention was based on the vote cast for Democratic Congressman at the last election, giving to each county one delegate for every seventy-five Democratic votes cast, and one delegate for every fraction of thirty-eight and over, but allowing each county at least one delegate therein; which rule of apportionment will give to the several counties the following number of delegates, to wit:

|------------|-----|
| Benton | 7 |
| Baker | 8 |
| Clackamas | 8 |
| Clatsop | 1 |
| Coos | 3 |
| Curry | 1 |
| Columbia | 2 |
| Douglas | 9 |
| Grant | 6 |
| Jackson | 11 |
| Josephine | 2 |
| Lane | 11 |
| Linn | 17 |
| Marion | 14 |
| Multnomah | 14 |
| Polk | 1 |
| Tillamook | 1 |
| Umatilla | 7 |
| Union | 7 |
| Washington | 4 |
| Wasco | 4 |
| Yamhill | 8 |
| Total | 158 |

The time for holding the County Conventions to elect delegates to the State Democratic Convention, was left by the Committee to the several County Committees, whose duty it will be to provide therefor.

The Committee would respectfully urge prompt action on the part of the Democracy of the several counties.

V. TREVITT, Secretary.
L. F. GROVER, Chairman.

With such roots of bitterness in the Radical ranks, unreconciled, as the old Tolman and Thompson war, the Dowell and Apple gate feud, the Haines and Dowell fight, the Colver and Jacobs controversy, the Ray and anti-Ray, Sutton and anti-Sutton, Hanley and anti-Hanley, Drake and anti-Drake, and Maury and anti-Maury cabals and factions, the Coolie organ unblushingly talks about its opponents being "badly split up." Good Lord, how this world is given to impudence!

"O, wad some power the giftie gie us,
To see oursel's as ither sae us;
Twa'd frae money a blunder frae us,
And loolish notion."

The Oregon Medical and Surgical Reporter contains the following good suggestion: "We desire to receive copies of each paper in the State, in order that we may collect statistics for the present year, and keep an accurate account of the deaths and casualties, together with other facts bearing upon the interests of science. We would suggest that when practicable the cause of the death should be appended to the notice of deceased persons."

As we intend to keep as accurate an account as possible, of the number of births occurring in this county, during the year, we would be much gratified to receive early notice of the happening of such important events. Physicians, midwives, and prospective fathers and mothers, will please take notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

We are in receipt of No. 1 Vol. 3 of the University Journal, published at S. F. by the California Business University, and devoted to commerce, literature, and education. Subscription 50 cts. per annum. It is filled with instructive reading matter.

Who steals our exchanges?—We have been considerably annoyed of late by the loss of exchanges, taken from the office without leave. If we "drop" on the individual, we will give him a first class notice—gratis.

A special dispatch to the S. F. Daily Call, from Marysville, Jan. 14th, says:

The California and Oregon Railroad is progressing. Twenty six miles have been graded north of this city, and eighteen is in the best running order.

The Sentinel on the Situation.

Our strictures on the conduct of one or two Democrats afflicted with a mania for office, and pandering the vilest intrigues in order to obtain their wishes; and our charges that these men were in secret league with the Radicals, has been verified in an unexpected manner, and very much sooner than we anticipated. Had there been a denial of our assertion, we should, of course, have been compelled to the proof. But not only has there been a failure to-day, but our Radical cotemporary has kindly relieved us of the necessity of proving that the programme adopted by certain aspirants for remunerative offices was conceived at the Radical headquarters, as a means of creating a division in the Democratic ranks. Usually, beneficiaries of an admitted treason either deny their complicity in the crime, or are entirely silent. Treachery of all kinds is so abhorrent to human nature that there are few, even of those who are benefited by the crime, who care to defend it publicly. Any other course argues, either a conviction of success and recklessness of public opinion, or a stupidity as remarkable as it is fatuous. We were, therefore, unprepared for the bold defence which the Sentinel made last week of the traitors, schemers and disorganizers whom we have been exposing for the last two weeks.

That that virtuous sheet should seek as it has often done before, to create discord in our ranks, and fan the flame to the highest pitch, we expected. In this course lay the only road open to the success of Radicalism in this county. The thorny path had been trodden with bleeding feet by the Radical party in years gone by, only to meet repeatedly with hopeless defeat at the end. As the only road affording a hope we fully expected to see them once more on their dolorous way to disappointment. But the admission of a league between the persons we referred to, and our colored brethren, implied by the valorous defence of the Sentinel, we confess, surprised us. In assuming the cudgels in behalf of those we denounced, it admits a sympathy, a congeniality of feeling, a combination of means, and a common end to be gained, in the destruction of the unity of the Democratic party. This is precisely what we warned the Democracy of Jackson was in contemplation.

With the verification of our charges afforded by the Sentinel's position before it, we ask the Democracy of Jackson to ponder well the situation. An important election is approaching, both as regards the State and this county. In justice to ourselves, and to the State at large, we should poll the largest possible vote. To do this, we must have unity and peace; and unity and peace can only be secured by turning a deaf ear to the schemes of disorganizers and traitors, and "hoisting them with their own petards."

"A DIVIDED HOUSE."—Our Coolie neighbor is suffering from his regular biennial attack of nervousness in regard to the alleged divisions in the Democratic party. Says our neighbor, solemnly: "It is apparent, that the hitherto infallible and invincible democracy of Jackson, is badly split up." Now, as our nervous cotemporary has been saying the same thing every two years for the last six, we respectfully submit that it is a little frayed on the edges, denuded of nap—in fact, threadbare. As certain as the election approaches, the ominous announcement appears in the columns of our cotemporary, and as regular as the election comes, the statement is "oppered" with a democratic majority of from 100 to 280. A reference to old files of the Sentinel will show this. This terrible announcement used to scare us some six years ago, but we have become so much accustomed to see it since, that now we don't scare worth a d—darn. "Shoo fly, don't bodder me."

The Portland Commercial of the 18th, gives the following excellent advice to the Radical State Committee which was to meet at Portland on the 19th:

"From this basis, we ask the committee, when they meet to-morrow, to be silent upon all such nonsense as the past and dead issues, and come before the people of the State upon what is intended to be sprung upon the next Legislature in regard to the $50,000 per annum for the interest upon Holladay & Co.'s non-assessable stock; upon the course of Gov. Woods toward "military" roads; and to decide upon the State policy whether it is for the interest of the present inhabitants to have all the vacant lands engulfed in the maw of corporations, or have a share left for homestead settlers."

We predict that the Radical party will not ignore "past and dead issues," but will be silent upon the $50,000 matter; Gov. Wood's course, both with regard to "military" roads and the State Treasury; and will also be silent on the land grabbing arrangement. "Past and dead issues" are their whole stock in trade, Mr. Commercial.

Marion county.

[Daily Press, Jan. 17th.]

By virtue of a City Ordinance, the City Recorder has issued a "proclamation" warning all persons from giving or selling J. M. Curley intoxicating liquors, under pain of prosecution. (Curley formerly resided here, and is a skillful draughtsman when sober.—[Ed. News.]

Heretofore farmers have found it to be a difficult matter to clean flax seed with any machinery that they could obtain. Mr. T. Duval of this place has determined to make a machine that will meet the wants of the flax raisers. His fanning mill resembles the common fan, except that the "shove" is longer and shake forward and backward instead of sidewise as in the wheat fan. The screens are three in number and fasten with a thumb screw instead of grooves, by which arrangement they can be set at any angle. The meshes of the first two screens are long and narrow, and those of the third are small and square. It is thought that Mr. Duval's fanning mill will clean grain of any kind; different riddles being the only change necessary. The cost of this new implement will be about the same as the common fanning mill.

Yesterday the amount of State tax assessed against Lane county for the year 1869 was paid into the State Treasury. Linn county also paid the last installment of the tax for the same year together with the half mill tax of 1867, which the county refused to pay until the State sued and obtained judgement in the Circuit Court for that amount.

Yesterday, articles of incorporation for the Albany Canal and Manufacturing Company were filed in the Secretary of States office. The business in which the corporation propose to engage is to construct a navigable canal, with all necessary locks, gates, etc., with tow path and keep the same in repair. The water is to be taken out of the South Fork of the Santiam river.

A fish market has been opened on Commercial street opposite Starkey's brick block. [Press Jan. 18th.]

Yesterday we saw a very intricate and beautiful piece of machinery manufactured by Mr. Rodawalt, under the directions of Mr. J. Fetzer formerly of Lyons France, but for the past ten years a resident of Salem. The machine is a part of a loom for weaving silk, linen and even woollen fabrics, when any design for figure work is to be executed. It is an improvement on the Jacquard apparatus, and can be attached to the common power loom. Mr. Fetzer has filed in the patent office a caveat for a patent on his improvements.

A Dramatic school has been opened in Read's Theatre that numbers ten persons. Mr. D. W. Jones of this place is manager.

The amount of Oregon wool shipped to San Francisco during the year 1869 was 1,039,400 pounds. The receipts of wool from this State in 1868, 421,460 pounds, showing an increase of 617,940, or more than one-half.

Judge Olney and D. P. Thompson are in Washington trying to gobble 500,000 acres of land, ostensibly to aid in improving the Willamette.

Messrs. Snyder & Co., Book-binders, delivered yesterday to the Secretary of State, a large lot of Public documents, Senate and House Journals for the Legislative session of 1868. The Secretary will probably in a few days mail the same to whom the law directs.

[We would like to know why the delivery of these documents has been delayed so long—sixteen months. Whose fault is it?—Ed. News.]

[Press, Jan. 21st.]

We heard a rumor on the street yesterday, says the Oregonian, that important measures have been introduced in Congress with favorable prospects of success, tending to afford substantial aid in the construction of the Oregon Central Railroad, West-side.

Notice is given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Coquille and Isthmus Slough Railroad Company, on the 15th of February will be held at the Isthmus house in Coos county.

Yesterday articles of incorporation of the Willamette Draying and Forwarding Company with Rob. Holman, G. W. Taylor, Jas. Holman and John W. Holman as incorporators, were filed in the Secretary of States office. The capital stock is $25,000.

Within the last forty-eight hours seventy one hundredths of an inch of rain has fallen in Salem.

The Portlanders had snow enough Wednesday last for a few hours sleighing. They are ahead of us just that much.

TWO MORE OREGON PIONEERS GONE.—Last week we announced the death of Col. Ford, of Polk, one of Oregon's oldest citizens. It becomes our duty this week to chronicle the death of two more of Oregon's Pioneers. Capt. John H. Couch, of Portland, who made his first visit to Oregon in 1840, was Treasurer under the Provisional Government, and one of the founders of Portland, died on the 19th; and Hiram Smith, another old Oregonian, died in San Francisco on the 16th. These men have witnessed and participated in many an eventful scene in Oregon, and when the history of this young State is written, their names will figure prominently in its early annals.

The Overland Monthly for January has been laid on our table, replete with interesting matter. Everybody should subscribe for the Overland; it is the Pacific Coast Magazine.
