Dyeing Burglars.

Burglars broke one night into the workshop of a dyer in Koslin, and had got together a pretty large-sized package of valuable dye stuffs when the dyer, awakened by the noise, appeared on the scene, armed with a doubleshooter. As he entered the door he espied two men skurrying off to the other end of the dye-house. At the summons, "Stand, or I fire!" they both jumped into a vat which they thought empty, but which was filled with some color liquid. Standing in the blue bath, they both cried for mercy. The dyer, however, took aim, and they ducked under, but soon came up again and earnestly entreated pardon. But the relentless dyer gave them the beneit of a few extra dips, and then turned them out into the street without giving notice to the police. The story got wind in Koslin, and everybody knows the indigo-dyed scoundrels. They are likely to remain men of mark for some time to come. -- Vermischtes.

Slave Trade on the East Coast of Africa.

Intelligence from Adeu says the slave trade on the east coast of Africa is again increasing, owing to the high prices now offered for slaves, and caravans from the interior are arriving daily. These caravans, it is declared, have experienced no difficulty in passing through Vitu, and slaves have also been embarked at points in the neighborhood of Zeilah, Djibontil, Massowah and Suakim. The Arabs are much ncensed, however, at the great number of their captures who are lest before reaching the market, the proportion being under present conditions about 70 per cent. of the number with which the caravans start from the interior. The traders will now accept in exchange nothing but firearms of the Others have set apart a "cyclists' pew."
