

FARM AND GARDEN.

The ducks must have a dry floor in winter. A cow that is not a big eater is no dairy cow. Feed the cows as regularly as you milk them.

Fewer eggs will be gathered if the hens are crowded. Pork is still pork. It is as good as wheat or better. Very little ventilation for the poultry house is needed in winter.

Unclean eggs should always be washed or wiped clean when gathered. Cabbages are often covered too heavily when buried and consequently decay. Pumpkin seeds do not appear to injure hogs unless fed in unreasonable quantities.

When eggs are to be stored for long keeping they should be wiped clean, not washed. Feather plucking is often begun when the poultry have nothing else to keep them busy.

The most expensive kind of feed is that saved by giving the stock less than they can profitably use. While some lime is good for fowls it should be given in their food, as there is danger of their getting too much.

Roosts should always be on the same level or the fowls will crowd to the highest ones, leaving the lower ones useless. Now put in the zigzag windows, but ten the cracks, especially in the floors, and rake down a good bed, for there is money in cozy quarters.

Do you remember that the hams, bacon, shoulders and beef for smoking may all be prepared in the same pickle at the same time, thus saving labor? It is poor management to waste good hay by feeding it to dry cows when it could as well be fed to cows that will manufacture it into good butter.

Do not apply salt to butter carelessly. Weigh the butter, and then add salt at the rate of three-quarters of an ounce or an ounce to a pound, and work it thoroughly. There seems to be no limit to the study of bees. By the use of an observatory have everything that goes on inside can be seen and something new learned every day.

The honey of the Malta bee is noted for its purity and delicious flavor. This is due to the extensive crop of sulla clover, from which the bees extract most their honey.

IN CHICAGO'S SLUMS.

Five Cent Lodging Houses Where Chairs Take the Place of Beds. Finding a lodging place for the night when one has but 5 cents—an ordinary street car fare nickel—is no easy job. Lodging houses where the beds rent for 10 cents hold as grimly to tariff prices as a coal combine in arctic weather would do.

Nowadays diners are being withdrawn from circulation. At least the people who are forced into begging them report that to be the state of the money market. Two nickles make a dime, it is true, and so do 10 pennies, but there seems to be a bear movement in small coins, and this form of currency also is hard to get, especially so for those who either can't, don't or won't work for it.

As a matter of fact there are many hundred persons in Chicago every night who cannot purchase a lodging for lack of means and who stay out so late that access to the station houses is denied because they are already overcrowded. These people will then sleep anywhere. All they want is cover from the night. That can be had in Chicago for 5 cents. But the lowest tramp, if for a moment favored with a dime, would shrink with horror from lodging in such a place. There are one or two places of the kind in Chicago, and they are hard to find. When a found, they are the very epitomes of degradation, dirt and filthiness. Beside the 5 cent places those where admittance is a dime are palaces. For 5 cents the lodger is allowed the privilege of a chair until morning—simply that and nothing more.

The keepers of such places form the lowest elements of society. They do not treat their patrons as humans, nor yet as beasts of the field. The 5 cent wretch becomes an object for blows and kicks. When his nickel enters the greasy pocket that papes for it, he is then a atom of squalor, and he is treated accordingly. Recently the Atlas hotel was visited. It is probably the worst lodging house in Chicago. The prices begin at 5 cents and run to 15 cents. It is located on Custom House place a few yards from Van Buren street. On one side of it is a stable. There the horses get clean straw every night for bedding. On the other side is a deserted church, which has been purchased and which will be shortly converted into another lodging house. Amid such surroundings the poor fellow who has but a nickel is allowed to stay over night. He can sit on a three legged chair, or he can lie down on the floor. In either event he is forced to sleep with another man half covering him, for every night the filthy cellar is crowded. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

Chicago Streets. "Great city," said the stranger reflectively. "We are a great city! The buildings are magnificent, the boulevard is superb and the hotels are unsurpassed, but—why don't you name your streets?" "Name our streets!" exclaimed the Chicagoan. "We do. You can't find a street in the city without a name." "Well, then," went on the stranger, "why not derive some benefit from it? Why should there be any names about it? Why not treat all streets alike? Why put the name of one street on the corner lamp-post and not the name of the next? And why not have some uniformity about it?" he continued, warming up to his subject. "Why tack the name of one street onto a building, put the next on a lamp-post, the third half way up an electric light post, the fourth clear at the top of it and have no sign at all for the fifth?" —Chicago Post.

Senators in the Barber's Chair. A workman in the senate barber shop in Washington is credited with saying that the senators are "the most peaceful" men to shave he has ever met, though some of them are particular. One senator, he says, he has twice shaved three times in one day, not because his beard grows so fast, but because the senator "likes the sensation." Another senator "has a pair of little side whiskers of which he is fond and to which he devotes any amount of attention." He did not reveal all this to any senator, and to the helpless man to whom it was communicated he said with a despairing tone, "You know we are not allowed to talk to our senatorial customers unless they talk to us first." What would not wish to be a United States senator while being shaved? —Chicago Tribune.

A Fortune For Mrs. Drayton.

Mrs. Coleman Drayton is once again domiciled in her former home on Fifth avenue. She has just engaged her servants for the winter, and is well equipped as to comfort in regard to housekeeping and ease in entertaining. For all this present and prospective luxury she has her brother, Mr. John Jacob Astor, to thank, he having settled the house on her for life, as well as given her $1,000,000 outright. Society comments Mr. Astor for making this very liberal gift to his sister. —New York World.

Testing a Ducking Stool. An ancient ducking stool for scolding wives is still preserved at Fordwich, England. The other day some antiquarians, anxious to test the apparatus, found a youth who was willing to don female attire and go through the ordeal. The apparatus speedily ducked the lad into the river, but refused to pull him out again, and but for timely assistance he would have been drowned. —London Letter.

A Novel Revenge. Cook—Yes, my mistress is a prima donna and a horrible creature. She treats me like the dirt beneath her feet, but I revenge myself by opening the drawing room window when she is not at home and by howling with all my might, so that the neighbors may think her voice is cracked. —Fliegende Blätter.

Bound to Be Ladylike. Ethel—What did you do when Gus proposed to you? Mabel—I was so surprised I jerked up my mouth to whistle, but then I remembered that would be unladylike, so I hurried and pressed my lips against his cheek to keep myself from whistling. —Good News.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Halls' Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research for the study of ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the nervous system, and that the seat of mind is located in the brain. The nervous system is the seat of life and mind, and it is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.

Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nervous system, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how a derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organs itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they reach the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

Dr. Frank Miles, the celebrated specialist has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in the treatment of these diseases. He has found that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, vertigo, confusion, pressure, brain pain, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus' dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it reaches the nerve centers, and restores them to normal action.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY! A Great Mistake.

A recent discovery is that headache, dizziness, confusion of the mind, etc., are due to derangement of the nerve centers which supply the brain with nerve force; that indigestion, dyspepsia, neuralgia, wind in stomach, etc., arise from the derangement of the nerve centers supplying these organs with nerve force. This is the latest discovery of the nervous system, and is the cause of many diseases of the heart and lungs. The nervous system is like a telegraph system, and will be broken by the accompanying cut. The little white wires of the nerves which convey the nerve force from the nerve centers to every part of the body, just as the electric current is conveyed along the telegraph wires to every station, large or small. Ordinary physicians fail to regard this fact; instead of treating the nerve centers for the cause of the trouble, they treat the organs arising therefrom, and so the part affected.

Franklin Miles, M. D., L. L. B., the highly celebrated specialist and student of nervous diseases, and author of many noted treatises on the latter subject, long since realized the truth of the first statement, and his Restorative Nervine is prepared on that principle. Its success in curing all diseases arising from derangement of the nervous system is wonderful, as the thousands of unsolicited testimonials in possession of the company manufacturing the remedy amply prove.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a reliable remedy for all nervous diseases, such as headache, nervous debility, prostration, sleeplessness, irritability, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy, etc. It is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Express prepaid. Restorative Nervine positively contains no opiates or dangerous drugs.
