People who desire to prove up on their government claims, can now do so before C. B. Holden, U. S. Land Commissioner at Florence. This will save much expense to settlers.
Not at all strange is the fact that numerous residences have been erected in the valley skirting the Siuslaw river, and they are improvements both beneficial and commendable.

Special attention is called to the display "ad" of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, in this issue. For further information call on or address R. McMurphy, Gen'l Agent, Eugene, Oregon.
Scarcely can be found more permanent advancement than that which is now in progress in this country. The number of buildings erected in both towns and country is the spokesman for the thought.

Yesterday the council opened bids for grading streets. They were: J. R. Weddie, 7 and 15 cents; W. E. Warren, 11 1/2 cents; J. A. Leverage, 9 cents; Rudolph Funke, 7 1/2 cents. The bids are all on a basis of a cubic yard.

The tug Tonquin returned Monday from Yaquina bay where she was inspected, and on Tuesday morning resumed the towing of rock scows, relieving the Lillian, the latter boat carrying salmon for the Florence Canning Co.

"I have been troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia and could not sleep but very little and was tired in the morning. I have taken about six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and feel like a new man." Wesley Cole, Kenos, Ore.

Steamer W. H. Harrison from Astoria arrived yesterday and will remain about five days, awaiting the result of the run of fish. If, during her stay, enough fish can be canned to supply her with a load she will return without taking out tin or cans.

One of the government scows sprung a leak Friday night while lying, loaded, at the quarry and was towed down half a den. A small rock dropped over the pump was the cause of starting the leak and the damage was repaired in a few hours.

On Friday last Mrs. Gray, wife of County Treasurer J. G. Gray, of Eugene, received the sad intelligence of the death of her mother, Mrs. Jesse Andrew, of La Fayette, Indiana. She was 86 years of age. Her husband, aged 88 years, survives her.

When in Salem a short since we met our old friend, Mrs. Dawson. While talking a gentleman stepped up beside her, and she introduced us to him, her husband, Mr. Phillips. They were married July last. Mr. Phillips is a wealthy farmer of Polk county.

With two little children subject to croup we do not rest easy without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, for the most severe attacks quickly succumb to a few doses of it.—Morrison, Colo., Bud. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by druggists.

Commencing from September 15, 1895, and continuing until Nov. 1st following, round trip tickets will be sold from Florence to Eugene for $7. This reduced rate is for the purpose of benefiting those who desire to attend the Exposition at Portland or the State Fair at Salem.

If your children are subject to croup watch for the first symptoms of the disease—hoarseness. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse it will prevent the attack. Even after the croupy cough has appeared the attack can always be prevented by giving this remedy. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping coughs. For sale by druggists.

Nearly every county in the Willamette valley displayed its products at the State Fair except Lane. We must admit that this state of affairs is largely due to the inactivity of the press of this county.

People from nearly every part of the United States witnessed horticultural displays at the Fair, and our own productive county was silent in voicing its success to these people. A handsome advertisement of our country is as advantageous as is the advertisement of a business.

Special rates have been made on all lines to the exposition at Portland. The Southern Pacific gives a round trip rate of one and one-third fare. The Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. Co. make the rate one and one-fifth fare. The steamers make it three-quarter cent a mile. Besides this, there will be special excursions on all lines, at which time the rates will be much lower. An opportunity will be given for every person who wants to visit the city and see the exposition to do so at small expense.

Siuslaw refuses to take a back seat in the matter of mammoth vegetables. Last week Mr. O. Dowell, of Mercer lake, brought in four onions, weighing four and one-half pounds and the largest measuring sixteen inches in circumference. On the same day Willis Brown, of Fiddle creek, was the bearer of an equal number of leeks which weighed six and one-quarter pounds, the prize onion measuring eighteen inches. Mr. Brown also had ten potatoes, averaging over a pound each. This record is open to competition.

At Eugene is located the St. Mary's Convent, a school where boys and girls can be educated. Really the education received there is a practical one. It includes not only branches of study that are taught in other high schools, but includes lessons in sewing, drawing, painting, music and much more that comes into our every-day life. Then, too, prices charged for scholastic and practical life training are not out of reach of the poor. A letter addressed to the Convent will be promptly answered and all information given.

George Smith, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, who lived near Drain, accidentally shot and killed himself at Gardiner last Thursday evening. He, in company with Ralph Whipple, had gone down the river a few days before on a hunting and fishing trip and at the time of the accident was standing on the porch in front of Hon. A. W. Reed's store, leaning with his arm across the muzzle of his Winchester rifle. It is supposed that the gun slipped off and the hammer struck the edge of the porch, causing it to discharge. The ball passed through the arm, entered the lower jaw and went clear through the head killing him instantly. He was nearly nineteen years old. The remains were taken to Drain and buried Saturday, the funeral taking place from the M. E. church. The sympathy is extended to the bereaved family and friends.

DOUGLAS COUNTY HIGHWAYS.

Surveyor Rutolph Views Roads to the Lane County Line.

Last week Mr. A. R. Rutolph was delegated by the county court of Douglas county to survey proposed roads near South Slough, and accompanied by Viewers Joseph Austin, N. McNair and Wm. Herington accomplished the work. One is a portion of the Glendora-Will Cat road, which was surveyed to Lane's boundary, a distance of something over a half mile. The other branches from the Glendora road to the South Slough end is about a quarter of a mile in length. Douglas appears to be taking prompt measures in support of her roads. Lane county has as yet not acted upon the continuation of the above roads. A petition was presented to the court but was shelved, and another will be offered. It is thought that the rejection of the first petition was due to the fact that the proposed route was unsatisfactory to certain property owners. It is to be hoped that satisfactory arrangements can be made.

LADIES' AID SOCIAL.

The Ladies' Aid Society will give a social in Pond's building on Wednesday, October 23d, the proceeds of which will go towards sending Willie Gentry, the unfortunate Maple creek lad, to a Portland hospital for surgical treatment. This is a charitable cause and one in which all should liberally assist. Coffee and cake will be served. The Florence Cornet Band will discourse delightful music. Admission, 10 cents.

SALOON ROBBERY.

Last Friday in the early morning hours the Palace saloon was entered by robbers and $39 taken from the till, all it contained. Mr. Sailey closed the establishment at midnight, and had always removed the money from the till, but this night was an unfortunate exception, one, however, which the thieves must have known. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

The Darlington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: "We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excruciating pains and possibly saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by druggists.

You can earn $5.00 each day "giving" our absolutely indispensable household article away. New plan of work, making experience unnecessary and success certain for either sex in any section. Sample dozen free. Credit given. Freight paid. Address, MELROSE MFG. CO., 21 Melrose Park, Ill. N8

GREAT BATTLES ARE CONTINUALLY GOING ON IN THE HUMAN SYSTEM. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA DRIVES OUT DISEASE AND RESTORES HEALTH.

PEOPLE POINTED OUT.

Miss Stella Bean is visiting in Portland.
Miss Ina Bradley is visiting friends at Central Point.
Mr. B. W. Dorsey, of Fiskopolis, left Thursday for Eugene.

Messrs. Thomas, James and William Neely, of Seaton, were in the city Saturday.
Senator and Mrs. B. F. Alley returned Tuesday from a three weeks' trip in the Willamette valley cities.

Rev. I. G. Knotts returned yesterday from attendance at the Newport Presbytery and the Synod at Salem.
Dr. J. Jennings came down from Seaton Sunday and left for Gardiner the same day. He will return next week.

Mr. W. A. Offield, who has been sojourning in Los Angeles, Cal., for the past eleven months, returned to this valley Tuesday.
Miss Luella Brewster and her brother came in from Eugene Tuesday and are guests at the home of their brother, Mr. O. Brewster, of Teitcoos lake.

Judge John T. Lighter, editor of the Astorian, came in on the steamer Harrison from Astoria, and we were honored with a call at our office by that gentleman.
Capt. J. S. Polhemus, of Empire City, was in town Sunday. He made an inspection of the government jetty and appears well satisfied with the progress of the work.

Miss Catherine C. Cogswell and Lichen Mand Miller gave a Shakespearian reading at Roseburg last evening. They will give a recital at Albany about two weeks hence.
Major E. H. Ruffner, Capt. Symons successor, is expected to arrive in Portland from the east next Sunday. It is not probable that he will visit Siuslaw until after the works are closed.

Comrade James Conklin arrived in Eugene on Sunday afternoon last, having been brought to that city by James Furnish. Mr. Conklin tells a story of his trip as follows: In going over the new route from Glendora, he found the trail so obliterated by forest fires that it prevented his following it, and he became lost in the mountains where he wandered about for several days, becoming exhausted for want of food and water. Some hunters found him lying in the woods and speechless. They cared for him until he was sufficiently recovered to proceed on his way to Elmira, and from there he was taken to Eugene where he was cared for by the Post of that city.

WENT OUT LIKE A LAMB

Peaceable Surrender of the Strikers.

Fishing Resumed Before the Great Declaration.

The Strike Is Declared Off After a Big Night's Fishing—How Could They Do Otherwise?—Rotors Bound Over.

Contrary to all expectations and conjectures the strike came to a sudden and humiliating finish Monday night. Its end was without the yearned for results and no flourish of trumpets was heard as the red flag was lowered.

Had the strike been declared off a week since, the so-called union would have gotten out of the affair with some credit. Not much, it is true, but as it was, they were compelled to fish or suffer what is commonly known as an "aching void."

A severe and decisive blow was given the already tottering organization Saturday by Judge Chamberlin, before whom appeared Young and Bradley, charged with rioting and assault with deadly weapons. The strikers were confident, if a change of venue to Justice Hadsall's court could be secured, of clearing their men. The case was called with Attorneys Benedict and Holden for the complaining witnesses and John I. Batterfield, secretary of the "union," for the accused. The latter at once proceeded to set the ball in motion by moving a change of venue, accompanying the motion by a sworn statement from the defendants, in which was stated it was their belief that a fair and impartial trial in the justice court of Florence precinct could not be obtained by them. His Honor did not take that view of the situation and said it was not customary to grant a change of venue in a preliminary examination and he would not establish a precedent. The inquiry was therefore advanced. Eight witnesses were examined for the prosecution, the defense not producing a particle of testimony. Under such conditions the men were bound over in the sum of $500 each to appear before the grand jury, of the October term of 1895, which convenes on the 28th. Bonds were furnished after a brief delay, John Brand, Frank Hartley, Wm. Brynd and William Wells as sureties. When seen by a reporter after the examination Young said he was convinced that Chamberlin had his verdict made up a week before, and on being asked whether he would give bonds, exclaimed, "Bonds? No! Why should I give bonds? I have committed no crime!" Probably upon reflecting of the happy days that might be spent in Lane county's luxurious habitation, he reconsidered his rash decision.

The effect of the examination was to dishearten the strikers. Even that afternoon rumors were current that some of the "brothers" were fishing, on the quiet of course, but this was stoutly denied by the most aggressive members. "We shall fish for 20 cents or not at all," were the words of one of them. Sunday night several boats went out and were not molested. This was the signal for great rejoicing among the cannerymen and non-unionists and it was almost universally agreed the backbone of the strike was broken.

To a beholder Monday afternoon the scene presented at the canneries was a lively one. Gear was receiving a thorough overhauling and rapidly being tumbled into boats. Fishermen with smiling faces were to be seen, overjoyed at the resumption of the industry. That night and the next morning over a thousand fish were caught. This proved the traditional straw and what was left of the camel congregated Tuesday afternoon and declared the strike off, a move on the part of the "union" which might have as well been dispensed with.

Heretofore up river fishermen—who were originators of the strike—have paid one cent per fish to have their catch taken to the cannery, thus saving them a journey of several miles. At the close of the strike the cannerymen agreed to transport fish gratis, and this is the strikers' victory. A portion of them have gained one cent per fish, after a vain struggle and the loss of two weeks fishing. They now receive 15 cents, formerly being paid but 14.

The folly of the lower river men in joining the strikers is now plainly shown and none realize it more fully than these same men. As an illustration it is shown while over 6000 fish were caught Tuesday night, hardly one-sixth of them were taken south of Point Terrace, 17 miles up the river. During the interval of the strike thousands of salmon came in and went on their way without interference. Soup, with a big S, is the daily portion of the lower river fishermen.

The late strike will prove an irreparable injury to the Siuslaw in more ways than one. It will cause hard feelings among citizens living on this river; hitherto friendly relations have become strained and are likely to remain so. Over a dozen teams have been turned away from the head of tide during the past two weeks, the occupants coming from 50 to 100 miles after fish. Doubtless they will drive home, after bestowing a hearty blessing on the country, and speak a good word to their neighbors concerning it. But then the strikers will not complain. They should be happy over their overwhelming victory.

Geo. Saunders was arrested Wednesday, charged with rioting and assault with a deadly weapon and yesterday was bound over to appear before the grand jury. He failed to deposit the necessary bonds and this afternoon will be taken to the county jail at Eugene by M. J. Hadsall.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. ROSLYN MCKINLEY IS DEAD.
Last Friday, October 11, word was received in Eugene that Roslyn McKinley, son of Reverend McKinley, was seriously attacked with paralysis, and Rev. W. S. Gilbert, who accompanied us on the train from Albany, corroborated the report by stating that a telegram had been received during the session of the Synod at Salem announcing the death of the young man. Mr. McKinley only lived a few hours after the attack. He was well and favorably known in Eugene, having graduated last June from the University of Oregon with high honors. While a student he was respected and beloved by all with whom he came in contact. He was a very devoted Christian and a leader in all church work conducted by the young people with whom he was associated. In college he was very diligent and a model student, standing high in all his classes, and was alike respected by professors and classmates. After graduating last June he accepted a professorship in the Presbyterian college at Pendleton under his father, which position he was filling at the time of his demise.
