DALLAS, SATURDAY, OCT. 23, 1869.

WOOD! WOOD!—Persons who promised to pay us in wood for their paper are requested to bring it right away—we want it. Any person wishing to subscribe for the TIMES and pay in wood will please take it this way.

DURANCE VILE.—The young man who was arrested a couple of weeks ago for robbing Mr. Cole, of Eola, of a sum of money, and who was subsequently liberated on bail, was delivered over by his bondsmen into the hands of the Sheriff last Monday, and is now in the County Jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury. It seems that the culprit was commorated with a girl in the neighborhood, and the twin were anxious to test the joys of that ticklish thing, wedlock; but the parents of the girl objected. The swain being short of funds for an aggressive movement, wisely resolved to negotiate a "French loan" at his employer's expense and then run off with the girl and marry her. But "there's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip," and instead of now enjoying the bliss of his honeymoon he is confined in "durance vile," and it will probably be long ere he regains his liberty. We understand his sweetheart vows she will follow him, even if he goes to the Penitentiary. Such devotion is commendable when bestowed on a worthy object, but we think she might have manifested it to better advantage before her lover became entangled in the meshes of the law. "The course of true love,"

OPENING OF THE SEASON.—The season of festivity and amusement was inaugurated by the young people of Dallas, on Friday evening, by a social party at the parsonage of the M. E. church, and another takes place this evening at the residence of Mr. Shultz. We were honored by an invitation to both, and enjoyed ourselves hugely at the parsonage last evening. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity with our social citizens, while a few comparatively strange faces added to the attractions of the occasion. Mirth and festivity reigned supreme until the waning hours warned the happy assemblage that the morrow had its duties. Of the party this evening we shall be better able to speak hereafter. This is but the commencement of a series of social parties projected, which will no doubt contribute largely to the social harmony of this community. Keep it up, young friends, and count us in whenever you see fit—provided it doesn't conflict with our professional duties.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?—There has been a child's crib or cradle lying in the front room of this office for the last week or ten days, much to our embarrassment. Two professional gentlemen (one married, the other a bachelor) occupy this room during day-time as a law office. The married gent denies its ownership; the single gent is ominously silent on the subject; and as for ourselves, we have not definitely concluded to engage in that line of business (the furniture biz) right away. The only inference, therefore, is that "King" contemplates matrimony, and the assiduous attention he has bestowed in a certain quarter of late, give good color to the presumption. Anyway—it ain't our cradle.

THE ROADS are in better condition for travel now than at any other time this year, near Eola, just beyond Doty's warehouse, there is a small stretch of road that is a disgrace to any civilized community. Who is the supervisor of that district—if it has any? Whoever it is he is unfit for the position and ought to be immediately superseded. The nuisance complained of has existed since last winter, and at present is dangerous to the safety of humans as well as horses and vehicles. Two or three men, in a couple of days at most, could make the necessary repairs, and it behooves the citizens of Eola, for their own credit, to see that it is attended to.

LITERARY CLUB.—This body met last Tuesday evening to discuss the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution. There was quite a respectable attendance of lady and gentlemen visitors, and the exercises went off tolerably well. Next Tuesday the subject for debate is "Resolved, that man is a free moral agent." The public are cordially invited to attend.

Smarty Papers—No. 5.

DALLAS, Thursday.

Mr. Editor.—Thinking, perhaps, you might like to hear once more from your friend "Smarty," I thought I would just drop a line to let you know that I am neither exhausted, angry or sick, nor yet gone in search of "Antoniades"; but instead of all these have been to the "Fair." The getting ready for that event, and being there so long, the time has passed and "Smarty" is quite forgotten! Not liking this quietly sinking out of sight, I thought I would come again; and while I am here, will ask a few questions. As we have the credit of being rather inquisitive, it will be no more than right that I should take the liberty.

It might as well begin by asking, how you liked the Fair? Did you see Tom Thumb and party? Did you go to the circus? and did you see the Professor at the corner making candy?—and all of the other wonderful sights too numerous to mention? I enjoyed them all—only sorry the time was so short and the weather so foggy—never forgetting, however, to be thankful that it did not rain. Your readers will be treated(?) no doubt to full accounts of all you saw, so I will drop the Fair question.

Will you please publish the poem read by yourself two weeks ago at the Lyceum and oblige.

I am sorry to hear that innocent parties are accused of this correspondence. Were there any honors won I would gladly share them with my friends; as it is they and I must rest content, hoping for better things in the future.

I am afraid I have taken up too much of your time already. Wishing you to excuse my poor attempts at letter writing, I will close by wishing you farewell, for the present.

D. S.

[Welcome, again, Smarty. We are really glad to know your pen is still a fountain, your presence among us, and that you are neither angry nor sick. Long may you continue in so happy a condition. But how about that "getting ready?" We thought it took a lady only five or six hours to prepare for a ball, and could it take Smarty two or three weeks to prepare for a rural fair. What a dreadful coquette you must be that it should take so long a time to prepare your snares for innocent, unsuspecting young men. But if your desertion of us for further conquests was of long duration, rest assured you were not forgotten, but rather your presence was more ardently desired. You ask us how we liked the Fair? Well, we hardly know how to answer—hardly comprehending the question. If you would know how we enjoyed ourselves while at the Fair, we reluctantly answer, "Not at all." But if you would know our opinion of the displays and exercises of the Fair, we readily answer, that in our opinion it was the greatest success of the kind Oregon has witnessed. We have seen Tom Thumb and party—but not at the Fair. We saw them a few years ago in New York City. We did go to the circus, horse show and were heartily tired of it in less than half an hour, and would have left were we unaccompanied. We also saw the Professor making candy, and selling it, too, with a vengeance, while a host of rustic stood around admiring as if for dear life, gazing with wonderment meanwhile at the modus operandi of its manufacture. These and the "other wonderful sights" too numerous to mention, came under our observation, but did not attract it long. There were, however, other sights we wished to see very much, but did not see them; so that our interest in things visible was more keenly excited by a lack of the "substance of things hoped for" and the internal "evidence of things not seen." However, our trip was not devoid of interest. We visited nearly everything that was worth seeing, and acquired much valuable information, besides meeting with a host of old friends, professional and otherwise. So much for the Fair, in this connection. The poem you speak of will appear soon in print, and care will be taken that you get a good copy. Do not give yourself any uneasiness, Smarty, about what "they say" of you or your correspondence. Your inquiry is safe, and only prompts their curiosity. Hoping to hear from you again soon, we remain, etc.

THE ACADEMY.—On Friday afternoon we passed a very pleasant hour at the La Creole Academy, witnessing the closing exercises of the fall term. The attendance of scholars was large, and their conduct was very creditable indeed. It was really a treat to see such a galaxy of youthful female beauty and boyish vigor—every feature of every face beaming with intelligence and radiant with the glow of health. We think this was realized by every visitor present. The exercises on this occasion were not as diversified as usual, the principal feature being the reading of the monthly academic journal—the "Dallas Tribune"—edited by this occasion by Miss Maria Shelton and Belle Crystal. The contents of the paper were really excellent, manifesting good literary taste and a promising order of ability. The local hits were fully appreciated, and the town "directory," in verse, was very good. The reading by the young ladies was rather defective in some respects. Their inflection was good and their voices clear; but their utterance was so rapid that it was almost impossible to keep pace with them and understand the subject; beside this, they scarcely paused a comma's length between the different articles, so that the mind was kept at a continual strain to catch even the subject, to say nothing of the style of its treatment. There were a few exceptions to this rule, however. Next time the young ladies in question read publicly we would recommend them to take more time, and their very creditable productions will be better and more fully appreciated. Several pretty airs were sung by the scholars, and at the close of the in-door exercises the whole school—visitors included—adjourned to the play-ground and engaged in a general game of "town ball" in which way another hour was spent to the manifest entertainment and delight of all present. The next Academic term will commence in two weeks.

New Goods.—Mr. G. B. Stiles has just returned from Portland with an extensive stock of groceries, tobacco, cigars, candies, and everything usually kept in a first-class grocery store. He has also added a complete assortment of boots and shoes to his usual line of business. Call soon if you want choice goods.

OREGON NEWS.

—Two black bears were killed near Oregon City last week.

—A man was put ashore off one of the P. T. Co's boats last week about twenty miles below Salem, it being claimed that his ticket was of the bogus kind. He was on his way to the Fair and had to foot it the balance of the way. He is going to sue the steamboat owners for damages.

—The Working men of Portland are following the example of their brethren of East Portland by organizing a Working Man's Protection Society.

—An attempt was made last week to fire the barn of Mr. Lennox, of McMinnville.

—Several fields of oats were reaped in Yamhill county only last week.

—Two more church edifices are to be erected in McMinnville.

—B. F. Dowell, of the Jacksonville Sentinel, complains that his paper does not pay although he has always hired the cheapest kind of help. Poor Bombastes!

—Wm. McMillan Esq., an old and much esteemed resident of Portland, died in that city last week.

—Another stage robbery has occurred in Eastern Oregon, and Wells, Fargo and Co. are sufferers to the tune of $4,000. The robber, a stock-tender named Wilson, has been captured, and the money recovered, excepting about $200.

—A pair of lovers from California eloped across the line to Jacksonville to get "hitched," on account of paternal opposition to the match, but the hard-hyded clerk of that county would not issue them a license; so they returned as far as Cottonwood, in California, where the twin were made one flesh. Their names were H. C. Zacy and Miss Pleasance Parker.

—Wheat is selling in Rogue River Valley at 75 cents per bushel, but the demand is not very brisk.

—Mr. O. J. Carr, County Assessor, has furnished the Statesman with the following figures from his books: Total assessment of Marion county, $3,095,842; number of polls, 1720; number bushels of wheat raised last year, 429,460; number bushels of oats, $14,820; number pounds of wool clipped, 72,109; number of cattle, 4,381; horses exclusive of colts, 6,848; sheep, 20,357, exclusive of lambs. Mr. Carr enquired about the loss of wheat by the rain, and from all the information he could gain, he estimates the damaged wheat at 150,000 bushels, most of it has, however, been turned to some account either for feed or market in some shape or other. This will swell the wheat total to over half a million bushels, and not a good year for wheat either.

—Mr. Philip Gearhart, of Clatsop Plains, has in his orchard a summer pear tree that annually bears three crops of pears. The second crop blossoms when the first is half grown; and the third blossoms when the second is half grown and the first is ripe. The second crop usually ripens, and the third gets about half-grown, before the fall frosts stop what would otherwise be a steady thing—pears all the year round.

—The total receipts of the Linn County Agricultural Association at the Fair held week before last, were: Gate receipts, $1,457 75; licenses, $540 50; entries, $497 45—making a total of $2,495 70. This shows a slight falling off as compared with the receipts of last year.

—The Oregonian says of the East Side Railroad: Track-laying will begin at East Portland as soon as the A. M. gets in—probably some time this week.

—The Roseburgh Ensign tells of the suicide of Gustave Spitzman, who evidently had shot himself. He was a Prussian and out of health and money.

—The middle pier of the railroad bridge across the Clackamas river is completed and the entire structure will be finished soon.

—Todd, the great spiritual lecturer, and John Arnopp, engaged in an intellectual "set-to" at Corvallis last Sunday, touching the subject of Spiritualism.

—We hear of some farmers who are making two crops of hay on the same land the present season, both crops being well matured. If any country in the world can beat this and have such fine weather in which to save the product we haven't heard of it.

—Multnomah county will pay tax to the amount of near $80,000 this season for county, State and school purposes. This is nearly as much as will be paid by both of the large counties of Marion and Linn.

—From the Farmer: Some of our exchanges are making record of the occasional large yields of wheat in California. Mr. B. C. Geer, of this county, some years ago, raised one "stool" of wheat, the product of one grain, comprising two hundred and fifty-seven stalks, and averaging sixty grains of wheat to the stalk; making in the whole 15,420 grains. California, or any other State in the Union, will have something to boast of when the above yield is beaten.

—From the Jacksonville Sentinel: On Sunday last four wagon loads of pilgrims passed through town for Oregon. They had left this State in the spring for California, and had pushed south as far as San Joaquin valley. They were leaving California because it was too dry, and next spring they will no doubt leave Oregon because it is not dry enough.

—There are more strangers at present in Portland than have been there at any time since the Fourth of July. The hotels are all crowded.

—Did you ever know a newspaper started which wasn't a capital medium for advertisements?

California and the Territories.

—An Olympia paper states that a few days since, L. F. Thompson, of Puyallup, lost his whole crop of hops by fire. He had just finished gathering and curing them at a heavy expense. He had about 20,000 pounds, valued at $5,000.

—A paper away among the mountains in Montana prints the following "apology:" Several notices of marriages, births and deaths, which should have appeared in this number, are unavoidably left out, owing to the failure of parties to marry, be born or die.

—There is quite a rush of emigrants to San Diego and the southern part of California. The prospect of the Southern Pacific Railroad is thought to be the cause of the immigration in that quarter.

—The San Francisco Chronicle of the 8th inst. says that the condition of mercantile affairs in that city is not satisfactory. Several large business houses are considerably pressed, having invested their capital too much in outside speculations, and within the next two months, the Chronicle predicts, there will be a number of failures.

—A Deer Lodge paper of October 1st says: The price of wheat advanced in Missoula last week from $2 to $2 25 gold, for prime quality. Flour sells, "Missoula Mills, Three Star," $7, super, $8, and Walla Walla, $12 per 100 pounds. Large quantities of flour are coming in from Oregon.

—The San Francisco Call says that the cause of dull times in the cities of California, whether San Francisco, Sacramento, Stockton, Marysville, San Jose or Vallejo, is that they have not enough country customers to support their herds of dealers and professional men. Which is simply saying that the town has outgrown the country.

—The new Capitol in Sacramento is almost ready for use. It is gotten up on a grand scale, contains 300 pages of glass, the duty on which cost $25,000. The doors are of walnut and laurel and cost $800 apiece.

—L. H. Robie, once Deputy Sheriff of Multnomah county under Stitzel, attempted suicide by taking phosphorus lately in San Francisco.

—Mrs. Thompson and two children were lately burned to death in Santa Cruz.

—A young Jewess has eloped with a Catholic from San Francisco, causing great excitement in certain circles.

—The San Francisco Herald contained a card from John Nugent, announcing that owing to financial embarrassments the publication of that paper would be suspended for ten days.

—Fort Ruby, in Ruby Valley, Nevada, has been abandoned as a military post, and the troops stationed there have been transferred to Camp Scott. The Government buildings were sold to the ranchmen in the neighborhood.

—Along the line of the Pacific railroad, since its opening, quite a business has sprung up in the way of shipping ores to Europe. So extensively is this being entered into, that it is thought our exports in this line will exceed that of any previous year.

—L. J. Cronin, of California has invented a machine gun that is capable of firing 300 shots per minute, for an indefinite period of time. The barrels are prevented from heating by water, and the cylinder is kept clean by a wet sponge that is constantly passing over it.

—The millers of Walla Walla are now buying all the wheat offered, at 80 cents cash.
