

There was apparent at the funeral of Charley Murry, last week, that of which the people of Coquille City ought to be ashamed—a lack of respect for the friendless dead. In this instance there were friends but they were not present. Not a dozen persons attended the burial, and only for Miss Lehman dismissing and bringing her school, there would have been no more at the service at the church. Funerals of persons less worthy than the departed Murry, but who have relatives in attendance, bring out large crowds. We fear this shows a desire on our part to show respect to the living, of whom we expect favors, instead of the dead.

We call attention to the necessity of an earnest effort on the part of our people to secure another appropriation for the mouth of the Coquille river. We give a memorial on first page of to-day's HERALD, which we have printed and sent out to the various post-offices on the river. Please call and sign one of them, as it may be largely the means of securing an appropriation for our river, which is of paramount importance. Congressman Hermann is going to make a great effort for us the coming winter, and requests us to give our names as sanctioning the appeal he is going to make for us before the coming congress. Do not neglect this, as we wish the memorials returned to us soon, for transmission to Washington.

Among the new comers to this part, there are some who wish to engage in manufacturing. Every town and community ought to put forth an effort to secure these a suitable location for the prosecution of the work they propose, and give the best encouragement and inducement possible. The town or community doing this, will prosper regardless of what their neighbors may say or do. Times will become lively with them, and they will find employment and a good market at home. The advantages secured to a town in this respect are greater than they are to a farming community, in that the density of settlement in a town is its principle of life and the reverse often obtains in the pursuits of husbandry. Therefore we hope above all to see a spirit of competition among the towns in the matter of encouraging manufactures.

The run of salmon into this river is unparalleled. At the mouth of the river they are so thick that a person can kill them with an oar as he pulls his boat along. A drift-net was put out at Machado's the other day, and at the end of half an hour, it was so full that it was with difficulty got ashore. It was found to contain 137 salmon. Young Simpson at whom the other fishermen laughed so much for attempting the one-man-to-the-boat way of fishing, caught 600 one day recently. The fish are extremely fat, and weigh from thirty to sixty pounds each, which is unusually large. About 2500 have been received daily at the cannery, but that institution running out of tin has had to stop till the schooner Truckee arrives. In the mean time, Frank Getchell goes to the Columbia for more Chinamen to meet the requirements. The present big run is due to the killing off of the sea-lions at the mouth of the river by Hultin, Hayes and others in the early season. A like destruction every year of these lions, would bring heavy runs of fish every season.

Mr. Peter Nelson, a late arrival from Australia, accompanied by his two brothers Neils and S. Peterson of Randolph, arrived in town yesterday. The latter two are showing their big brother around, and he seems greatly pleased with this part. The difference in names of these brothers is a peculiarity of their country. The former took the family name, while the latter took the first name of their father, adding, son.

The Cadetship.

Through urgent solicitations, says the Roseburg Plaindealer, Hon. Binger Hermann, M. C., has given us the following letter for publication. It speaks for itself, and hence anything we might say concerning it would be superfluous:

Roseburg, Or. Sept. 10, 1885. To MILTON F. DAVIS.

My Dear Sir:—It affords me pleasure to announce that I have this day nominated you for appointment as cadet to the United States Military academy at West Point from this state. You are among twelve applicants—all ambitious and worthy young men of Oregon. That all might have an equal chance to develop the fitness sought for, and that an impartial description be obtained, I waived personal preference and submitted these young men to a competitive examination. For this purpose I chose a board of three distinguished and learned gentlemen, consisting of an eminent lawyer and ex-U. S. senator, and once colonel in the army, and an honored physician and surgeon, and a well known educator and principal of one of the high schools of Portland city. That partisan bias should not prevail, these selections were not confined to any one of the political parties. You were all subjected to a conscientious and painstaking examination, both mental and physical. The conditions of body and mind, as well as general proficiency in the studies as a whole entered into the deliberations of the board. The result is now submitted to me. Four of the applicants greatly excelled all the rest. Among these you are reported highest by 7 per cent. of the total credits. Physically you are found equal to any. Some who competed have been more favored than yourself in wealth and social influence, and have submitted to me evidences of their graduation from well known schools and academies, including institutions of military training in the east. Zealous appeals are made by friends and leading persons of distinguished influence, occupying the highest stations in our state on behalf of others who competed with you and who embrace young men of culture, amiability, fine physique, and some with ancestry renowned in services for our Nation on the battlefield as well as in legislation and literature. Aside from your merit as disclosed on the examination roll, I do not entirely forget that what you are is solely due to your own unaided efforts. I am reminded that you are a poor boy, and that your father was an old soldier, having enlisted and fought in the ranks as a private in the late war for the supremacy of our beloved country, and was thrice severely wounded. That while you were still a mere child he died, leaving you to care for and cherish your widowed mother. This I feel thankful to believe you have done, and are still doing. You have been to the family a son and a little father alike. Laboring odd days and hours in this filial service you have managed to attend the public schools of Polk county in the winter months and thus trained your mind. Your neighbors write me: "He has worked on the farm during the summer, and went to school or studied at home during the winter, and has kept up with classes having much better opportunities." With all these disadvantages and struggles I find you now a student in the State university from where your eminent president writes me the good words, that you are "an industrious and faithful student, of good habits and gentlemanly deportment." Added to all these, I have testimonials and requests in your behalf from prominent citizens of Polk, Yamhill and Marion counties, all certifying to your integrity, your energy and industry. It is a joyous privilege in this country of Republican government that even the poorest boy has it within himself to mould and establish a character of future greatness and renown. Here the youth begins with himself. No illustrious ancestry, no proud pedigree can bring nearer the far reached goal, unless energy, true worth and patience are the foundation and the inspiration. The log cabin and the frontier home have been to this Nation blessed nurseries from whence has come forth our noblest patriots, statesmen, soldiers and martyrs.

Let not your humble origin and apparent obstacles in life discourage you. Have faith in the reward which is conceded to the elements of character already developed by you. Continue onward and have courage. In conclusion, may I fondly hope that you will honor the position to which you are now nominated, and that you will ever remain true to your country that is to educate you for her future service and defense, so that in some future year your name, now unknown, may become a symbol of fame, a rejoicing to your friends and a credit to the State of Oregon from whence you hail. I am Yours Truly,

Binger Hermann, M. C.

Letter from Eld. Hollenbeck.

Ed. HERALD:—By your permission, I will give you a few items as the HERALD is generally read among our friends. In writing one letter, all can hear from us. With our family, we left Wm. Benham's at Fairview on the morning of the 17th inst. bound for California. We found considerable mud in the timber so we came rather slow, reaching Mr. Laird's about 7 o'clock P. M. The road over the coast range of mountains was better than we anticipated. The weather has been very warm. We arrived at our old friend's, Jas. M. Hutson's, on the evening of the 19th, and are here at the present writing. We found all quite well. Eld. Huntington is also here. The day following being his regular day for preaching, at his request, we preached at 11 o'clock, also in the evening, and Monday eve will preach again. The congregations are not large, but very attentive, and we think some are almost persuaded to be Christians. Times are very dull here now, as there were only half crops, and 50c. per bushel is all wheat is worth, delivered. There has only been a light shower of rain here. Almost everything is dried up; yet most of the stock we have seen look very well. There are plenty of deer here, and the people have to watch their gardens to keep the deer from eating them up. I concluded to have some venison yesterday, so we shouldered our gun, and took a trip in the mountains. Saw three fine deer, but halo ketch 'em. After three days rest and good time generally cutting beetrees, etc, we expect to start on our journey tomorrow. All are well. Yours fraternally,

S. B. Hollenbeck. Myrtle creek Douglas Co., Sept. 22.

A 30-hundred Steer.

A sight was taken of A. H. Johnson's big steer last Sunday. The steer is now five years old, 19 1/2 hands high (6 1/2 ft.), and just weighs 3000 pounds. He is gaining at the rate of 60 pounds a month, and is in a very thrifty condition. He has a ponderous bone and is far from fleshy yet, and shows remarkable action for such weight. Of a white-roan in color, his hair is very soft and fine, and susceptible of being made to look very pretty, and will be an attractive feature of the Domestic and Fat Stock Show, to commence the 12th of October next. Mr. Johnson is confident of bringing him to 40-hundred weight, when he will be the heaviest beef animal ever produced in America, so far as we have any record of, and will secure a prize of $2,700.—Farmer & Dairyman.

Our correspondents could make their effusions more interesting by avoiding sharp shooting at each other. The practice has drawn some of our best local news-gatherers off, and provoked them into devoting the largest part of their writings to sharp wordy wrangles that are devoid of interest to the general reader.

Floras Creek Items.

The rain is just pouring down and is equal to—to well one of Ledli's sizzling showers, anyhow.

Messrs. Averill, of this place, and Alberson, of La Grand, have purchased John Lewis' property at Bandon. In the former, Curry county loses a good man, and you gain one. We hated to lose him as a neighbor, but extend the hope of brotherly love and sincerely hope that the brightest anticipations of himself and partner may be fully realized in their late purchase.

Messrs. Upton, Long, Williams et al have gone to Empire City to attend court.

On Friday night some person or persons visited Averill's hen-house and made a raid on the featherly tribe. They were doubtless very hungry, as they built a fire for roasting purposes within sight of the house. Whether it was the work of tramps, or bad boys of this part, it is not known.

Glen Cox, of your place, is visiting friends and relatives here.

J. E. Hawkins is contemplating the erection of a dwelling soon.

R. F. Cox and Sanford Henshaw have each located a claim, and still there is land for others.

W. A. Cox, son of Joseph Cox, is quite sick, but we trust he will be around soon.

Mr. Wheeler and Marshall Nay of Coos bay are down here in quest of cattle.

Sunday Riots.

New York, Sept. 22.—A Herald's special from Paris says: Sunday riots were greatly encouraged by news of the London riots. Another field day next Sunday. Last Sunday's riot was much livelier than was at first supposed. The uproar was terrific. Blood flowed freely, revolvers were fired promiscuously, and loaded sticks, canes and knuckles were used.

Prairie fires have lately done damage in Dakota. Many thousands of bushels of grain in the field were burned.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

The great popularity of this preparation, after its test of many years, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical, that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed. It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—proceeds the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair falling off or becoming soiled; keeps it soft, pliant, lustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing no alcohol, it does not evaporate quickly and dry up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

Colors them brown or black, as desired, and the hair does not become itchy or sore; and, being a single preparation, is more convenient of application than any other.

Smallpox in New York.

New York, Sept. 21.—The health officers are making every effort to discover the source of the sudden outbreak of smallpox in a Grant street tenement, and to stem it before it gains much headway. Saturday night Wm. Owen's child was found ill with the disease, and was removed to the hospital next door. Yesterday Mrs. Mary Radcliffe was found covered with eruptions, and also removed to the hospital. In Brooklyn, to-day, Mrs. Quinn and her baby were found suffering from the disease and taken to the hospital. They lived in Grant street, this city, opposite the house occupied by the child of Owen and the woman Radcliffe.

Another Epidemic.

Wilkesbarre, Sept. 21.—An outbreak similar to that of Plymouth fever has made its appearance in Nanticoke for the past few days. It is reported late this evening that several families are stricken down with the disease. A majority of the cases are situated upon a hill near town, which has always been considered the healthiest part of the place. The epidemic is said to be caused by the use of well water, polluted in some unknown manner.

Collision.

New York, Sept. 19.—A Herald's London special says: The steamer Brenda collided with the paddle steamer Dolphin in the English channel yesterday. The cause was, the Brenda parted her helm while at full speed. Both of the steamers were badly injured, the Dolphin seriously, and sank before her passengers could get to the boats. Eight passengers were drowned.

Brainard, the Vermont bank defaulter has escaped to Canada.

A Texan is creating genuine excitement over a telephonic instrument, by which, it is claimed, communication can be had across the Atlantic ocean.

Railroads are faring badly. The government seems determined to bring them to time, make them pay their taxes, and be decent.

New Thorough-brace.—Jarvis & Arrington's sage line from this place to Coos bay has been provided with a new, light running hack, which makes a ride over this route pleasant. Give it your patronage. n5tf.
