Dora Items.

Ed. Herald:—Once again we dip the pen, but the weather being so fine have not much time to collect items.

Wm. Dysert is visiting these parts, and will remain about four years or more. Any one having a young horse to sell will please write Wm. Dysert, Dora, Coos Co., Oregon.

Dame rumor says there is a young man in the vicinity of Gravel Ford who celebrated Cleveland's birthday. The way it happened was this: He and his fair young bride (to-be) agreed to be made one, and all things were made ready to tie the matrimonial knot, except the parson and the delayed licence; nevertheless one of the happy guests from off the North fork was in time, and seeing such a display, inquired what was up, and the answer was: "We thought we would celebrate Cleveland's birthday." On the following Monday the parson arrived, also the papers and the happy couple were made one, for ever.

J. Bright, after many years of single blessedness, has taken one of our charming Coquille girls for a life partner, and the mystery is, he is still living.

Shylo school house, district No. 48, is nearly ready for a teacher.

E. W. Tompkins got a hole in his throat, and went to your city for repairs.

G. G. Swan was awarded the mail contract from Dora to Myrtle Point.

Grass being so short out side, buyers will not drive cattle till about the 15 of April.

Plow and harrow are the farmer's daily companions nowadays.

The Bada Insurance.

San Francisco, March 28.—Higgins and Collins, who owned an interest in the steamer Bada, lost off Cape Perpetua on the 15th inst., had only an insurance on the vessel to the amount of $25,000.

The Corwin, which returned on Friday from the north, cruised about the mouth of the Umpqua in hope of picking up the crew of the captain's boat, which left the Bada at the time she was abandoned.

[Coos Bay News.]

Dave and Jake Prewett, while hunting on the Bear creek ridge, lower Coquille, lately found indications of black sand. After prospecting for a short time, they discovered quite a body of sand, some of which was very rich. The ridge referred to is on the line of the old ocean beach, and agates and shells are mixed with the sand.

The bodies of members of the crew of the Bada, drowned while attempting to land on the beach near the Umpqua, have not yet been recovered, although the beach has been carefully watched. Nothing has been heard of Capt. Healy and the six men who accompanied him in the other boat, and it is generally believed that they have perished.

Superintendent Phillips, of the Henryville mine, received orders from the city last week to work day and night shifts at the mine, and to get out as much coal as possible. Nineteen miners were at work last week, and an average of 50 tons of coal was the daily output. The two gangways are being extended as speedily as possible, and the force of miners will be increased as the work progresses. It is stated that the C. P. R. Co. will purchase all the Henryville coal that can be got out, and also that another steamer will be put on the route.

Germany is about remonetizing silver.

OREGON CENTRAL.

Flattering Prospects.—Liberal Support by Our Solid Citizens. Let the Good Work go on.

In last week's issue we spoke of efforts being made to organize a company to build a railroad from Coos bay to intersect with the Oregon Short Line.

The company have now formed and have filed their articles of incorporation and the following are the names of the incorporators: S. F. Wilson, Henry Sengstacken, Wm. P. Grainger, J. J. Lamb, S. H. Hazard, Isiah Hacker, D. L. Watson, P. Flanagan, Geo. M. Dyer, A. Pershaker, Fred S. Shetter, G. McEwan, C. H. Merchant, Wm. H. Harris, A. Nasburg, David Morse, Jr., Thomas Hirst, John Flanagan, O. Schetter, R. H. Rosa, E. O'Connell, J. Parker, C. W. Fowler, W. L. Dixon, O. E. Smith, Edward Beuder, C. B. Golden, of Coos county.

W. F. Owens, S. Hamilton, H. C. Stanton, W. R. Willis, W. S. Humphrey, W. F. Benjamin, F. P. Hogan, W. R. Thompson, J. C. Fullerton, Geo. J. Sterns, T. R. Sheridan, J. C. Hutchinson, S. C. Flint, A. F. Brown, of Douglas County.

From these names it will be seen that the matter is in good hands and is assuming tangible and substantial form. Nor is the importance of this enterprise escaping notice in other quarters of the state. The Oregonian of Tuesday in a prominent editorial reviews the subject in a candid and encouraging light. The editor kindly says "we should be glad to see a flourishing city upon the site of Roseburg, we should be glad to see Empire City the western terminus of the Union Pacific with all of the prosperity and commercial activity which that would imply."

The day following however, as if regretful of its good wishes, that paper argues that the Union Pacific would doubtless select the McKenzie Pass as the most practicable route over the Cascades. This is as we expected from the beginning—Portland must antagonize any scheme by which a transcontinental road will find its terminus on Coos bay.

It has no fear of Yaquina no more than it has of Alsea or Tillamook, but it does see danger ahead from a harbor like Coos bay. The water on that bar is as good as that of the Columbia, and the entrance is not envied by these dangers that serve to write a history of wrecks. What would the Union Pacific do with its road should it come down the McKenzie? Practically it would be no nearer the ocean than at Huntington, the present terminus. But it is urged that the McKenzie Pass is much lower than any other. This we do not believe; on the contrary we are reliably informed that the pass east of Roseburg is markedly the lowest along the ridge of the Cascade range. It lies in the power of the new corporation to demonstrate this fact within the next three months. To that end let our citizens take hold; subscribe stock and push the matter forward. Do not delay at this important moment.—Roseburg Review.

A few days since Fifty and Sibley Anderson attacked a bear near her den and slayed her, after a struggle and much strategy, when they proceeded to take an inventory of what she had about her house. Their search was rewarded with finding two cubs which were duly captured and brought away in triumph as trophies of the chase. Look out for pet bears now.—Recorder.

Among the items in the river and harbor appropriation bill, as amended by the committee, are the following: Coos bay entrance, $35,000; Yaquina bay, $80,000; Upper Columbia river, including Snake river, $10,000; mouth of Columbia river, $150,000; lower Willamette and Columbia rivers, $100,000; upper Willamette, $10,000; Coquille at its mouth, $20,000; Chehalis, $2,500; Cowlitz (to complete), $2,000; Skagit, Stillaguamish, Wootneck, Snohomish and Suoqualmie rivers, $10,000.

AN ALARMED CHAPLAIN.

The House of Representatives Taken by Surprise.

Washington, March 27.—The chaplain's opening prayer this morning was as follows: "Give ear, O God of Jacob, and awaken us to see the danger which threatens the civilized world—a revolution more tremendous than any which history tells—in which the scenes of a reign of terror may be enacted in every capital of Europe and America. For long the few have mastered the many, because they understand the open secret of the power of union; but now the many have learned the secret of organization, and the peace of the world is menaced. Rouse the rich of the world to understand that the time has come for the grinding, selfish monopoly to cease, so that corporations may learn justice, honor and human kindness. Teach the rich men that great fortunes are lent them by God for other purpose than to build and decorate palaces, to found private collections of art, to stock wine cellars, to keep racing steeds and yachts, and find better company than hostlers, groomers and jockeys, pool sellers and book makers. Teach them, O God, that it is thee who has given them power to get these fortunes; that it is to prove them to know what is in their hearts, whether they will keep thy commandments or not, and that those commandments are: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself; that if the rich men of our land keep these commandments the poor will follow the example, and we at least be saved from days of tribulation that are fast coming on all over the world. Help us, O God, and save us."

Occasionally a woman is found who does not lose her presence of mind in time of sudden danger, unless the danger comes in the shape of a mouse or rat; there is no record of any woman standing her ground and defying the agile rodent face to face. A young woman was walking in Leavenworth, Kas., recently, with two little girls, and a washtub—carrying the tub, of course—and a supposed-to-be mad dog attacked the little girls. Did the young woman climb the nearest fence or balcony, leave her little companions to their fate? Not at all. A look of determination came in her beautiful eyes—such a look as Arnold Winkelried's eyes had when he rushed upon the Austrian spears—and she corralled the infuriated beast with the washtub, then seated herself upon it and commenced to sing "Hold the Fort." How the dog was finally disposed of is not stated, but probably the policemen shot him full of holes and ruined the tub. The girl should have a testimonial.—Peck's Sun.

The engineers mentioned last week as being at Port Blacklock running preliminary lines and preparing plans and estimates for the proposed wharf, are there yet and probably will not finish the work in hand for some days. The directors of the Blacklock Sandstone company held their first meeting in San Francisco on the 11 inst. President Blacklock will be up in a short time, and in a letter to this office he states among other things that "work at the quarry and in construction of a wharf at Port Blacklock will be commenced forthwith and prosecuted with utmost diligence. The stone is in large demand; it beats anything ever seen."—Recorder.

Outing Chinese.

San Francisco, March 28.—Hon. C. F. McGlashan presided at a meeting of the Anti-Chinese Non-Partisan committee yesterday afternoon in Phelan building. A communication was received from the J. Lusk Canning company, Tomacal, Cal., stating they were in sympathy. There is a concerted and determined effort tooust the Chinese from all the canneries in the state.
