An Unusual Verdict.

The Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche, of the 3d ult., describes a scene in court, the charge to the jury and their verdict, in that city, which shows the turning of the scale toward justice for women.

The charge to the jury occupies two columns of the Avalanche. It is said to be "an innovation upon the long-established idea in regard to the law governing such cases."

The judge said among other things: "Now, if I may be found guilty of voluntary manslaughter only for killing him who strikes me a blow, or contests with me for my horse or watch, or who attempts to violently trespass upon my horse, may not a trusting woman strike back with deadly effect upon him who gives her a moral death, who blasts and blights all her hopes and drains her life in her eternal mourning? Is my horse or my premises to be more sacred from the intruding and larcenous hand of the thief than the good name and virtue of a woman from the lecherous machinations of the wily and profligate seducer?"

The jury were out but a short time until they reported they had agreed upon a verdict. Returning into court their verdict was handed to the clerk, who read: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty as charged in the indictment." No sooner was the verdict rendered than the crowd burst into the wildest yells, many throwing their hats to the ceiling.

"Oho," says Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe to a negro man, whitewashing on her Florida plantation, "now that you are free and can vote I hope you will use your influence with the colored people and get me the ballot." "Lor! Mis' Beecher," says Oho, rolling up his eyes while an incredulous grin broadened his kind-hearted, honest face, "I can't hardly believe that women is get sense enough to know how ter vote."

Local Option in Virginia. Richmond, June 27.—Fifteen counties of this State have voted on the question of granting liquor license. Twelve voted against license. The canvass in other counties will begin in the fall.

Women Elected. Prescott, June 26.—An election of school trustees was held today and resulted in the election of three women by 122 votes out of 124. This is the first instance in the territory where women were elected to office.

Big Fleet Bound for Frisco. San Francisco, June 27.—Twelve vessels are now on the way to this port from New York, one from Philadelphia, seven from Baltimore, twelve from the Hawaiian Islands, twenty-one from Liverpool, forty-two from New Castle, N. S. W., and thirteen from Sydney.

A New York philanthropist proposes to organize a hand company which shall furnish homes to deserving young men in small cottages costing two thousand five hundred dollars apiece. By a novel plan, in case the tenant dies after the close of a year, the property will be deeded to his wife as a home. The company will not lose because its plan is the insuring of the young man's life for the amount of the mortgage on the property and if he dies his wife takes the property and the company the insurance.—N. Swamp Lands.

A dispatch from Washington a few days ago contained the following on this important subject: The interior department has been devoting its energies during the past three days in endeavoring to arrive at some rule to govern in ruling on swamp lands. The general principle has been that all swamp and overflowed lands not fit for cultivation belong to the different states, but it is claimed that in Oregon and California, especially, there are thousands of acres that have been claimed by those states, which really belonged to the government. There are 38,000 acres involved in the present controversy in Oregon, which is particularly complicated from the fact that settlers have taken up these lands and received titles from the state. It immediately becomes a question as to their standing, and in case the lands revert to the government, it is proposed to settle the question as to which they belong—the state or government—once and for all by the general rule.

The people of this country will be curious to know just why our national congress has stooped to notice and consider the Chinese indemnity bill for property destroyed by an infuriated mob of aliens at Rock Springs, Wyoming, some time ago. Some of our congressmen have placed themselves on a record that will, in time, be looked on as the darkest deed of their lives. They will be called to account by an honest constituency, and cast in outer darkness for their great concern for a nation, any relation with which means foul contamination. One would be led to believe that some of our congressmen are looking forward to the time when Asiatics will wield the ballot.

In his Sunday sermons on the "Labor Question" Rev. Talmage says: "Gather up the money that the working classes have spent for rum during the past thirty years and I will build for every workingman a house, and lay out him a garden, and clothe his sons in broadcloth and his daughters in silks, and stand at his front door a prancing span of sorrels or bays, and secure him a policy of life insurance, so that the present home may be well maintained after he is dead."

"Oho," says Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe to a negro man, whitewashing on her Florida plantation, "now that you are free and can vote I hope you will use your influence with the colored people and get me the ballot." "Lor! Mis' Beecher," says Oho, rolling up his eyes while an incredulous grin broadened his kind-hearted, honest face, "I can't hardly believe that women is get sense enough to know how ter vote."

Cure for Blackleg.

The following is said to be a never-failing remedy for this terrible cattle disease:

Take equal parts of sulphur, saltpetre, assafetida, garlic and lard, pulverize well and make into a paste. Make an incision toward the lower part of the neck and insert a pill of the mixture about the size of a small marble. See that the medicine is inserted so that it will not drop out when the animal is released. One application is sufficient.
