Dr. Easter delivered a splendid temperance lecture in this place last Sunday evening. It is highly spoken of by all whom we have heard speak of it.

Abe L. Nosler is building a residence on his place near Iowa slough. His actions would indicate the possibility of his early becoming a benedict.

Willie Schroeder, the little cripple, is selling goods at his store at Halls prairie landing at extremely low prices. He is a deserving boy and should be liberally patronized.

Golden C sugar, 15 lbs for $1; 14 oz. plugs of tobacco for 50 cents; syrup 60 cents per gallon and other goods in proportion at Collier's store, next door east of Robinson House.

The young folks made arrangement of Sunday school on Sunday for a grand Christmas tree in this place on Christmas eve. Do all you can to make the matter a success.

Our readers will pardon us for the small amount of local matter this week. Our editor had a surgical operation performed on a lame shoulder, and has been unable to be out much.

At Morita, Texas, the other day, a number of masked men waited upon a gang of Chinamen and hanged them up by their queues and forced them to give up all their hard earned money.

A. F. & A. M., Chadwick Lodge, No. 68, on Saturday evening Dec. 11, elected the following officers to serve for the next ensuing year: W. M., Geo. McEwan; S. W., A. J. Sherwood; J. W., H. S. Krebs; Treasurer, H. F. Tenneson; Sec., T. R. Willard; S. D., J. L. Roy; J. D., J. C. Laird; Tyler, W. P. Bovee.

The mail carrier's horse rolled off the grade between Laird's and Dora last Tuesday and the horse and mail were precipitated into the East fork of the Coquille. The mail was rescued in a damaged condition. Postmaster Bender informs us that much of the paper mail was ground up so as to obliterate the address.

Richard C. Cavett is agent for a cash holder that every person should have. By it a window can be raised or lowered to any height desired and remain there at the will of the operator. It precludes the possibility of raising the window from the outside and it is at once one of the best inventions of the age. The price is so small that it is almost all convenience and safety, and no cost.

It is said that the Blacklock Sandstone company will resume work at the quarry early in the spring, and at that time put on two steamers to carry stone to the city. It is to be hoped that this venture will prove a profitable one yet, after all that has been said against it. The company has shown energy, and energy in a laudable undertaking is always commendable.

J. D. Garfield, of Marshfield, paid this place a business visit Thursday.

Brother Upton of the Bandon Recorder paid us a pleasant visit Saturday.

No vessels have crossed the Coquille bar since our last, owing to a very heavy sea.

J. J. Wilson, the watchmaker, will go to Myrtle Point after the holidays, and from thence to Coos bay. So you had better take your work to him at once.

Remember the excursion and ball at Bandon on Christmas Eve, by the Coquille City brass band. Holders of tickets to the ball will be carried free on the steamer Antelope to and from the ball to any point on her route.

John A. Gray of the Mail spent Thursday and Friday in this place and gave some wonderful spiritualistic exhibitions while here. A full grown man it is said, was raised in mid air by a circle of four.

The school entertainment comes off next Monday evening with the drama, "Bolts and Bars." The admission will be 25 cents, children 10 cents; the proceeds to be used in building a walk to the school house. The people of this place should readily give this laudable undertaking a benefit at once. They should give the money, but this is not asked; the entertainment will be worth more than the price of admission.

A Portland druggist advises the people of his city to buy medicines on his side and not cross the river for anything that can be had at "home." This is in bad taste, now that Portland is trying to consolidate a big city including itself, East Portland and Albina. His advice if given to Thompson's colt would be appropriate, but as it is, nothing could be more reprehensible. As in this case we too often try to get others to cast their lot with us that we may exhibit our mercenary natures and gouge them. Fortunately some people are so constructed that their double natures are so simultaneously exhibited that no one is fooled by them.

Walter Satan Reproves Sin.

When Michael Liber took occasion to notice the patent ignorance of the editor of a small, one-horse sheet known as the Gold Beach Gazette, he did not allude personally to the character of the individual who conducts it, for the people well know that, as an individual, he is completely beneath notice, while he might become the object of some slight, passing attention as the editor of even such an obscure paper as the Gold Beach Gazette. True to his nature, the ruffian replies by a gross, filthy, blackguard attack of a personal nature, which is just worthy of such a pen as his, and to whose distorted proportions of vile abuse it would be beneath any man to vouchsafe a single word in reply. Michael Liber can well afford to ignore completely the attacks of such a cur as Walter Satan is, upon his character professional or otherwise. The audacity, however, of one like him, to attempt to attack the character of any man, is amazing. Walter Satan, one of the most drunken wretches in fourteen counties accuses Michael Liber of indulging in strong drink. Walter, Michael Liber does not claim to have lived the life of an anchorite by any means, but he will tell you a few things that he has not done. He has not carried excess past the meridian of his existence to the detriment of a numerous and needy family. He has not been publicly branded and proved to be a notorious liar, who would find it impossible to tell the truth, even by accident. Charges may have been preferred against him, but they were not charges of theft, embezzlement, or forgery. You're a pretty fellow, Walter, to attack the character of any man. Why, the most debased slave who serves in the galleys has never been charged with worse crimes than have been publicly sworn to in affidavit by some of the most respectable citizens in the state of Oregon against you, you scoundrel. You want records, Walter? If you were worth the trouble of laying before the public your record, one of the most disgraceful diaries that the Recording angel ever had to keep, it would be easy, too easy to do so, but you are not worth even that.

The public will remember that this Walter Satan, who now poses as a reprover of sin, is the same fellow, who, but a few years ago, was publicly branded as a flecher of public moneys, an embezzler, a thief, a liar and a forger by the respectable press of Curry county. Affidavits from respectable citizens and even from high, authoritative state officials poured in against the miserable wretch, until a disgusted public became nauseated with the fellow's iniquities. Oh! you beautiful county clerk! Maybe the people of the Coquille and of Coos and of Curry don't know you! Oh! you exemplary county clerk! Maybe the public are not acquainted with you! How was it done, Satan? Did you manufacture a few little extra fees not noted down in the schedule? What about the little forgery racket, Satan? Did your facile pen trace out the names of a few honest citizens (just to oblige them) without their knowledge? Tell us, Walter, do you sleep with a little file of the Denmark Recorder under your pillow to tranquilize your dreams? Do you read those little back numbers to your wife of evenings, or do you spend your evenings in the saloon, drinking up every cent you can lay your hand on? Don't you know that no matter how the money came it would have been better to spend a little of it on your pinched family, than to waste it all in a succession of drunken orgies? You're a nice fellow to talk about the open hand of charity, Walter? Ain't you a good one though? Ain't you a daisy? On which of the drunken tank that runs the Gold Beach Gazette has the horse been turned loose, to save him from perishing in his own vomit? Do you forget that little episode of the hose, Walter? Oh, you drunken old brute, a curse to yourself and to your unfortunate family, you're a nice specimen of chronic inebriety to cry out against whisky-drinking!

What do you think your affidavit is worth when it's filed, Walter? When the liar of the Coquille confers with the liar of Rogue river, we stand a good chance of getting at the truth, don't we?

From a financial point of view, however, your vile tirade has been of some service to me. Are you such a driveling idiot as to imagine that any amount of abuse and blackguardism, heaped upon me from such a vile source as your disreputable pen, could deprive me of one friend, or rob me of a single dollar? Why, it would pay me to keep a staff of such "non-gregals, puppy-dogs, and hounds and curs of low degree," of the Walter Satan ilk, yelping and snarling at my heels. The higher they had graduated in a record of theft and lying and drunkenness, the more useful would be the attacks of such gentry. Why, Walter, a man asked me the other day if Rogue river had not been named after you. He was a little wrong chronologically, but there was a mighty strong point to his question. You have already occupied far too much of the valuable space of a respectable journal, and when you read this, retire into solitude with some volumes of your contemporaries of Southwestern Oregon, and study them carefully and you will have all the records you want—above all the dirty diary of your own miserable conduct. You will not find one of those papers, but has slapped you in the face from time to time. You are proscribed amongst them; they have disclaimed any relationship with you. They will have 'none of you' and have discarded you and everything that belongeth to you, for they want to see neither your dirty self nor your manservant nor your maid-servant nor your ox, nor anything that is yours.

Michael Liber.

Senator Sawyer has introduced a memorial in the U. S. senate from the M. E. church of Wisconsin for legislation in behalf of Chinese laborers. They do not understand the situation or they would draft a memorial asking that Chinese laborers be excluded from the country; that is if they have the well-being of the heathens at heart. With unrestricted immigration for five years, Wisconsin would witness worse treatment of Chinese than has ever been given them on this coast, and that often at the hands of those who now show so much concern for them. At a distance they are fine fellows, but when it would come to degradation of their sort being bred into the sons and daughters of Wisconsinites with no hope for a reformation we'd hear an awful kick.

A French crank named Succin in Paris is fasting and promises to rival Dr. Tanner in this respect—the crank business. If the French "de" could be attached as a suffix to his name he might at the end of the term realize all there is in a name.

An End to Bone Scraping. Edward Shepherd of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by J. H. Nosler.

Good Results in Every Case. D. A. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. LOCAL DIRECTORIES—No. 5. Our Local Steamers.

Three steamers sat on the 'Bright Coquille' At noon when the sun was high. And the captains were laughing, and joking and chaffing. For it's better to laugh than to cry. At Coquille we all laugh and don't cry.

Said Captain George, as he took the helm Of the "Annie" "I'll send them a feeler. "I'll turn on full speed, and give them a lead, "And show them the strength of my 'wheeler.' "The force of my old 'stern wheeler.'"

Then said Levi, "I'd rather die "Than get lick'd by another feller, "I have great hope in the 'Antelope,' "So set steam to the new propeller, "Hoop it up on the new propeller."

"All right, my boys, just hoop it up," Said Reed, "my course quite clear is, "And that's to run, like a son of a gun, "Up to Myrtle Point with my 'Ceres,' "To rattle along on my 'Ceres.'"

Just then the Kumtux came steaming along Through the water so light and foamy—"Turn loose your fleet, for I'm hard to beat," Said the commodore, Albert Giromi, The Kumtux's captain, Giromi.

And far in the distance we heard a sound Which caused us all to look— Through the Oregon mizzle, we knew his whistle, Tom Floyd on the "Katie Cook," Tom's "at home" on the "Katie Cook."

A clear little fleet on a shining stream, While its banks the myrtle nourish, Is a glad'ning scene, 'mid the woods so green, Where the Western valleys flourish, Where the Oregon valleys flourish.

For, cheerily westward speeds the plough Tow'rd the shores of the mammoth ocean, Through the wide, wild West—that land so blest— Which we look to with warm devotion, Which we cling to with fond devotion. Michael Liber.

The Bandon Recorder is to soon be enlarged and all printed at home. This is as it should be for Coquille. They are partial to home print. They do not believe in paying their county printer for work done away in the city and they are right. If they want a paper from the city they can do better than buy it in broken doses on patent pages of the county press.—We find we were mistaken in the above, that the Recorder is to be enlarged to the size of the HERALD and run a patent outside, but we predict that the energy of Bros. Upton and Chilstrom will soon overcome that ere long.
