LOCAL ITEMS

Johnny Scott has gone to Smith river.

H. T. Schweers lost his little baby, whose birth is given elsewhere.

T. A. Walker and family returned from a visit to Douglas county Thursday.

Mr. S. H. Emerson, a former resident of this place, has been here a few days.

Miss Laura Beyers, of Sumner, visited her friends here the latter part of the week.

An Alaska exchange of June 25th says: Salmon berries are getting to be pretty large.

Mr. Nicholas Lorenz and family, of Trinity county, Cal., arrived here one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gallier left for a visit to their mountain ranch on Thursday. Mr. W. was not feeling well.

Rev. W. Lund preached here Thursday night. That was the time instead on the 21st as published.

A girl wanting a good home should see Mrs. J. H. Nessler this place. Mrs. N. will do a good part by a girl.

Mr. Canterbury's folks have sold their place on the lower river and will soon join Mr. Canterbury in San Bernardino, Cal.

The schooners Parkersburg and Coquille arrived in the river one day last week, and are ready to sail. The Prien is due.

We can put a limited number of men in a way to borrow money in small sums, ranging for $500 to $500. Call at this office or write us.

The mail route from Myrtle Point has not been extended to Denver. A new office has been established at the mouth of Sandy creek.

The Roseburg papers we notice that Miss Christina Hoover and Mr. G. R. Cole were recently married. Miss Hoover is a daughter of Andy Hoover.

J. W. Bennett, Esq., the Marshfield attorney, and Mr. Marshall, the canneryman opposite that place, were in town Wednesday, having been on the lower river on business.

The Adventists removed their tent yesterday, and will now go to Marshfield. Our Marshfield friends will find Eld. Potter an able speaker and a learned scrip-turalist.

We notice among other improvements about town the body of a new house up by S. W. Harrington, a good and substantial work by W. V. Hayes, and a fine ornamental fence by W. H. Carthers.

The first consignment of the Roseburgers arrived here on Wednesday. If they all belonged to the same family it must be a daisy family, for we noticed every size and half size, and we must admit a great resemblance.

Mr. Schafer, lately from Baltimore, intends opening a school in this place the coming fall and will teach music as a branch. He has permanently located in this place, and will teach instrumental music. He has a number of pupils and will receive others.

As promised, Brother Bell and all his forces on the Roseburg Review come down, arriving here on Saturday. Prof. Horner and family accompanied this editorial, reportorial and typographical outfit. On Sunday at 11, and at 8 in the evening Brother Bell favored the people of this part with two of his able sermons. Right here we might say that this popular speaker will deliver a lecture in this place also give an entertainment and preach during Saturday and Sunday next. These people are out for a good time and they will have it. Miss Cawfield and her brother come down with the crowd.

Fourth of July Celebration at Eckley.

Ed. HERALD:—Having received an invitation to spend the fourth of July at Eckley in Curry county, we, in company with the Green Brothers and George Pembroke, arrived at that lovely mountain retreat on the 3rd day of July, and proceeded on to the postoffice, about three miles to the residence of Ed.
Green. After passing the beautiful home of George Guerring the P. M. and his interesting family, the trail leads up quite a valley, crossing now and then around a point or spur of a hill, sometimes on open grounds, then through attractive groves of timber and across sparkling streams of pure water, and finally swings around into a lovely and picturesque valley, near the center of which stands a primitive and cozy cottage upon a plateau extending from the valley proper, back to a heavy forest.
Here, too, are partial interspersed with wooden glades that add, if possible beauty to this so lovely a home. In front of the house are green fields of grain, and a little beyond are cocks of hay, and a little to our right, we see fruit trees and vegetables growing in luxuriant verdancy. The prairie hills around this vale are turning a little yellow. Salmon mountain and its accompanying lights lift their sombre ridges high up toward the sky. All combined form a picture of unparalleled sublimity. Over a quarter of a century ago Alfred B.
Green settled on this lovely place and named it "Deer Park" from the fact that the deer were so plenty and tame. Uncle Tim, as he was familiarly called was a noble hearted man; upright, honest and true, and we were interested to see his last resting place, and were shown a place on a grassy knoll and we were glad that his remains were placed in such a picturesque and lovely spot. We arrived at the cottage and were kindly received by Mrs. Green, who soon had a bountiful repast daintily prepared for our comfort and as we enjoy our pipe after dinner in this bracking mountain air, we almost concluded that this is nature's paradise.

The fourth of July burst upon us in all its beauty and grandeur.
The sun peeped over an eastern ridge, its glittering rays sparkling on the dew drops. The sky was clear, and a soft gentle breeze wafted up from the grand Pacific, gave a purity of atmosphere we have seldom witnessed. All nature seemed to smile; even the birds sang clearer and sweeter than usual. The friends who had entertained us were soon preparing for the celebration, the first ever held in the neighborhood; and we were soon off for the picnic grounds, which we found about midway between George Guerring's and J. A. Haines' places in a nice grove near a sparkling stream of water where we found a large crowd of people—considering the locality—eager to do honor to our great national day. Frank Miller did well in selecting and preparing the grounds; in fact it is always necessary to have such a man as Frank around on occasions of the kind. The officers of the day decided to have refreshments before the literary exercises, and a fine luncheon was had and one was almost persuaded that this was "land of milk and honey." This feast was had amidst joyous peals of laughter. Kindness and good will seemed to prevail.
George Guerring was soon introduced by Robert Lowe, the president of the day, and read the Declaration of Independence, in a forcible manner. After music the oration was in order, then vocal music again after which Ruba and Mary Haines declaimed some pieces in a very creditable manner.
Other exercises were had during the day, and a grand ball took place in the new school house erected by James Hayes and which is a credit to the neighborhood.

In all, this first 4th of July celebration will long be remembered as a reunion of neighbors, and the kindness shown by J. A. Haines and others living in close proximity of the gathering, convinced all that for a good time on such an occasion, this part cannot be beat and the citizens of Eckley will long remember this as a pleasant time.

Resolutions of Respect.
Noble Grand and members of Coquille Lodge, No. 53, I. O. O. F., greeting:

We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect and sympathy in memory of our worthy brother Odd Fellow, Olen Nelson, beg leave to submit the following:

WHEREAS, God in His wise but mysterious providence has seen cause to remove from earth our worthy and esteemed brother, Olen Nelson; and whereas, the brotherly relation he has held among the brethren of this lodge has always been worthy of our highest regard, therefore, be it Resolved, First, That the death and removal of our good and faithful brother leaves a vacancy and shadow that will be deeply realized by the members of this lodge.

Second, That while our hearts are deeply grieved by the loss of our good brother, we will not mourn against God's wise and merciful dispensation, but bow with reverence and humility to the will of Him "who doeth all things
well."

Third, That as the grief we feel at our loss prepares to sympathize with the bereaved family, we tender the wife and children our heart felt sympathy and consolation in this great affliction and indulge the hope that, although they have been deprived of the company of one so tenderly loved, the Infinite Father will apply the healing balm to their bleeding hearts and cause them to realize that their loss is his eternal gain.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Coquille City HERALD, with a request for the publication of the same. That a copy of the same under seal of the Lodge, be presented to the bereaved relatives. Also, that the same be spread in full upon the minutes of the lodge.

Respectfully submitted in F. L. and T.

Hay making still continues in this part.

Mr. John Barklow, whose farm is opposite town here, is cutting about 20 acres of clean, timothy and clover hay, which will yield nearly 4 tons per acre.

Mr. Joseph Ferry who lives on his excellent farm a few miles above town, has one among the best crops on the river. He has a new variety of potatoes. They, for beauty and size excel any potatoes we have seen. They are a large, smooth, white potato. Also his other crops are in proportion.
Mr. Ferry is an energetic farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallier of Coquille City, spent a short time in our town last week on their way to a visit to their son, Steve, who lives on Floras creek.

The public installation and ball given by the order of the Red Cross was a success in all ways. A large attendance was present. Dr.
Downing was the installing officer.
Music was furnished by the Myrtle Point string band—two violins organ and cornet.

Mr. Henry Lamb exhibited some samples of very nice quality of gold here the other day, which he took out of his claim on the South fork of the Coquille river.

Dr. Steele is making this place a professional visit.

The Dr. and Mrs. Downing, of Coquille City was up on the evening of 12th and attended the ball.

Mr. Charles Deitz is manufacturing furniture of almost any description.

Myrtle Point Observer.

Myrtle Point July 16th, '87.

We see by the Alaska Free-Press, published at Juneau, Alaska, that our old-time friend, Clark Miller, is leader of the band there.
The paper speaks of Clark as an accomplished cornetist, and otherwise gives him his just dues as a musician.

Mr. Editor:—It has been some time since I have seen anything in your valuable columns from this place; in fact not since Brudler Bones left, so I thought I would give you some of the events of the day. Passing through Pleasant valley today on my way from Myrtle Point and in a sharp turn, I came in contact with a shower of dirt that almost threw me to the ground. I staggered back a few paces, as I supposed with my eyes and mouth full of dirt, but after getting the dirt partly out of my eyes, and coming to my senses, I found myself about 100 yards to one side of the road on a stump about fifteen feet high, when I could see all, and what I supposed to be a volcanic eruption, was only Thomas Bark-low repairing road. So after passing through that, without injury, I proceeded on my journey. After going about a mile further—now in the heart of the valley, I sat me down to rest. While sitting there I heard a yell which fairly raised me off the ground which I took to be the savage war-whoop of a dozen savages whooping at once, and as I was standing there, shaking like a chicken with the ague, not knowing which way to run I heard some one sing out "Whoa! back, Billy." I knew it was some one driving oxen so I gathered myself up and went down, and who should I find but Samuel Snyder and Chas. Bunch, the Pleasant Valley logging Co. Handy Andy wields the good stick, A.
M. Snyder and Chas. H. Bunch cutting logs. The yelling I supposed to be the savages' war-whoop, was only Handy Andy driving oxen.

Now we go on a little farther.
Here we come to Camp Dismal, where J. W. Clinton holds forth.
He is running a small logging camp with three men. Now we move on about a mile further and we have passed through Pleasant valley, and have come to a place called Hardscrabble. On our right we see Jno. Root busily engaged cutting his hay, while on our left we see G. C. Coal everlastingly slashing the hay with his new mower. Next we come to Norway, the miller of the Norway mills, turning out some of the best flour the county affords. Next we come to the store. Here we see our efficient clerk Ed. Nelson dealing out goods in grand style.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.
Capt. Coleman, schr. Waymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but alleviated the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a simple dose had the same happy effect.
Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner.

Remedy for Youth.
Mrs. Phoebe Chassey, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 37 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free to do all my household work, and am able to do all my housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having removed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain."

ORGANIZE.

That the prohibitory amendment will be carried in this state outside of this city is conceded even by its opponents. Portland is recognized as the battle ground, and all the work and energy that money can command will be expended here by the whisky ring and its emissaries.

Whisky men have been loud in their boasts that they have enough money to secure a sufficiently overwhelming majority in Portland to counterbalance that from the outside. Those in this city who favor the amendment have a grave responsibility. They have to encounter an adversary unscrupulous in methods and careless of principle. Actuated by no other motive than that of dollars and cents, the whisky men will fight for their "business" far more enthusiastically than for any abstract principle.

To meet this strong opposition the friends of the amendment in this city should lose no further time in perfecting their organization.

Throughout the country districts the Prohibitionists have been organized and concentrating their forces, and are already in good fighting trim. The principal preliminary work remains to be done in this city. Organization, thorough and complete, is what is needed above all things in this city. Let the friends of the amendment here solidify and harmonize upon the plan of campaign, and by thorough and earnest effort, we shall be able to convince the whisky ring that with all its boasted power, it has not the strength its friends inagine for it.—Daily News.
